Darden Bros. Offer Large Line Goods

The Darden brothers, Douglas and Vivian, have conducted their huge department store business on Church Street since 1927—catering to a vast number of agricultural people in this section, offering shoppers in Hertford a variety of substantial merchandise at popular prices.

The Dardens, father and sons, however, were long associated with the department store business before 1927. The institution had its beginning in 1914 as Rutenberg, Stokes and Darden, later becoming Stokes and Darden, and then eleven years ago changing to Darden Brothers.

Today, Darden's is an up-to-date business and continues to show on its shelves, counters and racks wearing apparel that finds an every day market in this section. The Dardens often clothe whole families from head to foot at one purchase.

A huge shoe department covers the whole center of the store. For men, women and children, for dress or work, the nationally-known brands in foot-wear include Ball Band, Peters, W. L. Douglas and others. The shoe department divides the store into two other departments, men's wear on the left entering and ladies' apparel and piece goods on the right. The store is well-represented with an array of other advertised trade names, Goldette hosiery, Gossard girdles, Friedman-Harry Marks clothes, Chesterfield and Atchinson hats.

The store occupies a two story building with the lower, or street floor being used exclusively for display and sales, and the second floor as stock and storage quarters for large quantities of merchandise which are added to displays as needed.

Besides the Messrs. Darden, the store's force includes Mrs. Hurley Hoffer, the wives of the two owners, and Darius Elliott. Several additional attendants are employed there on Saturday.

Both members of the firm are also members of the Town Criers, and Mr. Vivian Darden is a member of the Rotary Club and the city council.

SIMON'S ATTRACTIVE STORE

The store of Simon Rutenberg on Church Street in the principal shopping district. The second floor department displays exclusively ladies' and children's wear. The ground level of this modern establishment is given over to shoes and men's and boys' clothing.

UP-TO-DATE SERVICE STATION

The One-Stop Service Station on U. S. Highway 17, at Grubb and Church streets, maintaining 24-hour service. Controlled by the Winslow Oil Company, Shell distributors, the One-Stop is one of several such stations in this section, rendering top-notch auto service.

"The Furniture Man" to this section for 24 years. His experience in furniture business dates back much further, however, to forty years ago in the cities of Norfolk, Edenton and Elizabeth City.

Many In Perquimans Seeking Liquor Store

Under law the Commissioners can call a special election in the issue at any time. However, by the petition route, the names of 15 percent of the county's qualified voters must be affixed before the Commissioners can request the Board of Elections to call a special election.

The opposition forces have not put in an active appearance yet, but county-liquor-control forces are confident as to the result of the special election the County Commissioners will be asked to discuss at the September meeting.

Hertford Astir Over Bridge Opening

(Continued from Page One) and pride as written for them by Judge John W. Darden of Plymouth. Then the gate will be raised and the caravan moves on after State Highway Commission Chairman Frank Dunlap addresses Julien Wood of Edenton and Zeb Vance Norman of Plymouth.

A brief speech on the bridge's magnificence and on its expected possibilities will turn the completed concrete link over to the Albemarle.

Long before the bridge is officially opened and dedicated, new faces and strange cars have been seen frequently in Hertford. The new faces now, of course, are seeing our side of the sound simply as a follow-up on crossing the bridge for a first time. Soon the bridge will play another part in this section's history, when the novelty wears off and the huge finished project is accepted merely as another shortcut in North Carolina's highway system, enabling motorists to reach heretofore distant points in the space of a few short miles.

S. S. CLASS ENTERTAINED

Monday afternoon from 3 to 6:30 o'clock, Mrs. L. J. Winslow, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. R. M. White, of Norfolk, Va., delightfully entertained her Sunday School class at Winslow's Camp on the quiet and peaceful banks of the Perquimans River, near Hertford.

After swimming, stunts and games, roasted weiners were enjoyed by the following: Mrs. V. C. Winslow, Mrs. R. C. Copeland, Mrs. B. C. Copeland, Mrs. N. W. Chappell, Mrs. F. A. Chappell, Mrs. Purvis Chappell, Mrs. J. M. Copeland, Mrs. Mabel Harwood, Mrs. T. C. Perry, Mrs. E. E. White, Mrs. W. L. White, Miss Lucy White, Mrs. R. M. White and Mrs. L. M. White.

To the Progressive People of the Albemarle Congratulations On the Opening of the Fine New Sound Bridge
