

Cleaning And Dress Shop Businesses Change Ownerships

Mrs. Ilie Goodwin has sold her pressing and cleaning business to W. C. (Bill) Morgan and has bought the Doris Dress Shop from Mrs. Willie Ainsley, who established the business a year ago.

Riddick's Pressing Works, under Mr. Morgan's ownership and management, is expected to continue under the same name, but the dress shop bought by Mrs. Goodwin will be known as the Smart Shoppe.

The Doris Dress Shop was operated by Mrs. Willie Ainsley, formerly Miss Doris Gregory, and is located on Church Street between Morgan's Modern Grocery and Gregory's 5-10-25 Cent Store.

As well as being the new owner of the dress shop, Mrs. Goodwin will be actively connected with it.

Farmers Watch Cotton Poison Demonstrations

Approximately 75 county farmers watched a demonstration in cotton poisoning at the S. P. Jessup farm across the causeway Tuesday afternoon, according to L. W. Anderson, County agent, who arranged the demonstration.

J. C. Fergusson, specialist from the extension service, did the demonstrating, using different types of equipment for applying cotton poison.

4-H Clubs Select Health Winners

In a recent 4-H Club contest, Sara Elizabeth Elliott and Melvin Rountree were selected as the healthiest boy and girl in 4-H Clubs in Perquimans County. Examinations were made in the contest by Dr. T. P. Brinn.

The winners, Sara Elizabeth and Melvin, will represent Perquimans County in the District Health Contest to be held in Tarboro on June 18th. Twenty-one counties in the Northeastern District will be represented there.

Three Happenings Paramount War News Of Past Week

Italy Declares War; the French Government Flees Paris; Turkey May Enter War

Three happenings paramount the war news of the week, and another is bidding to make it four.

1. Is Italy's declaration of war on the side of Germany.
2. Is President Roosevelt's promise to the Allies.
3. Is the lightning-like speed with which the Nazi forces have closed in on Paris, forcing the French government to make a run for it to a point further south in France.
4. Is the great possibility of Turkey's entering the war on the side of the Allies . . . provided Russia will promise to stay out.

Italian Declaration
Italian troops, after Premier Mussolini had expressed the hope that neutral nations would not be dragged into the war, were reported Tuesday night to be driving upon France's strategic African port of Djibouti after bombings of British bases at Malta and Aden in an effort to cut the life line of the Allies' empire communications.

Italy lost little time after serving formal notice on France and England to enter the war in reality. In less than two hours after the formal notice it was striking across the French-Italian frontier.

Help To Allies
President Roosevelt, in an address at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville Monday night, promised material aid to the Allies with the exception of man power.

And under a deal effected by the War Department at the U. S. Steel Export Co., the Allies will get $37,600,000 worth of surplus munitions, equipment and ordnance, it has been announced. The steel corporation is acting as a medium for transfer of the war material and said its subsidiary would derive no profit.

In France
As the German high command states its armies have smashed to within 13 miles of Paris on the northwest, Paris says that nowhere have the defenses been pierced. Parisians Wednesday had been watching the flashes of battle and listening to the rumble of cannon-fire, so close was the battle front to the French Capital.

The Government moved Tuesday from Paris to a point in deeper France. German bombers have been haranging the suburbs, but have spared the city proper.

About Turkey
It is estimated that Turkey now has approximately 600,000 men under arms—a small army compared with the French, English and German forces—and the call to colors is interpreted in Balkan capitals as indicating that she is preparing to fulfill her pledge to the Allies and enter the European total war. That is, if Soviet Russia promises to stay out of the conflict.

All quarters have seemed to agree that if Moscow indicates to Turkey that her entry into the war would be the signal for a Russian fulfillment in behalf of the Rome-Berlin Axis, Turkey would have no choice but to stay out of the war.

By the time this is printed, any of several blitzkrieglike happenings can have taken place; Paris can have fallen, and Turkey can have entered the war and thrown her half-million men in favor of the Allied Forces, or the Germans can have stopped cold at the Marne River where French soldiers are fighting in a last ditch on the World War battlefields of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne Forest.

Forester Urges Early Orders For Seedlings

During the past planting season, 244 farmers in 69 counties ordered forest tree seedlings from the State nurseries, but were unable to obtain them because of a depleted supply. So R. W. Graeber, Extension forester of N. C. State College who handles orders placed through county farm agents, says that requests for tree seedlings for the 1940-41 planting season should be made early.

"The nurseries have planted increased amounts of seed. The supply will be greater; but so will the demand. Landowners in Rowan, Scotland, and Warren Counties have already filed applications for 250,000 trees for delivery in January, 1941. I would urge farmers to file their applications early," Graeber said.

The price list for State forest nursery trees, as announced by the Department of Conservation and Development which operates the nurseries, located near Raleigh and in Henderson County, is as follows: Black locust, yellow poplar, cypress, white ash, red cedar, and loblolly, longleaf, shortleaf and slash pine, $2.00 per thousand delivered and $1.80 per thousand F.O.B.; the nurseries; two-year-old white pines, $3 delivered and $2.75 F.O.B.; and three-year-old white pine transplants, $4 delivered and $3.50 F.O.B.; and black walnuts, $10 per thousand delivered and $8.50 F.O.B.

MORE ABOUT Red Cross

starve, suffer on the same rack of torture, of persecution that you can."

"Do something! Do something! Do something!" For I tell you that there stands before the world today the greatest problem that has faced it within the Christian era. You are never going to hear hysteria from this pulpit. These are cold undisturbed facts. Within the Christian era there has never been a crisis in history that equals the one that is facing us. In all the annals of human slaughter there has never been the slaughter of mankind that is going on in the fields of France today.

"And the worst is not yet," he added. "Before the great European continent stalk hunger, famine pestilence, disease. Whether or not you and I are going to be called upon to do anything more than render domestic assistance according to our ability, or pay taxes to the limit of our ability, I do not know. Whatever we are called upon to do, we can do.

Today, as never before in all the world's history, in so-called civilized communities, there was a king, where slaughter is the prime objective of organized society, there are not thousands nor hundreds of thousands, but there are millions of non-combatants, men above the age of military service, women and children."

Speaking again of the Red Cross appeal, he said, "You tell me they have made no call. You say I have made no appeal. No, but I am making it now, and it is being made in the Methodist Church this morning. We are the only two clergymen in town, and we assume the leadership of the Red Cross. We have waited for the Red Cross Chapter of Perquimans County to speak to its people. That is what it is here for. The call has been going out all over the country."

"The Red Cross my Master made red with His blood and now used as a great symbol of international mercy, is not going to be dragged in the dust," he promised. "It is not going to be without an advocate so long as there are Christian ministers in your county."

The two ministers appealed to every one to contribute and said that contributions may be carried to the Post Office where they will be sent in, or they could be handed to Mr. Munns or Mr. Jilson.
