Perquimans County, which has long been recognized as a producer of large quantities of hogs, but has never been considered as a producer of quality hogs, gave the leading Duroc purebred breeders of the state a race for top honors at the Rocky Mount Duroc Show and Sale on February 1. The three leading Duroc breeders in the county proved at this show and sale that Perquimans County has some of the highest quality hogs in the state. W. S. Benton of Belvidere, Clarence Chappell, Jr., State 4-H Meat Animal winner of Belvidere, and Preston Nixon of Hertford who sponsors the 4-H purebred pig program of Perquimans County, all had entries at Rocky Mount. W. S. Benton showed and sold the third place gilt in the blue ribbon group. He bought the second placed gilt and the litter mate to the first placed gilt in the show to add to his breeding stock. Clarence Chappell, Jr., placed two high quality gilts in the red ribbon group. All hogs were placed in Blue, Red or White groups. Blue being high and white being low. None of the Perquimans County produced hogs were placed in the white group.

NOTES ON SOIL CONSERVATION

Elmer Lassiter is doing some drainage work on a farm that he leased. This farm had not been in cultivation for a number of years. Mr. Lassiter had a ditch cut on three sides of the farm with a dragline. This ditch will serve both to take water from cultivated land and to intercept any woods water that might flow toward fields. He is having the tap ditches cleaned out by hand labor.

W. Ray White is having the lower end of his lead ditch cleaned out with a dragline.

C. E. Matthews is having a lead ditch cleaned out by hand. The water bogged up in the upper end of this ditch. These ditches were surveyed

CIRCLE MEETS

The Rosa Powell Circle met Tuesday night, February 6, at the home of Mrs. Joe Nowell, Jr.

The meeting opened with the singing of "Bringing In the Sheaves." Mrs. John Ward gave the devotional followed by prayer. The following gave interesting readings: Dorothy Maynard, "Building In the West"; Mary Frances Dall, "Building On the French Field"; Mrs. Charles White, Jr., "Building In Alaska"; Inez Hampton, "Good Will Center Work." The hymn "Help Somebody Today," was then sung followed by readings by Mrs. Hinton Rountree, "Special Groups are Hearing the Gospel" and Mrs. L. H. Dawson, "She Hath Done What She Could."

The roll was called with 9 members present. Reports of the officers were given followed by the benediction. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Memorial Fund Will Replace Funeral Flowers

Believing that funeral flowers are too short-lived to be a fitting memorial for departed friends, Bishop James P. DeWolfe, head of the Episcopal Diocese of Long Island, has inaugurated a plan whereby money ordinarily spent for funeral flowers is given to the Diocese. A card telling of the gift and a personal letter from the Bishop are sent to the family of the deceased, and the money is used for the missionary work of the Church. The name of the deceased is inscribed in the Bishop's Memorial Book, and prayers will be offered year after year during the Octave of All Saints, the previous meeting, and a motion was made and seconded, and same were approved as read.

The report of the County Treasurer for the month of January was read, and upon motion made and seconded, same was approved as read. The report of the Local School Fund
