Rules On Pensions For Children Of Veterans Released

Minor children of a deceased World War I veteran may be entitled to a government pension even though a surviving parent is ineligible because of income restrictions or remarriage, Stephen H. Alford of the North Carolina Veterans Commission said today.
Payments under the pension law allow $21.60 a month for one child; $32.40 for two children; and $43.29 for three children (equally divided).
Requirements of the federal government are that a veteran must have served in World War I before November 12, 1918, and must have served 90 days or more and discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.
A widow of a veteran, upon remarriage, need not file a new claim for her minor children but she must submit a certified copy of her marriage before the pension can be changed in favor of her children. Acceptance of a government check after marriage constitutes a fraud and is punishable by law.
Under certain conditions minor children of World War II veterans can also qualify for this benefit.
Proper forms and assistance in completing applications may be secured from C. C. Banks, Perquimans County Veterans Service Officer, Hertford, N. C., and the District Office of the North Carolina Veterans Commission, 206 Kramer Building, Elizabeth City, North Carolina.

Ready For Business
Attracted by a bright youngster, a dear old lady said to him: "I'd give a thousand pounds to have a little boy like you for my own."
"That's a lot of money, isn't it?" said the lad.
"Yes, but I have lots of money and no little boy."
"Mother wouldn't let you have me for good," said the boy. Then he thought for a minute and added brightly, "But you can hold my hand for sixpence."
