

Belvidere Youth Qualifies For Top Duroc Prize Money

Clarence Chappell, Jr., of Belvidere has climbed toward new fame in the purebred Duroc world when 12 of his litters qualified in the national Duroc Ton Litter contest. One litter was 1st heaviest in the contest, weighing 3,715 pounds. His 12 litters averaged 2,448 pounds.

The 3,715-pound litter was sired by Wavermaster's Pride. This boar ranked 6th as a ton litter sire, having 4 litters that averaged 2,397 pounds at 180 days of age, while Model Blend, Chappell's 7th place ton litter sire had 4 litters which averaged 2,190 pounds at 180 days of age.

Farmers sell hogs by the pound so purebred Duroc breeder Chappell is breeding hogs that produce pounds fast and efficiently. That's why he entered the national contest with his spring litters.

The United Duroc Record Association at Peoria, Ill., is offering $3,000 in prize money this year for winners in the contest. Anyone raising purebred Durocs was eligible to enter the contest last spring. Chappell's litters that qualified are now eligible for some of this prize money.

The contest is sponsored each year by the United Duroc Record Association to promote the kind of hog that makes the breed famous, the hog that gains faster on less feed. Several hundred official ton litters qualify in the breed each year. Last year a litter in Kansas weighed more than 2 tons at 180 days of age. Petrcek and Kraft of Jennings, Kan., raised that litter. More important than a high weight though, Secretary B. E. Evans said, is a large number of litters that beat the ton mark at 180 days.
