

Here's July-August Garden Work Calendar

There's much work to be done on the fall garden, and in the home orchard, during July and August, says H. R. Niswonger and L. P. Watson, Extension horticulturists of N. C. State College.

For farmers in the Eastern part of the State, the horticulturists recommend that a second crop of potatoes be planted in July.

For the western half of the State, the horticulturists recommend: Sow celery seed in July for transplanting in August.

Suggested work in the home orchard during the July-August period is as follows: Remove old fruiting canes of raspberries, dewberries and blackberries.

Spray peach trees with wet sulphur to control brown rot. Spray apple trees with Bordeaux mixture to control the rot diseases.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor: I notice the trend of most news papers is toward helping Britain even though Communist Russia is now her ally.

However, much we should like to see Hitler dictatorship banished from the earth, the German-Russian war has caused Great Britain to form an alliance with the Communist dictator. If British and Russian war interests are now the same, as both Eden and Churchill have emphasized, it would appear that Stalin's war aims will become Britain's and vice versa.

In regard to America's helping Britain, we are told not to think of helping Russia, but only of defeating Hitler. However, if America ever joins this war now, we should not be fighting for the "four freedoms" so much spoken of, but to restore Soviet tyranny over such little nations as Finland, Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia. We should be sending our men to die for Stalin and his totalitarian dictatorship in the blind hope of defeating Hitler totalitarian dictatorship.

We Americans want no dictatorships, and many of us believe that only the strictest neutrality is possible now for the United States, if we are to maintain our loyalty to democratic ideals. The hypocrisy of the last war—"a war to make the world safe for democracy"—should not be repeated.

Sincerely, MATTIE E. SAUNDERS, Tyner, N. C. July 7, 1941.
