

Merchants Cooperating With Arrays Of Bargains To Make Fair A Success

All Is In Readiness For Second Annual County Fair; Gates Open Monday at Noon

All is in readiness for the Second Annual County Fair, the exhibits are planned and will be placed in their proper booths in the exhibit tent today (Friday), the speakers have been selected for Farmers' Day, the bands have been signed up for the parade on Children's Day, and not the least attraction of Fair Week in Hertford are the endless bargains Hertford's outstanding merchants are offering next week in conjunction with the fair.

Their advertisements will be found throughout the pages of this issue. As well as urging patrons to come in and look over the bargains, the merchants are boosting the fair and cooperating to the extent of offering their values as an added inducement to increase the number of farm folks who will ordinarily attend without inducements.

The Crescent Amusement Company, engaged by the Fair Association to return to Hertford for the second annual festival, will begin driving stakes and erecting rides—merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, etc.—Sunday morning. The first contingents of heavy trucks always arrive before daylight Sunday and everything is complete for the opening around noon on Monday.

There are thirty to thirty-five booths of all designs and the largest assortment of mechanical rides ever assembled here. There is, besides the old reliable ferris wheel and merry-go-round, an octopus, chair-o-plane, and others.

Bingo is also a popular attraction at the fair and will be located at its usual prominent point on the midway.

The Fair Association is endorsing the merchants, and believes that visitors here during Fair Week will make no mistake by visiting the stores and seeing what they have to offer in the way of values.

Poultry Flocks Need Ample Green Grazing

Only the person who grows poultry for his health's sake or as a hobby can afford to neglect the production of green feed for the flock, says T. T. Brown, extension poultryman of State College.

On the other hand, he went on, if profit is the person's motive, then green feed has a definite and important part to play in feeding chicks and growing pullets and layers. Grazing crops not only cut feed bills but promote health.

The poultryman who will take a look around his neighborhood will find an amazing difference in favor of pullet flocks raised on clean land where an ample supply of green feed was available over those raised on bare, dry lot without grazing crops. The pullets confined to the dry bare lots are usually pale-faced, pale-legged, and appear unthrifty. In sharp contrast to this condition, pullets grown on clean range on which no chickens have been for two years carry a generous supply of rich yellow pigment in their shank and around their faces and have bright red combs and wattles.

When the cost of developing pullets for layers is figured, almost invariably it has been found that those grown on clean range and having ample succulent grazing crops have cost their owners less money up to laying time than pullets produced on bare lots without green feed.

Yet this lessened expense is not the only important difference, Brown said. Egg production records show that green range-fed birds far surpass the pullets raised without benefit of range.

Funeral Held Sunday For Mrs. W. J. Tweedy

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Roughton in Elizabeth City for Mrs. Ella Ward Tweedy, wife of W. J. Tweedy of Elizabeth City. Two favorite hymns of the deceased were sung by members of the Blackwell Memorial Baptist Church choir. The Reverend J. L. White, pastor of the Blackwell Memorial Church conducted the short funeral service in the course of which he spoke tenderly of the Christian life of Mrs. Tweedy, her devotion to her Lord and to her church. Interment was made in Old Hollywood Cemetery.

The deceased is survived by her husband, W. J. Tweedy, of Elizabeth City; one sister, Mrs. H. N. Ward, of Ryland, and one brother, Millard F. Ward, of Edenton, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Tweedy was found unconscious in the yard of her home late Friday afternoon, the victim of a severe stroke of paralysis, and without again regaining consciousness died about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. She would have been 70 years of age had she lived until Wednesday.

She was a native of Chowan County, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Ward, but had not lived in the county for many years. She and her husband moved to Elizabeth City from Virginia about 16 years ago.

Major League Stars To Play In Series For Carolina Fans

Of interest to local baseball fans will be a series of games starring major league players which will be held in Raleigh Friday night, October 4; Newport News, Va., on October 5, and Wilson on Sunday afternoon, October 6.

Under the promotion of Leon Fields of Durham, a long list of players who come from North Carolina cities have been secured for the contests. Burgess Whitehead, infielder who made such a great comeback for the Giants this year and who comes from Lewiston, has been selected to manage one of the two touring teams. While Jimmy Brown, Cardinal infielder, and well remembered here has tentatively been named manager of the other outfit. He comes from Jamesville.

The pitching corps include Kirby Higbee, a power in the National League despite the standing of his Phillies; Mace Brown, veteran relief hurler of the Pittsburgh Pirates; and Buck Ross, Norwood boy who hurled for the Athletics, have already indicated they will twirl during the series. Murray O'Flynn, of Spokane, and Buck Marrow, Milwaukee pitcher who hails from Tarboro, are other pitchers line-up.

Opposing this formidable group of pitchers, Fields has signed a hard-hitting bunch of offensive players headed by Enos Slaughter, Cardinal slugger who comes from Roxboro, and Johnny Rizzo, leading hitter of the Phillies; Willie Duke, leading hitter of the Southern Association and a Raleigh boy; Sam Narroon, of Middlesex, Texas league slugger; and Dusty Cooke, of Fuquay Springs, who now plays with Jersey City.

Three major leaguers, Bill Atwood, of the Phillies; Johnny Peacock, Red Sox catcher who is from Tarboro, and Al Evans, of the Senators, who hails from Kenly, are scheduled to do the receiving for the two clubs.

Other infielders scheduled to perform for the home-folks are Stan Spence, of Kinston, now with the Red Sox; Pep Young, of Jamestown, with the Pirates; Dewey Williams, of Durham, now with the Atlanta Crackers; and Gilbert English, of Trinity, who was voted the most valuable player in the American Association last year. Stu Martin, infielder of the Cardinals, hails from Severn.

Chappell Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Theodore Boyce spent Thursday in Edenton with her sister, Mrs. Willie Lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Jernigan and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Nearest Jordan Saturday evening.

Mrs. A. L. Hobbs visited Mrs. Otis Ellis Monday.

Mrs. J. I. Boyce visited Mrs. N. Bunch Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Turner, of Portsmouth, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Turner, of Belvidere, called on Mrs. J. M. Turner Monday afternoon.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

The annual evangelistic services of Piney Woods Friends Church will begin Sunday, September 22.

The pastor of the church will be assisted by Thomas F. Andrew of Liberty, North Carolina. Mr. Andrew is a man of wide experience both as a pastor and evangelist, having served for many years as pastor in a number of churches in Piedmont Carolina. Although not a young man, he is very active for one of his age and preaches the old-time gospel with vigor and enthusiasm.

Services will be held each evening during the week on through Sunday, the 29th. The public is invited to worship with the Piney Woods Friends and enjoy the gospel messages.
