HERTFORD FISHERMEN ABANDON LOCAL STREAMS FOR CHESAPEAKE BAY SPORT

Catches at Ocean View Far Above Average Attract Hertfordians During Summer

The spot and croaker fishing at Ocean View and at nearby points in Chesapeake Bay has been claiming much of the time of Hertford and Perquimans County fishermen and fans.

The catches there this summer have been high above the average for the past three years. Hertfordians, on their Thursday afternoons off, get underway from here shortly after the stores close for the day and cast off from the beach usually within the next two hours with the result that they get in several hours of good fishing before dark.

Local men (and women) fishing there this summer have been bringing back catches of two hundred to three hundred . . . and sometimes more than five hundred fish.

Sheriff J. Emmett Winslow and party recently located a spot ground there and came ashore only after their boat was loaded with 515 spots—not to mention croakers. J. G. Roberson and party, including Vivian Mathews, D. J. Pritchard and others, had unusually good luck on the past Thursday afternoon, as did Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whedbee, Frances Fowler and R. S. Monds. L. C. Winslow, Alvin White, Cecil Winslow, and J. Ward Byrum on the same afternoon, landed all the fish they could decently bring home.

Attendants at the various boat-renting places along the bay shore, say the fishing this summer is almost as good as they can remember and the experience of local anglers bear out their statements.

Local fishing grounds are not entirely neglected however. Dr. J. W. Zachery, W. H. Whitley, Nathan Relfe, Edgar Feilds, T. E. Raper, Russell Winslow and others who prefer the more specialized sport of casting for wary bass and pike with rod and reel, continually haunt the river . . . not only on Thursdays, but also on other late afternoons. Their catches are, also reported good.

Phosphate Is Good For Building Soil

The agricultural conservation program offers North Carolina farmers an opportunity to apply much-needed phosphate to their soils, according to E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer at State College.

Farmers cooperating in the program can earn part of their AAA payment by applying phosphate to their land, or they can secure triple-superphosphate free from the AAA in lieu of part of their payment.

No charge is made for the triple-superphosphate, which is obtained from the TVA and other producers, Floyd added, but the farmers are asked to pay the transportation costs. Triple-superphosphate is highly concentrated, and does not cost as much to ship as other phosphates.

Most North Carolina soils can be greatly improved by applications of phosphate, and many farmers whose soil is too acid also apply lime to their fields. Lime applications will also help farmers earn their AAA payment.

Under the program, the phosphate

Walker's Popular Gathering Place

Many of Younger Set of Town Congregate at Store; Dance Floor Also Operated

In Hertford as in every town, there's a place where several members of the gay younger set can be found gathered at almost any hour of the day and until "not-too-late" at night.

Walker's confectionery, patent medicine store, soda fountain, bus station, or whatever you choose to call it, is a sort of all around gathering place. The Woodmen of the World meet in the ball room on the second floor and on cooler nights dances are held there at irregular intervals. Around the tables and in the booths downstairs more vital problems are thrashed out than probably in any other place in town.

Walker himself, a congenial young fellow who came to Hertford from Currituck several years ago, once worked for L. W. Anderson in his drug store. In no time at all, everybody liked him and after a short while Walker opened a store of his own. His first place of business was on Market Street three years ago, and later came the move to the Church Street location in order to be nearer the State Theatre which opened shortly thereafter.

The Walker force of lively young employees include Blanche Everett, Jarvis Ward and George Feilds. The organization's various enterprises include among other things, licensed veterinarian service, in the person of A. A. Nobles.

The store's stock takes in just about everything—from bus tickets to flashlight batteries and sandwiches. A recent lengthening process gives the store almost twice its former floor space.

should be applied in connection with perennial or biennial legumes, perennial grasses, winter legumes, lespedeza, crotaeria, or permanent pasture.

Growers who have used phosphate in the past report that it makes these crops produce a thick, luxurious growth and when the legumes are plowed under, the yield of succeeding crops such as corn, wheat, and other small grains is greatly increased. Some farmers have doubled and trebled grain yields by applying phosphate to legumes and then plowing under a good growth of these soil-building crops.

"DEAD" 40 YEARS; RETURNS
Minneapolis, Minn.—On September 14, 1898, a Minneapolis newspaper listed Jesse L. Stegner as one of the volunteers in the Spanish-American War who died in Manila. The other day Stegner walked into the newspaper office and explained that he had not been killed, but had been too busy to correct the news item. The paper, at his suggestion, printed the belated correction.

"You get your oil FREE if I forget to check it"

AN ENGINE THAT HASN'T ENOUGH oil in it is headed for the repair shop. And parts like pistons and bearings aren't cheap.

To help you skip repair costs, every Shell dealer listed below makes you this proposition for a limited time:

Drive into any one of our stations. If we don't check your oil without your telling us to, we will bring your oil level up to the full mark free.

We'll put in our Golden Shell, too, the oil that has been made especially for today's stop-and-go driving.

Maybe you never knew that stop and go calls for a certain kind of oil. Well, it does—and here's the reason why:

You average ten cold starts a day. If your oil is slow-flowing, one start can cause as much wear as 50 miles of steady running.

Golden Shell changes this. It's fast-flowing. The second you step on your starter, it coats each engine part with a tough oil film that doesn't break down . . . even under the heat of your steady running. In fact—

There's no finer oil at any price than Golden Shell.
