

TOWN and FARM in WARTIME

Prepared by OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

Civilians At War

The Government needs and asks its citizens in the 180th week of the war against Japan to:

1—Buy your overseas service man a bond during the Seventh War Loan drive, and tell him you have done so on a V-Mail gift certificate, obtainable wherever war bonds are sold.

2—Stay on your war job until victory over Japan. If manpower needs in your industry are changing, your U. S. Employment Service Office can tell you the nearest job where you are needed.

3—Continue to buy only what you need. Reconversion has started, but America's factories cannot produce sufficient civilian goods to end the threat of inflation while Pacific war needs continue.

V-E Day Statement By Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture

The farm people of America join with the rest of this nation, the liberated people of Europe and freedom-loving people everywhere, in welcoming the coming of V-E Day. Though our hearts are made happier by this good news, we all realize that this is not an occasion for all-out rejoicing. The European war has been won only at a very heavy cost. The lives and health of many of our young men have been sacrificed in this struggle. Also there is still a full-scale war to finish and we farmers know that means a continuing heavy demand for food for our fighting forces, for the home front, and for our allies. And being a humanitarian nation we'll want to do our share in helping to feed the starving and suffering people of the liberated areas. So the fighting on the farm front is not over, just as the fighting on the Jap front isn't over. I am sure that the farm people of this nation—the people whose production record is one of the great achievements of this war—will pay tribute to V-E Day by continuing all-out production until final and complete victory is won.

V-E Day Statement By Judge Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator

American farmers will not stop work to celebrate our victory in Europe. They are devoutly thankful that one phase of the war is over, but they know that the needs for food are as great as they ever were. They also know that their war job must go on day and night until total victory is won. All of us would do well to follow their example.

Surplus Property, When Available, Assured To Farmers

Farmers and rural areas generally are assured equal opportunity to supply their needs out of surplus property as it becomes available, the Surplus Property Board said. The Board's Regulation No. 3, effective June 1, 1945, sets up procedures for channeling critically needed trucks, machinery and equipment into giveaway prices, the Board warned. First and second purchase priorities given by the Surplus Property Act of 1944 to federal agencies and state and local governments will absorb many surplus items, but trucks, machinery and equipment in critical short supply will be distributed on the basis of greatest need. Disposal agencies designated by the Board are directed to cause appropriate quantities of surplus property to be sold or channeled into rural areas so that farmers and farmers' cooperative associations will be given opportunity to buy. Sales will be made to distributors, dealers, wholesalers, farmers' cooperative associations or retailers who customarily distribute in rural areas, and who certify that the surpluses being purchased will be so distributed. The Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion has announced that surpluses will be sold mainly through dealers and distributors, not to individual consumers.

FROM HERE ROLLS A RIVER OF RUBBER

These odd-shaped storage tanks are part of the new plant operated by Sinclair Rubber Inc. for the Government.

In addition to Sinclair's wartime job of making components for synthetic rubber, modern Sinclair refineries turn out the explosive Toluene, 100-octane gasoline, and a long list of fuels and specialized lubricants vitally needed for war-front and home-front use. All told, 10 great Sinclair refineries are now geared for war.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

This Man Bain and His Six Years Work

"I see by the paper that North Carolina's beer industry is observing the sixth anniversary of its Self-Regulation program," Bill Webster remarked the other day. "The way those fellows have kept their business on a high plane is sensible and something to be proud of."

"True words, Bill," chimed in Officer Stebbins. "Colonel Bain, their state director, has certainly shown the beer dealers how to cooperate for their own good as well as the public's. And believe me, they are right with him. I know. The public's with him, too."

That's just what lots of folks are saying. North Carolinians realize that the $3,000,000 of revenue the beer industry pays to the state every year is a big help. We also appreciate the way the beer industry does business. The beer industry is a good citizen.
