Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange. The other organizations favored an interim commission, without authority to advise the United Nations farm group or similar bodies.

We are not familiar with the facts involved in the deliberations of the conference or of the arguments advanced in the discussions, but the need for something definite to assist agriculture, the world over, appears to be beyond any argument. Certainly, if the farmers of the world are to have favorable markets and the people of the world are to have improved diets, there must be some way to coordinate the production of food and its distribution throughout the world.

Mildew Threatens Melon, Cuke Crops

Discovery of downy mildew, destructive melon and cucumber disease, in Scotland County has been disclosed by Dr. D. E. Ellis, Experiment Station pathologist at State College, who declared that the disease, appearing 11 days earlier than last year, constitutes a serious threat to crops in the commercial cucumber-cantaloupe areas.

"If damp weather conditions continue to favor the development of downy mildew during the next 30 days," Dr. Ellis said, "severe losses throughout the commercial growing areas will occur. Test work conducted by the college Experiment Station indicates that the disease can be effectively controlled by the frequent applications of copper dusts.

"First applications of dust should be made when vines are about 10 inches long, or earlier if the disease is already present in the vicinity, and repeated at 10-day intervals throughout the growing season. If rain occurs during the 10-day waiting period between applications, dusting should be repeated immediately."

The pathologist said that the destructive mildew, which creates yellow spots on plant leaves and frequently strips vines of foliage, also attacks other cucurbits such as squash, pumpkin and watermelons.

The fungus does not overwinter in North Carolina but does survive in Florida. It moves up the east coast during wet springs by means of windborne spores. Its progress northward from the Gulf coast to New England has been followed by crop observers for the past several years. Mid-May reports from South Carolina had indicated that the disease was due for an early appearance in this state.

While in some years the mildew is not sufficiently serious to warrant the expense of dusting with copper fungicides, its early appearance this year makes counter measures imperative, Dr. Ellis said.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbances.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

DOAN'S PILLS

A WISE EVALUATION: What things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea, doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ—Phil. 3:7-8.

Patience Until The Harvest

"No bread" signs are now being added at times to the collection of woes which have been greeting the public eye from food counters in the United States. Viewed in the true American spirit, they give cause not for grumbling but for gratitude—gratitude because the shortage means that the Country is making a more intensive effort to fulfill its obligations to a starving world. Gratitude too, for the multitude of other counters filled with fresh fruits and vegetables and hearty edibles to which the housewife can turn.

Any tendency to complaints should be stilled by contrasts. For the bread that might have furnished a minor part of a meal on the abundant side of the water may be supplying a whole day's food for a little family abroad. It is far better that there should be some temporarily empty bread shelves in the United States than needless empty stomachs in Europe.

In July, when distribution of the current American wheat crop has begun, the situation will ease so that there should be sufficient bread to go around for domestic consumption, although the need for conservation will continue for many months. But the June lap in the race with famine must be run with patience and self-denial. Every man, woman and child can make it a month of mercy by cheerfully observing wheatless days at home and cutting down restaurant waste by ordering unnecessary bread and rolls to be withheld.

Honor American Dead

The largest American military cemetery in Europe is at Margraten, in The Netherlands, where 18,774 graves of 17,742 Americans who made the supreme sacrifice in the closing months of the war.

On Memorial Day, an estimated 40,000 persons, mostly residents of the area, swarmed to the cemetery, where flowers were placed on every grave. Special services were held.

The dispatch tells us that each of the graves has been adopted by a citizen of The Netherlands and the sponsor of the plan reports receiving three thousand more requests than there were graves.

The newspaper writer says that the demonstration was believed to be without parallel in a foreign country and was accepted generally by the Dutch as proof of their devotion to the men who lost their lives in liberating their country.

Much the same type of ceremony was held at various American military cemeteries in England and in France, where Americans who lost their lives in World War I and World War II were paid the homage that our war veterans receive in this country.

World Farm Program

Representatives of thirty-one nations have agreed upon a constitution for the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, although it should be noted that three of the four United States farm organizations represented at the conference opposed immediate organization.

The purpose of the organization is to create world pressure to gain for farmers assured prices and markets and for all people an improved nutritional diet. Eventually, they hope to have national surpluses treated as world assets, saying that the alternatives are high-price dumping on the world, with price warfare, or a return to pre-war commodity agreements that were international restrictive cartels.

We note that the National Farmers Union of America was the only U. S. farm group to support immediate organization, which was opposed by the National Council of

Bowel Cleaning Power Of Inner-Aid Medicine

One man recently took INNER-AID three days and said afterward that he never would have believed his body contained so much filthy substance. He says his stomach, intestines, bowels and whole system were so thoroughly cleansed that his constant headaches came to an end, several pimply skin eruptions on his face dried up overnight, and even the rheumatic pains in his knee disappeared. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all Drug Stores here in Perquimans County. adv.
