

Medical Bill Rises As Doctor Travels

The doctor's bill of the average rural family increases 66 cents for every mile the doctor travels, a survey of 500 rural families in Eastern Carolina shows.

The survey was conducted under the supervision of C. H. Hamilton, head of the Department of Rural Sociology at N. C. State College.

Hamilton and his staff found that 27 per cent of the families lived 10 miles or more from a doctor and 20 miles or more from a hospital. Families living at these distances had about the same amount of illness as other families. The survey also showed that they used hospitals and doctors to about the same extent.

However, there were two important differences: the isolated families did not and frequently could not get medical service in their homes; and if they did get a doctor to make the trip, the expense was greater.

The cost of getting a doctor in the country varied with the distance the patient lived from town. The average fee for one call at the doctor's office was $2.80. The average fee for a home call in the day was $7.12, and for a home call at night $9.35.

Hamilton's survey also showed that the average cost of a home call started at $2.55 for no distance and increased at the rate of 66 cents for each mile the rural family lived from the doctor. At five miles the cost was $5.85; 10 miles, $9.25; 15 miles, $12.45, and 20 miles, $15.75.

As a result of high cost of home calls, especially at night, there were very few such calls, according to Hamilton. Also, says Hamilton, there is an increasing tendency for doctors to ask patients to come to their office or the hospital.

W. M. S. MEETING

The fall zone meeting of Chowan-Perquimans Woman's Missionary Societies, convened in Woodland Church Wednesday, September 20, with Mrs. C. T. Skinner presiding.

The service was opened by singing hymn, "Where Cross The Crowded Ways of Life" and prayer by Mrs. Ben Merritt of Hertford. The minutes were read and the roll called and reports of the auxiliaries were made. Visitors were recognized and greetings were extended by Mrs. Eddie Harrell and the response by Mrs. C. T. Skinner.

The introduction statement of the day was presented by Mrs. E. R. Meekins, district president.

Talks were made by Mrs. George Jackson and Mrs. E. R. Meekins. The audience was tense in its attention as Mrs. George Jackson led a very inspiring Benediction, accompanied by Miss Kate Blanchard at the piano. The invitation to lunch was given by Mrs. Eddie Harrell.

The afternoon session was opened by singing "The Voice of God Is Calling." The courtesy committee expressed appreciation for the delicious lunch and for everything that contributed to a delightful day together.

Mrs. D. L. Fouts of Plymouth, Mrs. J. H. Brown of Hobbsville, Mrs. E. R. Meekins of Tyner, Mrs. Almond of Ahsokie, and Mrs. George Jackson of near Hertford, gave interesting talks and took part in a beautiful dedication service.

HONORED AT PARTY

Mrs. William Winslow was a delightful hostess at a party Thursday night at her home in honor of Miss Lois Faye Benton, bride-elect. Upon arrival, Miss Benton was presented a gardenia corsage by the hostess.

Several contests were enjoyed by everyone with Miss Lena Winslow, Mrs. Elmer Lassiter, and Miss Marilyn Baker winning prizes.

Everyone was then given a gift to try to guess what it was and with a verse telling the bride-elect what they thought it was. The gifts were then presented to Miss Benton. She then opened the gifts and read the verses. A sweet course was served to the following:

Miss Benton, hostess, Mesdames Chairman White, Milton White, Elizabeth Baker, Elmer Lassiter, Lillian White, Clyde Lane, Archie Riddick, Miss Stallings, Alisha Winslow, J. H. Stallings, Lafton Stallings, Sanford Stallings, Willard Baker, Merrill Winslow, Tom Riddick, Nelson Lane, Eddie Harrell, E. R. White, Wallace Baker, T. C. Perry, Arba Winslow, Jack Benton, Misses Marilyn Baker, Lena Winslow, Laelle Lane, Janie Winslow, Della Winslow, Johnnie White, Dorothy Jean Winslow and Ruby Lane.

NOTES ON SOIL CONSERVATION

Claude Rountree in the Nicanor community has a good stand of Sericea and Bicolor Lespedeza. The Lespedeza was planted along the edge of a field next to woodland where Mr. Rountree was having trouble with his field washing away. Bicolor is a shrub that grows 5 to 10 feet high. It is a perennial plant which leafs out each spring and, like other Lespedeza, it is a legume. The seeds of Bicolor are a preferred food of quail and other birds, and the flowers are attractive to honey bees. You will like its attractive appearance, especially at this season of the year when it is in bloom.

A strip of Sericea Lespedeza is usually planted between the Bicolor and Cropland as the Sericea does not grow as tall as the Bicolor. Sericea is a good erosion control plant. It provides a suitable turnrow on cropland edges. Sericea makes excellent escape cover for quail and it can be mowed for hay.

Conservation farm plans were prepared during August for Nathan Hurdle, S. P. Jessup, W. W. Lewis, J. W. Ward, A. T. Lane, and S. J. Mansfield. This makes a total of 391 Conservation farm plans in Perquimans County.

Winter cover crops will produce green fields this winter. "The South will come into its own when the fields grow green in the winter." This is a saying that is often repeated in farm magazines and other publications.

Careful Marketing Of Cotton Is Urged

Every cotton grower should fine out the grade, staple, and exact value of bale before selling, says D. H. Stancil, cotton marketing specialist for the State College Extension Service.

Stancil points out that current cotton prices are higher than what farmers can remember, and growers in some sections have been so pleased to hear of "60 cent cotton" that they have eagerly accepted this amount as soon as it was offered.

In some cases, the specialist says, this may be a mistake. For example, during recent weeks cotton which was bringing 40 cents a pound in one area of the state was bringing 41% to 42 cents in other areas. Prices of middling and strict middling cotton have varied this month from 40% to more than 43% cents a pound.

"Forty cents a pound may seem to be a good price for cotton," says Stancil, "but many farmers should think what grade and staple they have and what it is worth before selling."

Stancil adds that although a definite cotton market has not been established in most areas, indications are that prices (grading 100) will bring more than 41% a bushel.
