(Horace Baker, 10-A, and Beuna Mae Godwin, 10-B, arranged the copy for this column this week.)

It is really beginning to feel like Christmas at P. C. H. S. Quite a number of the home-rooms have drawn names to exchange gifts.

Calvin Banks, '41, Ed Wilder, '41, Carlton Nixon and Roy Baccus, former students at P. C. H. S., visited our school last week.

Exams will probably be given during the second or third week of January. Examinations primarily are given before Christmas, but this year we are having five months of school so they will be given after Christmas.

Our library has a huge new population density map of the United States based on the 1940 census. The map was sent to our school by the United States Department of Commerce. The map is divided into counties. The legend shows that Perquimans County has a population of 25 to 50 people per square mile.

Pupils taking a health quiz were asked what is an enzyme? Answer: A commissioned officer in the Navy.

Mr. Johnson proposed a wonderful plan in chapel the other day. It was as follows: Each home-room going an entire week without a single one of its pupils getting a detention, would have the last half-hour on Friday afternoon free from school tasks. The room last week to acquire this "free half-hour" was 11-A.

We were sorry that some of the members of our faculty were sick last week, but we were glad to have Mrs. Charles Skinner, Mrs. Howard Pitt and Miss Helen Gaither as substitutes.

Mr. F. T. Johnson, Superintendent of the Perquimans County Schools, has announced that the students will have a week and a half for the Christmas holidays. The schools will close Wednesday, December 22, and will open again the third of January.

The Junior Class held its regular weekly meeting Thursday. The following officers for the Junior Class were elected:

President, Peggy Felton Nowell, 10-A.

Vice President, Dan Berry, 10-A.

Treasurer, Ann Matthews, 10-A.

Secretary, Joanne Winslow, 10-B.

The class made a profit of $91 in the sale of magazine subscriptions. Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Casper Meekins. Mrs. Meekins is the former Miss Helen Hoffer, class of '43. Last year Mrs. Meekins was voted the "most beautiful girl" in the senior class.

8-1 had charge of the chapel program last Friday. The chaplain, Lieutenant Morrill, from the Naval Air Station at Harvey Point, gave a very interesting talk. We sang the Navy songs and also Christmas songs.

Girls' basketball practice at P. C. H. S. started Monday, December 6.

There were 24 freshmen and sophomores who went out for their first practice. We expect to have a good team this year, as we lost only one member of our last year's team, Barbara Gault, who has moved to Rocky Mount.

The first game was played Friday night, December 10, with Chowan High School. The Squaws played an outstanding game. The score was 14 to 51 in our favor. Eunice White was the outstanding player. She scored 18 points for the Squaws. The girls who played were: Margaret Dyer, Belle Landing, Mildred Webb, Mee Mee Mansfield, Pauline Smith, Ann Matthews, Christine Matthews and Beuna Mae Godwin.

The Perquimans Indians also played a fine game. The score was 15 to 7 in our favor. The outstanding players were Dan Berry, Broughton Dell, George Wood, Thurman White, and Doward Jones.

Points Now Given For Salvaged Fats

Housewives will receive one brown ration point for each half-pound of salvage kitchen fats she takes to her retailer, which went into effect on Monday.

In addition to ration points, she will continue to receive the ceiling price of four cents a pound for her used kitchen fats.

Retailers can't give points for less than half a pound, but housewives need not wait to pile up more than half a pound before turning fats in for brown points which then may be used for the purchase of fats, meats, cheese and other foods customarily bought with these stamps.

Charlie Wood Weds Miss Nell Riddick

Miss Nell Weeks Riddick, daughter of Mrs. Emmett Leonard Riddick and the late Mr. Riddick of Gatesville, and Charles H. Wood, Jr., lieutenant USNAC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Wood of Edenton, were united in marriage at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Gatesville on Saturday, December 4, with the rector, the Rev. John Hare Bonner, officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Rufus M. Riddick, wore a wedding gown of ivory slipper satin and Chantilly lace fashioned with high round neckline, deep yoke of marquise edged with seed-pearl beading and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The gathered skirt extended down the back, and formed a sweeping train. Her full-length veil of imported illusion fell from a sweetheart-shaped head dress of Chantilly lace. She carried an orchid which was showered with white roses and swansonia. Her only ornament was a cluster of diamonds worn by her mother on her wedding day.

