

TOWN AND FARM IN WARTIME

Blue Stamps
(For canned, frozen and certain dehydrated foods). Blue stamps G, H, J remain good through June 7. Blue stamps K, L, M are good until July 7.

Coffee
Stamp No. 24 in War Ration Book One, good for one pound of coffee, became valid May 31 and is good through June.

Gasoline
"A" book coupons No. 5 good for three gallons each and must last till July 21.

Red Stamps
(For meat products, canned fish, most edible oils and cheeses). Red Stamps J and K good through June.

Shoes
No. 17 Stamp in War Ration Book One good for one pair until June 15.

Sugar
Stamp No. 13, good for 5 pounds, becomes valid June 1 and is good through August 15.

Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 in War Ration Book One now are valid for 5 pounds of sugar each, for use in home canning. They are good through October 31. Housewives may apply at local boards for supplementary sugar rations for home canning, if essential.

May Use Oil Stoves
North Carolina householders may use their oil cooking stoves this summer regardless of the availability of coal or wood-fired stoves, OPA has announced. The present restriction denying fuel oil rations for domestic cooking and water heating, if adequate "stand-by" equipment is available, has been lifted because of the shortage of all fuels, and to encourage home canning.

Food For 3-Day Furlough
A North Carolina serviceman on a leave or furlough of at least 3 days hereafter will be provided with a complete application form for obtaining rationed food before he leaves camp. He will give the application to the person who provides his meals, who will submit it to the local board for food certificates within 15 days after the furlough ends.

Lower Potato Prices Saves 7%
Consumers' ceiling prices on potatoes have been decreased about seven per cent, according to a recent OPA announcement. At the same time, the price paid growers was increased 30 cents per hundredweight on the 1943 early crop.

Sugar Supply For 1943
On the basis of prospective 1943 supplies of sugar, the current level of consumption in this country probably can be maintained, the War Food Administration has announced.

The allocation of the prospective supply will be as follows: 1,153,000 tons for the armed forces, lend-lease and other exports, and 4,600,000 tons for civilian uses. The civilian uses include an estimated 2,258,000 tons for household use and home canning, and 2,342,000 tons for industrial and institutional sugar uses.

Price Support For Butter
Dairy farmers have been assured that wholesale prices of butter will continue to be supported at a level equivalent to 46 cents a pound until June 30, 1944, by the War Food Administration. The support was pledged last December at the time farmers were called upon to meet 1943 production goals.

Mileage From Scrap Tires
To obtain additional mileage from tires that can be made serviceable with the addition of reliners, the Office of Rubber Director has excluded re-usable tire carcasses from rubber scrap going to reclaiming plants. Because of this order, some half-million otherwise unusable tires can be placed in service.

Saving On Farm Fertilizer
Farmers who use nitrogenous fertilizers for top-soil reconditioning will be saved approximately $225,000 within a year by the six per cent freight reductions which became effective May 15, 1943. This saving will chiefly affect sales and purchases next year, since most farmers have already bought their 1943 requirements. The individual's saving will depend upon his location and upon the delivery system of the seller.

Rubber Boots For Workers
Rubber boots are now available to the following classes of North Carolina workers: Miners, loggers, communications linemen, construction workers, quarry workers, and clay extractors. Formerly only miners and loggers were on the eligible list.

Applicants must show ration boards a definite occupational need for rubber boots, but a purchaser is no longer required to turn in worn-out rubber footwear when he buys a new pair.

OUR BIGGEST INDUSTRY

It was the women of the country who began what has now become our biggest industry. All through the summers of long ago our great-grandmothers preserved and pickled and dried the extra vegetables and fruits that came from their gardens and orchards. In the fall came the butchering, and the smell of hickory stole from those old smokehouses where the meats were hung to cure. Eggs were put down in brine and such things as potatoes and turnips were buried under heaps of earth in the cellar.

However, as the American industrial system grew and men discovered better ways of processing foods, one after another of the jobs great-grandmother did regularly, went out of the home and into the plants. So today the food industry is the biggest in the country and as important to our war effort as those industries that supply the machines and munitions for fighting.

Never before in the history of the world has a nation faced a food situation like the one that confronts America today. We must not only keep our home front strong and send the best possible provisions to our armies all over the world. We must send huge shipments of food to our allies and, as we win them, to the countries that have been occupied and half-starved by the Axis.

There are about 50,000 factories where foods are salted, smoked, pickled, canned, frozen, and dried. And the number is growing with the need for still more food. The dehydration industry alone has grown by leaps and bounds since the war began, and millions of tons of these lightweight foods are being shipped abroad. Still more foods are being frozen, many of them for the armed forces. New methods of packaging foods are being developed every day. But most of the foods we eat this year were grown in 1942, and the foods from this year's planting will be consumed a year from now. So it takes long-range planning and planting as well as skillful processing if we are to meet our obligations. The food industry is doing a stupendous job. When the planning and administration of food control are equally efficient we shall be able to feed a large share of the world.

Terracing Machinery Improves Farm Values

County terracing outfits are increasing farm values in the areas they serve and growers are enthusiastic over their work, says David S. Weaver, head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at N. C. State College.

He points to the record of Catawba County, for example, as reported by Assistant County Agent Jessé F. Giles. Since 1936 growers there have spent $20,425.40 for the construction of terraces. On 915 farms a total of 9,141 acres have been terraced and 328,650 linear feet of farm road have also been constructed.

Weaver says that the average cost of terracing an acre with the Catawba County equipment is $22.33 per acre, with a cost of 52 cents per one hundred feet. Most of this work has been done on small farms where growers have only light equipment and are unable to do the terracing as they wish it carried out.

A complete circle of the county is made every two years and at the present time the demand for the terracing equipment is so heavy that it cannot possibly do all the work needed.

As an example of what farmers think of the service rendered by the terracing equipment, Zeb Wilson of Route 1, Newton, says that his farm is easily worth one-third more because of the terracing of 15 acres during the fall of last year. E. C. Conslor, also of Newton, has additional terracing done on his farm every time the machinery comes to his community.
