

Purchase Of 1940 Surplus Peanuts Will Begin Today

The Growers Peanut Cooperative, Incorporated, an organization set up to administer the 1940 peanut surplus removal program in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee announces that it plans to begin opening warehouses for the purchase of peanuts under this program not later than, Thursday, November 7.

The prices to be paid growers for their peanuts by this organization for the Virginia area are the same as prices under the 1939 program. Present plans are to open around forty warehouses to act as receiving agents in the peanut belt of North Carolina and Virginia.

MORE ABOUT Annual Red Cross

This project, as explained before through The Weekly, will be a spare time work, knitting sweaters and scarves to be given American boys in training. The yarn to be used will be furnished by the Red Cross and persons volunteering for the work can do it at their own homes.

Directions and instructions for the knitting will also be furnished the workers. If interested in this project, see Mr. Whedbee at the Post Office.

TOUCH-DOWN TACTICS

★ UNIVERSITY OF IOWA by Dr. Edw. N. Anderson Head Football Coach ★

This is the fifth of a series of six outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Cities Service Football Guide.

WE used the play diagrammed above in practically all our important games last year. The ball is snapped to the No. 3 tail back, who spins and gives it to No. 4, the fullback, who goes off tackle to the left or weak side of the line. The principal blocking assignments fall with the left halfback No. 2 and the right guard who pull out of the line and proceed the ball carrier around the left end. The execution of this play is so similar to many of those used for short passes that the down field passes men are more inclined to be looking for a pass than for an end run. Some of our most successful uses of this play were immediately followed from practically the same formation. If the right defensive end is a little more aggressive than usual, he may be blocked in, in which case the ball carrier would go around him and if the other blocking assignments are carried out as usual, the ball carrier will be in the open field territory with two blockers ahead of him.
