BIBLE THOUGHT FOR WEEK

HOLD FAITH FIRMLY: But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering: for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed. For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.—James 1:6, 7.

OUR WAY OF THINKING

We don't know a thing in the world about this Czech-German-French-English tangle, so we won't attempt to talk about it. All that we have been able to learn from the daily newspapers is that a lot of long and unpronounceable names over there are doing a lot of talking about fighting, or not fighting, somebody else.

If the peace of this nation is in any manner threatened (and we also don't know whether it is or not) then The Perquimans Weekly sincerely hopes that America will be ready for invasion—but otherwise stays entirely out of it.

This stand may sound pretty absurd to the people who know what it's all about, but to we, who don't know, it's our position exactly, invasion of this country—or no fight.

A PROUD RECORD

To talk about a subject The Perquimans Weekly is familiar with, we think the students who have attended the Perquimans County High School within the past 14 years since it was erected, are due considerable credit for the condition of the building.

The interior has been painted several times—but not to cover unsightly marks or writings on the walls. There have been none.

Roughly, five thousand students have used those classrooms and corridors and kept them spotless from the first day. There have been minor acts of vandalism, occasionally raids on the lunchroom, and a broken window pane now and then, but no downright attempts to mar the building's beauty.

The Perquimans Weekly likes to think this attitude is the result of an inheritant respect and appreciation for attractive surroundings, rather than fear of what will happen if they are caught defacing any part of the building. And in justice to Superintendent Johnson, be it said here that he leaves no doubt as to what would happen if such an act took place, expulsion, in short order, with approval from all the other students.

FILM FORECAST AT STATE THEATRE

HERTFORD, N. C.

Maureen O'Sullivan and Robert Taylor in "The Crowd Roars"

Thursday and Friday—"The Crowd Roars."

Robert Taylor plays his first prize-fight in "The Crowd Roars," action-packed story of the modern prize ring, opening at the State Theatre on Thursday for two days.

Maureen O'Sullivan, who played opposite the star in "A Yank at Oxford," is once again cast as Taylor's heroine in the new picture, and an exceptional cast of prominent screen names includes Edward Arnold as a racketeer, Frank Morgan as Taylor's father, an ex-vaudeville "ham," William Gargan, Lionel Stander and Jane Wyman.

Based on a story by George Bruce, author of "Navy Blue and Gold," the picture reveals behind-the-scene activities of the boxing game, with Taylor as a pawn in the shady manipulations of a gambling syndicate.

"The Crowd Roars" offers Taylor in the hardest-hitting role of his career as Tommy McCoy, the boy from the wrong side of the tracks, who fights his way up from the slums to a chance at the light-heavyweight championship.

Three smashing bouts in the colorful setting of Madison Square Garden climax the eventual career of the young fighter, who finds a battle with racketeers more serious than his challenge for the title.

The screen play of "The Crowd Roars" is the work of Thomas Lennon, George Bruce and George Oppenheimer. The picture was directed by Richard Thorpe.

Chewing The Rag

With Lucius Blanchard, Jr.

The photograph of Hertford's own "Walking Signpost" certainly got around after it appeared first in The Perquimans Weekly three issues ago. The local colored man who served as a direction marker at the bridge road intersection on the day of the celebration, has since stared at us from the pages of the News & Observer, The Charlotte Observer, the Daily Advance, the Virginian Pilot, and it probably appeared in other papers that we didn't see.

Messrs. Roberson, Matthews, Brinn, Darden and Perry let the old town in for publicity aplenty when they decided not to be outdone by the State Highway Department when Hertford was so impolitely snubbed in the matter of distance and direction markers on the "Great Day."

The now famous wrong-way flight of Douglas Corrigan is having its influence on more than airplanes and flying. In Hertford it influences a merchandise special in the store of J. G. Roberson, where Mr. Roberson is conducting a "wrong-way" sale. Here's the idea: The item is marked down ten cents each day until sold. As an added attraction the customer is invited to guess at what price the item will sell.

The marking-down began on August 22, and what happens when—and if—it goes down to nothing, Wilbur and I don't know. We were getting a little dizzy over the whole thing about that time and forgot to ask.

In a movie short subject last week we learned that the lowly peanut so common in Perquimans County and the rest of the section, has more than 140 by-products, including soaps, face creams, coffee, breakfast foods, paper and dyes.

Even now, George Washington Carver, southern slave family darkey, who discovered most of these uses for peanuts, is working on another, and probably his most humanitarian effort, transforming the peanuts into an element for the making of a massage compound, destined to restore the use of limbs made inactive by infantile paralysis.

Speaking of inventions, what do you suppose they'll think of next? Now these fellows who invent things have developed an electric baby blanket which automatically adjusts itself to varying room temperatures. Probably the next step is an automatic tone control for babies—soft crying at night and full volume for the daylight hours.

Attention, bird hunters. A well-written book, titled "Handling Your Bird Dog," by Earl J. Bufkin, will soon be an addition to the local library. The gracious donation of this book comes from the Purina Mills of St. Louis, manufacturers of poultry and livestock feeds. The book includes chapters on Handling on the Hunt, Correcting Faults, Training the Young Dog, Feeding and Conditioning, Keeping the Dog Clean and Well. Read it with Purina's compliments—it should prove very helpful and interesting to dog fanciers.
