

Methodist Pastor Reports Crusade Goes Over The Top

In speaking before the official board and Crusade committee, at a meeting following the mid-week service last Wednesday evening, the Rev. B. C. Reavis, pastor of the Hertford Methodist Church, expressed his sincere appreciation and delight for the response the congregation has shown to the challenge issued in the Crusade for Christ. "Beyond all question the Crusade for Christ, officially launched by the 1944 General Conference, is the boldest and most comprehensive program for world redemption and rehabilitation ever put upon the hearts of the people of our church. From all over our church at large there comes reports of how wonderfully the people are responding to the call to raise $25,000,000 for this great cause, but I have not heard of a more beautiful, heroic and Christian spirit being shown any where than here in our local church. Indeed, I am proud of the people that I serve for they are proving themselves to be worthy followers of Christ in this and in the other phases of our church program. "Our church was asked to raise as its minimum $2,500 and last Sunday morning was designated as the time when the offering should be placed on the church. At that time $2,303.75 in cash was placed on the altar and pledges that went well over the $2,500 were made. Since that time contributions ranging from $1 to $100 have continued to come in until now we are well "over the top" and other contributions are coming in. This is nothing short of wonderful, and especially as we remember that this is outside of our regular church budget, which is the largest ever in the history of our church," said Mr. Reavis.

Electric Coop

seeks a charter under which to operate and beginning the task of securing membership in the corporation.

The project will call for building of electric lines throughout the Albemarle for the purpose of serving electricity to rural customers who join the corporation. It was reported by Mr. Anderson funds for financing the corporation will be secured by a loan from the government for the construction of the lines and starting operations.

According to the plan, memberships are now being taken and all rural residents are invited to apply now for membership. The fee is five dollars. As soon as all memberships are obtained the engineers will complete a survey of the location of each member and draw plans for building the lines for service throughout the four counties.

The corporation will operate on a plan similar to any utility company, and a minimum charge of two dollars per month is expected to be charged for current. The corporation will maintain a crew of men for servicing all lines as well as an office force for keeping records.

Profits from the organization are expected to repay the original loan from the government, and according to Mr. Anderson the corporation will have 35 years in which to repay the loan, after which lower rates and increased service will be accorded the members.

Perquimans County residents desiring to make application for membership in the corporation or obtaining additional information are asked to call at the office of Mr. Anderson in the Agriculture Building in Hertford. A number of solicitors will later call on individuals seeking members, but the group is hopeful the work can be rushed and plans completed quickly by residents applying for membership at once, thus saving the canvassers time and trouble in making up membership lists.

The project is not expected to actually get under way until after the war, but the officers of the corporation plan to have everything in readiness to begin building lines as soon as the war ends.

Fire Destroys House At Winfall

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed one of Perquimans County's oldest farm houses at 10:45 Tuesday morning.

The house, owned by Alex Jordan, located near the Central Grammar School, burned to the ground before residents of the community, or the Hertford Fire Department which was called to the scene, could control the blaze. The fire had gained such headway by the time the fire department arrived at the scene, there was nothing the firemen could do in the way of extinguishing the flames.

Loss was estimated at several thousands of dollars, beside the building. The household furniture of three Negro families who made their home there was lost.

County Agent Advises On Hybrid Corn Seed

L. W. Anderson, county agent, this week advised Perquimans farmers to use care in selecting hybrid corn for planting in this county. He pointed out that the State has been divided into nine areas and types of seed best suited for each area have been suggested by State agricultural officials.

Perquimans is located in area eight and the following types of hybrid seed are suggested for best production: White, N. C. T20, N. C. 111, N. C. 114 and Tenn. 10. Yellow: N. C. T23, N. C. T 11, Funks, G714, G717 and G718, Woods S 210 and G135.

Local Health Nurse On Radio Program

Miss Audrey Umphlett, Health Nurse for Perquimans County, was one of four Public Health nurses taking part in the radio program last Friday honoring national Public Health Nurses Day. The program was arranged to give the public a better understanding of the duties and assistance rendered by public health nurses to the people of all communities.

Public Health Nursing was started in England in 1859 and gradually grew into the excellent service it is today. It began in this State in 1904, when the city of Wilmington had its first public health nurse.

Besides carrying out the rules of Health Departments, the Public Health Nurse renders valuable aid in giving her people advice and help in time of sickness, as well as medical hints throughout the year.

Lowland Areas Offer Dividend As Pasture

"Unproductive lowland areas can often be developed into excellent pastures if cleared of brush, fertilized, limed and then seeded to adapted pasture grasses and legumes," F. A. McGoogan, soil conservationist, stated today.

Since moisture is one of the principal limiting factors in the development of good permanent pastures in the south, lowland areas where moisture conditions are favorable generally provide the best location on the farm for pasture.

In many cases, because these areas have been found too wet for production of row crops, they have been allowed to grow up in willows, alders, and other worthless growth, while the use for which they are best adapted has been overlooked.

Work done in clearing and developing such areas for pasture during the winter months, when other farm work is not so pressing, will pay good dividends later in the production of more milk, meat and other livestock products which are vitally needed in the war program.

The seeding of permanent pastures is listed under the 1945 AAA program as an unlimited practice. Farmers can earn up to $6.00 per acre for seeding permanent pasture provided they obtain prior approval of the County AAA Committee as to the kind and amount of seed, amount of fertilizer and amount of lime to be used.

Mr. McGoogan announced his office will gladly assist farmers in developing a permanent pasture or any other conservation practice.
