THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

TEST YOURSELF: He that is of God heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.—John 8:47.

THE JUDICIAL TEMPERAMENT

Judge C. Everett Thompson wears well the dignity of his new position, and his many friends in Perquimans took pride in the manner in which the newly appointed jurist conducted the court proceedings this week.

Not every man, regardless of training or experience, is fitted by nature to occupy the position to which Judge Thompson has been appointed, for which position he is a candidate in the Democratic primaries.

Of Judge Thompson it can truly be said he possesses the judicial temperament, that quality of mind, conduct and bearing which arises from a thorough knowledge of the law coupled with a supreme love of justice.

This rare quality, so marked in Judge Thompson, is evidenced by speech and actions controlled by reason and ethics.

LET'S REMOVE THOSE SIGNS

Mr. and Mrs. Public are cleaning house in Perquimans. And they are doing a fine job of it, too.

They say that some of the signs beside the Causeway are to be taken down. That is good.

The owner of one of those signs which is helping to spoil the beauty of the Causeway was heard to say the other day that he didn't want to take his sign down, that he thought it was good advertising to have his sign out there.

Maybe it is good advertising. The signs certainly are displayed plainly and prominently enough to be seen by every passer by.

But is that any reason why the signs should be allowed to remain there? It might be good advertising for that man to paint a sign on the side of the house you live in, for that matter. That would be a prominent place, no doubt, and everybody could see. Fine for the advertiser.

Such a lovely spot as that Causeway—and it is a lovely spot—should not be spoiled for the thousands who pass along that road because one man, or two men, or a dozen, or even a hundred, for that matter, wish signs placed there.

The beauty of that Causeway doesn't belong to any one person.

If the signs which now mar the beauty of the Causeway are not removed others will be placed there, and that right shortly. Indeed, the number has increased recently. Don't think more will not follow. It will only be a question of a little while before every tree along the way will have nailed to it a sign, the mark of some person's selfishness.

Nature made that Causeway. Man has improved it. Let's see to it that nobody spoils its beauty. Let's take down those signs.

WORTH READING

Take a look at the advertisements of the local merchants in this issue and get a glimpse of the cooperative spirit every one is showing in this matter of the Clean-Up Campaign.

Note the bargains, too, and take advantage of the opportunities for getting the things you need to help you carry out your part of the clean-up program.

SOMEBODY'S JOB

And speaking of cleaning up, The Perquimans Weekly would like to know whose responsibility it is to keep clean the walks on the Court-house Square.

These walks are used by the people of the town generally. On the northern side of the square are four offices or places of business. On this particular walk there has been piled for months some unsightly rubbish, discarded furniture and trash.

Why not clean up this spot while we are cleaning up?

NOW FOR ACTION

The report of the grand jury this week recommended the very improvements that the Town Criers are attempting to make at the Hertford Grammar School, Vis: making the furnace room of the school fire-proof and providing an outside fire escape from the auditorium.

There ought to be a report coming in shortly from the committee in charge of this matter appointed by the Town Criers.

And there certainly ought to be some results.

BEFORE....

AFTER....

One of the most attractive homes in Perquimans is that of Hon. Charles Whedbee, on the corner of Punch Alley and Church Street, in Hertford.

The beautiful old house, recently restored, as well as the spacious lawn and garden, where grow evergreens, flowering shrubs of many varieties, hardy perennials rich in color and choice annuals, where there is always something in bloom, is indeed a sight to gladden the eye of the beholder.

This beautiful old place is one of the fine examples of reclamation. The boyhood home of Mr. Whedbee, it was unoccupied for many years, during which time the house fell into ill repair and the grounds, probably once the pride of the owner, were sadly neglected.

Two years ago Mr. Whedbee had the house restored, improving it with modern conveniences.

The grounds, where still may be seen the largest trees of the fine old shrub known as box in Perquimans, have become, under the magic of Mrs. Whedbee's love for gardening, a scene of rare beauty. Her daffodils have faded, and the tulips and iris which just recently were so gorgeously beautiful, are giving place to roses, and there will be sweet peas and other flowers following before these are gone. Meantime there is bridal wreath, mock orange, and other flowering shrubs in bloom.

The two pictures shown above are both of the Whedbee home, one taken before it was improved and one after. But no picture can do justice to the lovely and colorful garden which will increase in beauty as time goes on.