Mrs. William E. Duke, of Norfolk, Va., cousin of the bride, was dame of honor. The maid of honor was Miss Jennie Sewell Marks, of Tillery. Little Miss Jane Perry, of Windsor, was junior bridesmaid. Charles H. Wood, father of the bridegroom, was best man and the ushers were Richard N. Hines and Frank M. Holmes.

Mrs. Wood is a graduate of Woman's College, University of North Carolina, and at the time of her marriage she was a teacher of commerce in the Perquimans High School.

Lieutenant Wood is a graduate of The Citadel. He received his training as pilot in Pensacola and Miami, Florida.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CHRIST THE FULFILLMENT OF THE LAW

International Sunday School Lesson For December 19

Golden Text: "God . . . hath at the end of these days spoken unto us in his Son."—Hebrews 1:1-2.

Lesson Text: Hebrews 1:1-9; Romans 10:4-10.

All through the ages men have wondered about God. What is God like? What is His purpose concerning my life? How does God want people to live? Evidences of a Supreme Being abound in nature and even the most primitive of people recognize the existence of a power higher than themselves.

The writer of the letter to the Hebrews, the author of which is uncertain, declares that God, at sundry times and in various manners, revealed himself in times past to the children of Israel through the prophets. Those familiar with the Old Testament know how God spoke through his leaders, like Abraham, Jacob, Moses and the like, and then through the various prophets like Isaiah, Jeremiah, Daniel and so forth, giving to the people a revelation of himself.

However, in order to complete the revelation, it became necessary for God to send his own son into the world in the person of Jesus Christ. People observed how Jesus lived. God is like Jesus for he said, "I and the Father are one." So, if one wants to know what God is like, he needs only to look at Jesus. If he wants to live the good life, which God wants him to live, he can do so by doing as Jesus did.

Then the writer of Hebrews explains who Jesus is. First, he says that Jesus is God's spokesman, only begotten Son, etc." (John 3:16). Then the author declares that Jesus, God's Son, is the heir of all things. The whole world is his, for through him it was created. He is also superior to the angels of Heaven, for the angels ministered unto him at various times. Prophets and angels sometimes spoke and acted for God, but only Jesus could speak and act as God because he only was God.

through whom God is revealing his love for the world. "For God so loved the world that He sent His Son, the only begotten Son, who came to save the world." Then Paul, in writing to the Romans, declares that Jesus is the saviour of men. In the tenth chapter of this letter Paul attempts to make clear the difference between the old Jewish idea of how people were saved and the true way which Jesus set up by his death on Calvary.

Pious Jews tried to live good lives and obey all the laws and thereby they expected to be saved. It was natural that they should believe this because they had received the idea from the Old Testament which says, "Ye shall, therefore, keep my statutes, and my judgments; which if a man do, he shall live in them: I am the Lord."—Lev. 18:5. However, living simply by the law passed when God revealed himself to men through Christ, "For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone that believeth." (Romans 10:4).

All that is necessary for salvation is, as Paul declares, in Romans 10:9-10: "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation."

What follows acceptance of Jesus as one's Saviour? Surely, a true believer will want to try to live as nearly as possible like Jesus lived. We do not intimate that anyone can live a sinless life, but we do say that if one tries honestly and sincerely he or she will be able to live a better life with Jesus than without Him. It will be well to always remember that, if we want it, we can have God's help through the presence of the Holy Spirit.

God helps us to improve under the leadership of the Holy Spirit. Each improvement makes easier the next improvement—the next step toward the perfection of Jesus Christ. Even the best person, therefore, has something to urge him forward and even the weakest Christian need not be discouraged, for the Holy Spirit will be his helper as he seeks to advance.

The following Scripture passages, listed in this acoustic, are often called the ABC of the gospel:

1—"All have sinned, etc."—Romans 3:23.

2—"Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, etc."—Acts 16:31.

3—"Confess him before men."—Romans 10:9-10.

A large gentleman was one of a party of tourists visiting Palestine. At a hotel he was puzzled to find in his laundry account a charge made for "one tent." On inquiry he discovered that what the Arab laundry believed to be a tent was one of his nightshirts.
