and the winner of this game will meet in the final contest Saturday night, probably playing Central High School, which is expected to win over Moyock, and the winner of the Cresswell-Manteo game.

Perquimans, South Mills and Central are probably the three strongest teams in the meet, and Central drew the easy route, being forced to play only one of the teams, while Perquimans will be forced to defeat both in order to win the tournament.

The Perquimans Squaws were scheduled to play their first game in the tourney Thursday night, meeting the Manteo girls. Should the Squaws win their first game, they will play the winner of the Weeksville-South Mills game on Friday night.

Soil Conservation District Completes Plan For One Farm

A conservation farm plan was completed last week by the Albemarle Soil Conservation District for A. T. Lane, chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

Mr. Lane plans to change approximately 11,000 linear feet of straight-sided lateral ditches to shallow V type ditches that can be maintained with tractor equipment. By using a shallow V-type ditch much of the land now occupied by spoil banks can be cultivated and by having lateral ditches which can be maintained with tractor equipment rather than hand labor will mean the saving of much time and labor. The District will assist Mr. Lane by doing the necessary profile leveling on ditches to obtain proper grade for drainage. Mr. Lane plans to eliminate some of the low pockets in fields by flushing the land to the center between lateral ditches.

His crop rotation provides for winter cover crops on all peanut and cotton land and a summer legume, soybeans, will be planted in corn land for cover and grazing. He plans to hog off one of his corn fields early and seed grain for winter grazing.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our father, Levi A. Goodwin, who departed from us on December 22, 1943:

Just three weeks ago today God called our dear father away, To with Him join hard and fast and from Him never no more to part.

Dearest daddy, how we miss you, There's no tongue can tell, But God took you with Him in Heaven Where you'll forever dwell.

Father, we knew you suffered pain, Which was indeed severe; Although we never saw or found you Without a smile of cheer on your face.

Dear Father, it has been so lonely Since from this earth you passed away, And it fills our hearts with sorrow As we think of you each day.

We pray to meet you, Father and Mother, In that Heavenly home above, When we ever more can share Happiness, peace and love.

The moonlight stars are glittering Upon the snow-white grave, Where the body lies beneath though The soul in Heaven is saved.

The nights and the days are so lonely and long, And have been since you've been gone Father, how we miss you, tears of silence often flow We often sit and wonder why you had to go.

The blanket of flowers covered the grave, Though your life we tried but could not save You were so kind and patient, loving and true, Especially to the little ones and they never forgot you.

Yet it was so hard to say good-bye, Three weeks ago today, To know no more to hear your voice As you were carried away. The chair you often sat in now sits alone, Thank God, your soul is in Heaven and is not alone.

Oh! Dear Father, how we loved you But the dear Lord loved you best, And He took you from this world, Of sorrow to that land of peace and rest. —His daughter, Mrs. C. P. Spinner, Carrollton, Va.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE BETRAYAL, DENIAL AND ARREST OF JESUS

International Sunday School Lesson For March 12, 1944.

GOLDEN TEXT: "He was despised and rejected of men; a man sorrowing, and acquainted with grief."—Isaiah 53:3.

(Lesson Text: Mark 14:10, 11; 53, 54; 66-72; 15:12-15.)

We come now to the last twenty-four hours of the earthly life of Jesus. Earlier he had sent Peter and John into Jerusalem to make arrangements for the final supper with the twelve. Jesus knew that Judas was plotting with his enemies, therefore, he did not let this disciple know in advance where they would gather in the evening.

When the disciples gathered there was again a disgraceful dissension among them as to who should have the seats of honor, which spirit Jesus rebuked by assuming the task of a servant and washing the dust and dirt from their feet. Eating and drinking with them he established the precedent for the Lord's Supper, which is observed by his followers today in memory of his life and sacrifice.

While at this meal Jesus astonished his little group of intimate associates by telling them that one of them would betray him. In dismay each inquired if it could possibly be him. Apparently to John alone did Jesus indicate who his betrayer was, and, shortly afterwards, in a quiet tone, instructed Judas to proceed with his plans.

It may seem strange that the disciples all inquired as to their possibility of guilt. It reveals, at least, that none of them up to this time had suspected the insincerity of Judas.

There are two viewpoints on Judas. One holds him up as the arch traitor in the world's history. Rev. R. C. Gillie explains his attitude: "No man can live constantly with a very good person who loves him and give in return neither sympathy nor loyalty, without coming in time to feel hatred. It is impossible to go on receiving love and playing the hypocrite and remain indifferent. Thus, in the last year of his life, Judas' love for Jesus changed slowly to distaste and dislike, and at last to a kind of hatred. He felt himself to be an almost ruined man. His bubble had burst."

On the other hand, the New Outlook finds Judas' sin to be more understandable: "A growing distrust of the methods by which Jesus was seeking to bring in his Kingdom and a growing impatience with him for refusing to adopt other and more practical and rational ideals.

We have no reason to think that Judas' discipleship was a mockery from the beginning; it probably had quite as much sincerity in it as had any of the others. But he had come to the place where Jesus' way of patient goodness and enduring love seemed futile and foolishness, and he determined to try a way of his own.

It doesn't look as if Judas' sin was such a terribly unique one after all; what else is any man guilty of when he says that Jesus' gospel of love cannot be made to work in a world such as ours, and the Beatitudes and Golden Rule are sentimental nonsense!"

Judas having gone, Jesus told his disciples that all of them would be offended with him, whereupon Peter, with his usual impetuosity insisted that he would die before he would deny his Lord. Jesus warned him that before daylight, he would deny him three times, which subsequently came to pass, as Peter alarmed by his own danger, strenuously insisted to various persons that he did not know Jesus. Finally, made conscious of his desertion by a glance from Jesus, Peter was stricken with grief. In his subsequent life, by courageously championing the new faith, Peter gave proof of the fidelity and courage of which he had boasted.

eventually facing death without denying his Master.

Following the Last Supper, Jesus went out to the garden of Gethsemane, asking in prayer that the ordeal before him be removed but submitting himself to the divine will. Judas led his enemies to him indicating his identity with a treacherous kiss. Peter drew his sword and struck in defense of Jesus, only to have the latter perform another miracle and cure the wound. In the confusion which followed, the disciples of Jesus scattered and fled from the scene, although later in the night some of them recovered their courage and returned to the scene of his trial.

SHIPS RETURNING from other missions, are bringing natural soda from Chile—for this year's biggest of all food production jobs. It is soda you know all about—can store and handle easily—can depend on for top and side dressing. How much will there be? That's hard to say, but last year Chile sent 1,000,000 tons to U. S. farmers and think what that would mean this year.

Properly applied, 1,000,000 tons of Chilean Nitrate would produce 250,000,000 bu. of oats or 100,000,000 bu. of wheat; 125,000,000 bu. of corn or 4,800,000 tons of forage crops; 6,000,000 tons of vegetables or 2,500,000 bales of cotton and 1,000,000 tons of cotton seed.

Natural Chilean Nitrate, always a big factor in food production, is absolutely vital this year—enough and in time for all essential needs.
