

The Flying Romas, shown here, are featured each night at the Firemen's Carnival now playing in Hertford. The final two days of the carnival are now in progress. The Romas will show for the last time Saturday.

With Perquimans Boys In Service

May 29, 1944.

Dear Editor:
I want to express my appreciation to my friends for sending me The Perquimans Weekly. I enjoy reading the home news very much. I am in the Hawaiian Islands, and I have run across a few boys from around Hertford, and when we get together we discuss the news. Well, I will be looking forward to getting The Perquimans Weekly every week. Thank you again.
Pfc. Wm. D. Landing, Jr.

To the Editor of The Perquimans Weekly and Friends:

I have been receiving your paper regularly for several months now. I certainly appreciate reading about the happenings back home. Anything that brings back memories of home is always welcome here, and you can't realize the pleasure I get from reading and thinking about all my old friends.

It is almost 18 months that I have been overseas, and have had a number of experiences and seen a lot of this side of the world.

I am in the artillery and think it is one of the best branches of the service.

The Division that I am in has made history for itself and is considered one of the best, if not the best jungle fighting outfit in the American Army. I was in the New Georgia campaign with them and learned a lot of good lessons that will be very valuable to me in any future campaign I may be in.

I have been subjected to air raids, strafing, dive bombing and seen almost all sorts of warfare. The things that interested me very much were our dive bombers working against the Japs and our ships shelling them from the sea.

I saw examples of how efficient our artillery was against them. Most of the enemy I saw were good ones.

The Japanese are a tough foe, but no matter how good they are, our boys can always go them one better.

One of the most pleasant of my experiences was a trip to New Zealand. The people there are undoubtedly the most hospitable in the world, and did everything to make our stay as pleasant as possible. I will always have a warm spot in my heart for these people. I am enclosing a picture of myself taken while there.

Some of these days I will be coming home again and will be able to tell about my experiences more fully. They are not outstanding or heroic. I am just a small cog in a large picture trying to do my part.

I wish to send my thanks and appreciation to the Hertford Banking Company for sending The Perquimans Weekly to me.

I will say so long for awhile. My best regards to all my friends and buddies no matter where they may be.

Sincerely,
Carlton E. Smith.

The Secret Weapon in Dan Mason's Attic

Dan Mason was always what we call a "string saver." When he unwraps a package he rolls up the string—folds the paper—and puts them both in his attic for safe-keeping.

"Never can tell when things'll come in handy," says Dan.

And you should see his attic! Stacks of paper, balls of string, empty bottles (Dan being a moderate man and sticking just to beer), old horseshoes—and goodness knows what-all.

We need to kid him a lot. But when comes the scrap drive, and Dan sets a record for the metal and the paper he contributes. And the glassmakers owe him a medal for the empty bottles he turns in.

From where I sit, Dan's one up on us all. What's more, he's got us doing it too—collecting scrap, returning empty bottles—not because somebody makes us do it, but because it's the Democratic way of working together to win the war.

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a drastic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste.

Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed by the country over. Look on Doan's Pills at all drug stores.
