CHRIST SHOWS HIMSELF ALIVE

International Sunday School Lesson for April 13, 1941

GOLDEN TEXT: "I was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore."—Rev. 1:18.

Jesus was buried late Friday evening, following the crucifixion. Two prominent Jews attended to his burial.

Joseph of Arimathea, a member of the Sanhedrin, was bold enough to request the body from Pilate and give to it a place of interment in his own new tomb excavated in the rock.

Nicodemus, one of the rulers, who early in the ministry of Jesus came to him by night, also assisted him. As it was almost the beginning of the Sabbath, the process of embalming was very hastily done.

The three-day period foretold by Jesus passed, not three days as we count them, but according to the Jewish method, that is, part of Friday, all of Saturday, and part of Sunday, during which time Jesus was in the tomb.

Early Sunday a group of faithful women proceeded to the tomb to complete the embalming which the two men had hurriedly done Friday evening. To their surprise, they were met by angels who advised them that Jesus had risen. They hurried back with the news and immediately Peter and John proceeded to investigate the report. Peter entered into the tomb and found the grave-cloths perfectly arranged but the body of Jesus was gone.

The first appearance of Jesus was to Mary Magdalene. This is noteworthy in an age when women were not regarded as highly as now. Shortly afterwards, he appeared to the other women of the party. The first man who saw Jesus was Simon Peter, although we have no details of this appearance, it being merely stated that he appeared to Peter.

We have a very good account of the appearance of Jesus to two disciples, not apostles, walking from Jerusalem to Emmaus, a village about seven miles from the city. These two men were discussing the various events of the recent past when Jesus joined them and in answer to his questions they told him briefly about Jesus and his work, how he had been killed and with him the hope that he would redeem Israel, and then of the strange story of the women who had visited the sepulchre on the third day and found not his body.

In talking with the two men Jesus referred to the many scriptural passages about his career and interpreted to them the application to himself.

In this interpretation, we may be sure that Jesus stressed such facts as these, pointed out by C. R. Erdman: "The Scriptures contain authoritative messages concerning Christ: these messages can be understood only by those who believe in Christ, and are guided by him; the essential truths concerning Christ center in the facts of his death and resurrection; in witness of the salvation thus secured, repentance and forgiveness of sins can be preached; this salvation is to be proclaimed in all the world; the followers of Christ are the messengers by whom this good news is to be made known; the power for such proclamation is imparted by the Spirit of Christ who was manifested in new power on the Day of Pentecost, and who is now an abiding Presence and a Source of limitless strength to all who seek to do the will of Christ and to glorify his name."

At length, Jesus revealed his identity to these disciples who returned to Jerusalem and found ten of the apostles together, discussing the appearance of Jesus to Peter. The Savior appeared then to this group and a week later to the eleven apostles to convince Thomas, who had been absent the preceding week. Several other appearances during the forty days are also given us. Jesus appeared to seven fishermen led by Peter, to all the apostles, and to a large gathering of five hundred, also to his brother James, who became as a result a leader in the early church, and finally, on the occasion followed by his ascension from the Mount of Olives.

We cannot understand the mystery of the nature of Jesus during this period. He passed unimpeded through the days as if spiritual yet he exhibited his wounds and ate food as if material. Perhaps his form was interchangeable. So, the ascension is a mystery to us, but J. Patterson Smyth says, "We believe that the visible event which we call the ascension was his kindly condescension to simple human minds. We naturally connect that higher life which is beyond our present comprehension with the blue heavens above, or the starry heights beyond the blue. In concession to this simple thought, instead of just disappearing as at other times, he rose from the earth and a cloud received him. It only means that he passed from our present sphere of existence to another sphere beyond our own."

Work On Census Nearing Finish

North Carolina's annual farm census, with 70 per cent of required information already assembled, will be ready for distribution to farmers and others in June, W. T. Garrison, census supervisor of the State Department of Agriculture reports.

Approximately 1,035 farm census books are received yearly from tax supervisors who take agricultural inventories from growers at the time they list their taxes; 750 complete books have been returned.

North Carolina is the only Southern State making an annual farm census survey. Information from the census is used by farmers, agricultural leaders, farm groups and others in planning farm programs and as guides in mapping other programs.

Per-Acre Yield Records Broken

Per-acre-yield records for five North Carolina crops—cotton, wheat, oats, flue-cured tobacco, and peanuts—were established in 1940, W. T. Wesson, junior statistician of the State Department of Agriculture, reports.

The new per-acre-records reported are: cotton lint, 425 pounds; winter wheat, 14 bushels; oats for grain, 24 bushels; tobacco, 991 pounds; peanuts picked and threshed, 1,275 pounds.

A new per-acre yield record for lespedeza seed of 230 pounds was set in 1939.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON

Mrs. James E. Totten was a most charming hostess to a number of relatives at a bridge luncheon at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. G. Roberson, Tuesday.

The table was covered with a beautiful hand-made lace cloth centered with an arrangement of spring flowers and Easter decorations, carrying out a color scheme of yellow and blue which was also evident in the frozen salads and desserts as well as in the place cards and tallies.

After lunch, the guests retired to the living room where tables were arranged for bridge. After several progressions, high score prize was awarded Mrs. H. R. Winslow, while Mrs. M. M. Spivey received second high.

Those enjoying Mrs. Totten's hospitality were Mrs. C. W. Ives of Elizabeth City; Mrs. R. L. Spivey of Hertford; Mrs. M. M. Spivey, Mrs. N. C. Spivey, Mrs. C. D. Spivey and Mrs. Bob Spivey of New Hope; Mrs. J. G. Roberson, Mrs. H. R. Winslow and Mrs. Vivian Mathews of Hertford, and Mrs. J. B. Basnight of Burgess.
