BIBLE THOUGHT FOR WEEK

THE TRUTH MAKES US FREE
I tell you the truth.—John 8:45.

Perquimans First

Congratulations are in order for Perquimans on being the first county in the State to report its quota to the USO. The fact that this county, through its local committee chairman, Emmett Winslow, was the first to report to State Headquarters that it had raised the funds requested to provide additional relaxation for men who have been inducted into military services, shows that our local people are vitally interested in the boys who are and who will be the main spring in our National Defense.

It Seems Silly

What with all the rumors and propaganda going on today, we are at a loss to understand the news item this week regarding a possible oil shortage in this Country . . . probably by July First.

To our way of thinking, Harold E. Ickes, now defense petroleum coordinator, is to a certain extent an out and out alarmist, but not only he hints at this possible shortage, but members of the oil industry, itself, proclaim it.

However, the part that strikes us as being outright silly was reported in Wednesday's News and Observer. Two news stories, side by side, tell of the possible shortage and, also, that, the Allies, including America, continues to sell OIL to the Japanese, who are evidently in cohorts with the Axis forces . . . our avowed opponents.

Certainly, if there is a possibility that this Country faces an oil shortage, it seems to us that now is the time to stop selling oil to forces or countries that may at some future date be our forceful opponents. Why not cut off the oil leakage where it will be of greater aid to this country, instead of cutting it off on the home front.

If this nation needs more oil and gasoline than it is now producing to further our national defense, The Weekly heartily favors the rationing of these items, but let's start the rationing with those peoples who are the least interested in the protection of our way of living.

Gotta Dime?

A week ago last Tuesday, President Roosevelt, in his "fire-side chat" told this country of the predicament which it now faces as a result of conditions in Europe.

Almost a year ago the Government began our Defense Program in anticipation of what we now face.

That Defense Program is costing money . . . tons of it, and in order to continue that Defense Program our Government on May 1 started the sale of Defense Saving Stamps and Bonds as the best method of procuring it, and as the best means to enable the most people in the United States to participate in our Defense Program.

The sale of the stamps and bonds, thus far, has been gratifying, but more and more people should begin the purchase of these stamps and bonds (remember, that Program is taking "tons of money" every day) as a matter of investment as well as a means of helping "Uncle Sam."

One doesn't need a huge amount to begin the purchasing of Defense bonds . . . all you gotta have is one thin dime. You can buy a Saving Stamp with that ten cents and be on the road to the purchase of a bond at a later date.

No doubt, all of us have had the idea in mind to start buying stamps or bonds . . . let's not put it off. Let's get started today.

Wine Control

With the formation of the North Carolina Association for Wine Control, the State can now look for a "clean-up" campaign within the wine industry in this State similar to that which has been carried on for several years by the Beer Industry within North Carolina.

While Perquimans County is not directly affected by the formation of this Association, due to the fact that the county is dry and has no outlets for either liquor or wines, it is indirectly affected and should welcome such an effort to control the sale of this beverage.

As long as beer, liquor and wines are to be sold within our State, all of them should be under strict control and those places where such beverages are sold should be rigidly inspected and ruled as to the sales they make.

The Weekly believes that this new Association will make a thorough job of seeing that the sale of wines will now be on a strictly legal procedure and that fewer complaints can be made against the industry itself.

Defense Strikes Are "Out"

Along the shores of San Francisco Bay eleven shipyards are largely idle because of a strike of C. I. O. and A. F. of L. machinists. This strike is holding back the bridge of ships on which aid to Britain, and consequently American safety, vitally depends. It is a strike in defiance of national officers of the American Federation of Labor and of a master agreement between the shipyards and organized labor.

These strikers, or many of them, doubtless feel that they have legitimate grievances. But such grievances are trivial in comparison with the freedoms that are at stake in the war or with the effort other workers are making to preserve those freedoms.

At first the crux of the issue appeared to lie in demands for $1.15 instead of $1.12 an hour and for double time instead of time-and-a-half for overtime. Then there was talk of paid vacations as at the Navy yards; 38,000 employees of Curtiss-Wright Corporation have given up their vacations in order to speed airplane and engine production. Now the machinists' union president attacks the refusal of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to sign the master agreement, including a closed shop clause. If this is the issue, why are the other ten yards struck? All the yards were said to be observing the terms of the agreement.

The strikers in this and a few other defense walkouts are virtually striking against themselves. They are being "unfair to organized labor" in that they are misrepresenting the loyalty and the willingness of the great body of their fellow workers. That loyalty and willingness was better expressed in the resolution of the executive council of the A. F. of L. Sunday urging redoubled aid to Britain and pledging "whatever sacrifices the workers of America may be called upon to undertake for the defense of American democracy."

The attitude of labor also is indicated by a Fortune magazine survey just released which found that more than 56 per cent of the factory workers polled believed the Government should forbid strikes over wages or the closed shop in defense industries and more than 68 per cent favored a Government agency with power to force settlements between employers and labor.

Under the circumstances, the strike in the shipyards of San Francisco Bay and every other unjustified strike in defense industries adds support to the Vinson Bill in Congress which has just been narrowed down to the relatively mild proposal of a compulsory 25-day waiting period in disputes in defense industries.—Christian Science Monitor.
