VOTE FOR BOB REYNOLDS

He has kept his campaign pledges to support the policies and programs of the Democratic Party. He has supported all humane legislation designed to improve the living and working conditions of all classes. He believes strongly in the high purposes of the ROOSEVELT Administration. He is known as one of the hardest workers and busiest Senators at the Capitol.

He has voted on all important matters.

He has never straddled or side-stepped an issue.

He is considerate, courageous and courteous.

Senator Reynolds is in the forefront in championing the cause of labor, protecting the farmer, aiding the masses and safeguarding the rights of business and industry.

He has been particularly active in handling the affairs of our veterans of all American Wars.

He opposes any foreign entanglements that might lead this nation into another World War.

Senator Reynolds ranks high on four important Senate Committees, namely: Banking and Currency—Military Affairs—Territories and Insular Affairs—and District of Columbia.

He has wholeheartedly co-operated with State, County and City and Chambers of Commerce officials for the advancement of North Carolina.

His secretary, Wesley E. McDonald, was on the secretarial staff the late United States Senator Lee S. Overman of North Carolina for 12 years and later served with United States Senator Cameron Morrison. His 18 years' association with the people of North Carolina and his experience and training in Washington enables him to render valuable service to all the people of the State.

More people daily visit Senator Reynolds' office at the Capitol than that of any other Senator; his volume of mail (hundreds of letters daily) is one of the heaviest in the Senate, and his incoming telephone calls daily climb into the hundreds.

His love for his State inspired him to deliver hundreds of addresses before patriotic and fraternal Societies throughout the Nation, pointing out North Carolina's industrial and business opportunities, its scenic attractions and describing its historical shrines.

Senator Reynolds is popular with his colleagues and with Governmental Department officials. He has made great strides. His unbounded energy for work, his ability to speedily absorb complicated matters, his keen interest in his constituents, his loyalty and devotion to his State and his radiant personality have made him a National figure.

He has stood by the President.

A vote for Reynolds is a vote for Roosevelt.

To know Senator Reynolds is to admire him. Your vote will be appreciated. Go forward with Reynolds.
