

FILM FORECAST AT STATE THEATRE HERTFORD, N. C.

Monday only—"You and Me."

Sylvia Sydney and George Raft, who thrilled movie-goers when they appeared together last in "Pick Up," return as co-stars of Paramount's "You and Me."

The fact that parole laws of many states forbid marriages for paroled persons motivates the new Sylvia Sydney and George Raft picture "You and Me," which opens Monday at the State Theatre.

The two stars, last seen together in "Pick Up," play the roles of young ex-convicts, working for a philanthropic department store owner whose hobby is to give men and women a chance to go straight. Raft, who has served his parole, marries Miss Sydney after making a complete confession to her about his shady past. Miss Sydney, still on parole, conceals her past from him because she knows that by probation regulations, she may not marry. And also, she is aware of the fact that Raft is desperately trying to steer clear of anything that will remind him of his gangster days.

When Raft learns of her past he becomes embittered, gives up his struggle to go straight, returns to the "mob," and is saved from another criminal career only by the daring action of Miss Sydney, who risks another stretch in the "Big House" to save him.

Two favorites of earlier film days, Jack Mulhall and Julia Faye, are cast in small supporting roles in the new picture, which also includes in its cast Warren Hymer, Roscoe Karns, Harry Carey and George E. Stone. Fritz Lang, who directed Miss Sydney in "Fury," directed and produced the new picture.

Friday only—"Men Are Such Fools."

When Priscilla Lane and Wayne Morris were cast in their latest Warner Bros. picture, "Men Are Such Fools," which opens next Friday at the State Theatre, they began to wonder whether the studio officials were putting them through an intensive course of matrimonial preparation or even subtly attempting to discourage them from matrimony by showing them the pitfalls in the paths of newly married couples.

When Priscilla was placed under contract by Warners some months ago and featured in "Varsity Show," she and Wayne met and were more than ordinarily attracted to each other.

The next they know the studio had cast them as the ingenue leads in "Love, Honor and Behave," a story in which young love travels a rocky road. During the course of the production the two experienced, for cinematic purposes only, the period of readjustment that every young married couple must go through.

Nothing daunted by their screen quarrels—the two announced their engagement when the picture was finished.

Whereupon the studio retaliated by putting them together in "Men Are Such Fools," which deals primarily with the theme of whether careers should be allowed to influence matrimony.

But it's all OK with Priscilla. "I don't mind as long as they don't make us act in a picture where we divorce each other," she said. "That would be going a little too far, even though, maybe, neither Wayne nor I are the slightest bit superstitious about such things."

George Durant whose family has been outstanding in the county through 275 years, has in his possession family records to show that his line of descent came through John Harvey, and can prove his descent from an "Indian Chief," though there is no Indian blood in his family, the title having been bestowed by the Indians in the Seventeenth Century through their great love for George Durant, whose purchase of land from Killocanen is the oldest record of a purchase of land from an Indian by a white man in America.

"Old Testament" Missionary Topic

The Mary Towe Circle of the Woman's Missionary Society met at the home of Misses Hilda and Grace Knowles on Monday night. Miss Hilda Knowles had charge of the program, the topic being "The Old Testament." She read a very interesting reading on "How the Old Testament Came Into Being." "Divisions of the Old Testament" was given by Miss Bernice White. Miss Ruth Davenport gave an interesting article on "Other Interesting Factors of the Old Testament." The whole society played Bible Lotto which which was enjoyed by everyone.

The president, Miss Mary Towe, had charge of a short business program, after which the hostesses served delicious refreshments to the following: Misses Joyce Stokes, Sarah Brinn, Helene Nixon, Mary Towe, Dorcas Knowles, Bernice White, Ann Bullock, Jeanette Feilds, Ruth Davenport, Elizabeth Knowles, Carolyn Riddick, and Mesdames Edgar Feilds and Morgan Walker.
