BLOSSOMS IN THE DUST

Walter Pidgeon, playing the six-foot Texan, Sam Gladney, seems somewhat at loss with the dainty porcelain cup offered him by Greer Garson in this scene from "Blossoms in the Dust," at State Theatre, Hertford, Monday and Tuesday. The two are starred in the stirring drama in which Miss Garson enacts a role inspired by the life of Edna Gladney, superintendent of the Texas Children's Home and Aid Society at Fort Worth.

FROM MANTEO TO MURPHY

North Carolina law enforcement officials, accepting the help of the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee, have established a noteworthy record of eliminating the scattered few beer retailers who commit or permit law violations in their places of business.

Encouraged by the recent endorsement of our work by law enforcement officials and county authorities, our Committee's program of industrial cooperation proceeds without let-up. Your support is needed in making and keeping North Carolina's legalized beer industry free from objectionable elements. You can help by patronizing only those dealers who conduct their businesses in strict compliance with the law.
