IF THROAT IS SORE

IF A COLD has given you a miserable sore throat, here's how to relieve the suffering.

DO THIS NOW—Melt a small lump of VapoRub on your tongue and feel the comforting medication slowly trickle down your throat—bathing the irritated membranes—bringing blessed relief where you want it, when you want it.

DO THIS TONIGHT—Rub throat, chest with VapoRub. Its long continued poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, eases coughing, invites restful sleep.

HONORABLE CAMERON MORRISON
Congressman, and Candidate In the Democratic Primary For United States Senator To THE VOTERS OF NORTH CAROLINA

THE candidacy of Honorable Cameron Morrison for the nomination for United States Senator in the Democratic Primary, May 23, 1944, affords the Democratic party of North Carolina an opportunity to nominate for that high office a statesman of the highest caliber, a man as never before we need such a man.

The people of North Carolina know Cameron Morrison. His life has been one of brilliant, devoted, unselfish service to the State and her people. He has filled the offices of State Senator, Governor, United States Senator and member of the lower house of Congress, and in each capacity has made a record of which North Carolina is justly proud.

Who can forget the progress made by North Carolina while he was Governor, 1921-1925? We remember how he inaugurated and carried forward during his administration a great program of progress and began an era of prosperity that continued during the great depression and on down to the present day. Space does not permit a recital of the many notable achievements of his administration. A few of them may be recalled. Under him the great State highway system was built, not by political henchmen or by those who worked for political gain, but by a commission selected by him from among the best and ablest business men that could be found in North Carolina, regardless of their political affiliation, who spent the millions appropriated for the purpose without extravagance or the misappropriation of a penny—a record probably without parallel in any state or country anywhere at any time.

His contributions to the State's educational system were notable. Greatly increased appropriations were made to the University, the Woman's College at Greensboro, State College at Raleigh, Teachers Training Schools at Greensboro, Fayetteville, Winston-Salem, and other State educational institutions. The whole school system, from the primary schools to the University, was standardized and systematized, and greatly improved in efficiency and effectiveness.

During his administration the creditable institutions were improved, enlarged and brought up to date, so as to more equitably meet the needs of the people of North Carolina.

In 1931 Mr. Morrison was appointed to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate caused by the death of Senator Overman. In that great legislative body his ability was soon recognized. He was assigned to some of its most important committees, among others, the Appropriations Committee and the Banking and Currency Committee, where he helped to shape some of the most beneficial legislation of the period, including the Home Loan Bank Bill, which brought about the Home Owners Loan Corporation, that saved so many homes of the people from foreclosure and loss, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, that saved thousands of businesses, large and small, from bankruptcy and destruction, and stabilized businesses throughout the country.

In 1942 the voters of the Tenth Congressional District of North Carolina elected Mr. Morrison a member of Congress. By virtue of his forceful personality and his known record as a statesman he immediately took rank as one of the dominant figures in that body. He was appointed to membership on the Naval Affairs Committee, where he has rendered signal service in matters relating to the prosecution of the war. However, his activities have not been limited to the work of that committee. He has taken part in the consideration of and debate upon all important matters that have been before Congress, and it is a well-known fact that he is heard on any measure he sees fit to discuss with a degree of attention rarely accorded a new member.

While he was Governor, Mr. Morrison's policies as between capital and labor were impartial. He was fair to both. The same is true of his record in the United States Senate and as a member of the lower house of Congress. Mr. Morrison is not only able; he is practical, forceful and effective.

All his life he has been a deep student especially of government, finances, business and agriculture, and his wide knowledge combined with practical experience, enables him to accomplish results. In Congress he has shown that he is able to debate forcefully and effectively—and from a practical standpoint—any important questions that come up. Having known hardships himself, he has always been interested in social welfare, and has sought to improve the conditions and protect the rights of those who labor; yet, realizing that our happiness and prosperity depend upon both labor and capital, he has never been unfair to either.

Mr. Morrison is a lawyer by profession, but since his retirement from the office of Governor in 1925 he has engaged in farming. He has developed in Mecklenburg County one of the finest farms in the country. He has employed graduates of State College to direct his operations along scientific lines. He has practiced soil conservation, rotation of crops and other approved methods. His farm animals are of purebred stock, and have been used to improve the breeds of animals in this and other states. He has set an example in modern farming that has been of untold benefit to the farmers of North Carolina.

Mr. Morrison's devotion to the Democratic party has been a passion, yet his partisanship has never led him to espouse a cause or promote a measure that he did not believe to be for the common good.

We are asking the voters of North Carolina to support Mr. Morrison for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, not only because he is a great Democrat, but because we believe his recognized qualifications and his ripe experience will assure his election and will give our State and the Nation a wise, true and faithful servant in the critical times that lie ahead.
