

Lost Colony Makes Ready To Open For Fourth Year Shows

More Than Quarter Million Have Seen Paul Green's Drama; 100,000 Expected

Paul Green's historical drama, "The Lost Colony" will open its fourth summer season at the Waterside Theatre in Manteo June 29th, and run through September 2nd, according to an announcement made recently by D. Bradford Fearing, president of the Roanoke Island Historical Association.

The announcement was made following a conference of Roanoke Island officials, Author Green and Samuel Seldon, director of "The Lost Colony." It was decided at the meeting that henceforth the drama will be produced every summer in connection with the local anniversary celebration.

Originally presented in connection with the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first English colonies in the New World and the birth of Virginia Dare—first English child born on American soil—"The Lost Colony" has since been seen by more than a quarter million spectators. With more than 100,000 expected for this summer's performance, accommodations for 5,000 nightly are now available.

Produced on the very site of the first colony, this great outdoor historical spectacle has been acclaimed by critics, educators, civic leaders, President and Mrs. Roosevelt, who witnessed it on two different summers. Writing in her syndicated column "My Day", the First Lady said of it:

"It made the greatest impression on all of us . . . I was interested to find that there were cars from almost every state in the Union, which shows that people are beginning to know what is worth seeing, not only because of its historical interest but because of its intrinsic beauty. Paul Green has achieved a remarkable artistic success . . ."

The cast of 150 actors and dancers will again be composed mostly of native islanders and fisherfolk. Director Seldon will resume his duties late next month to whip the drama into shape for presentation in connection with this year's 353rd anniversary celebration at historic Fort Raleigh.

weapon. She was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail or pay a $50 fine and the costs of court.

It came out during the hearing that Mrs. Chappell visited Alphonso Chappell's Service Station on the Belvidere Highway with the weapon, a pistol, concealed under her coat. She said she had it to kill a hawk with.

It also developed that there was an altercation between the defendant, who pled guilty to the charge, and Walter Chappell, who took the pistol away from her. Mrs. Chappell admitted that she went to the station to question Walter Chappell about "some flying news" about herself, but denied that she intended to use the weapon on him. "I could have easily, if I wanted to," she said.

The case of Jack Sawyer, charged with fornication and adultery, a presentment from the April Grand Jury, was continued until May 7th, because of the absence of certain vital witnesses. There will be no county court on April 30th.

Dr. I. A. Ward, chairman of the Board of Deacons of the Hertford Baptist Church, announced today that the pulpit of the Church will be filled Sunday, April 28th, by C. R. Holmes, local attorney.

The Baptist Church pulpit was made vacant recently by the resignation of the Rev. J. F. Stegall, pastor.

Mr. Holmes will speak at the morning hour on the subject, "Jesus, A Man's Man," and at the evening hour on another subject.

Mr. Robert Rhodes, violinist, will render special music at the morning service. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Library Gets Shipment Of Popular New Books

The library has just received a shipment of 95 new books . . . all popular titles, according to Granberry Tucker, member of the library commission, including such volumes as "I Lost My British Accent," "Kitty Foyle," "Sea Island Lady," and other popular titles.

More orders are pending, possibly for a hundred more books or so. The first order arrived Monday and the books are now available.

A recent survey shows that there are at least 2,500 books on the library shelves now. The value of library-owned books at present is estimated at $1,500, according to Mr. Tucker.
