

School Children On Vacation Reason For Added Road Hazards

"Vacationing school children are an added road hazard in the spring and summer and motor vehicle operators should be watchful for them," M. Webster Henry, president of the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association, has announced.

"As a reminder to truck drivers," the industry official said, "the NCMCA is sending its June courtesy and safety campaign poster to member truck companies throughout the State. The poster legend is 'School's Out—Be Careful When (Children) Are Careless.'"

"It's true that parents must show their children how to play safely off the street and caution them not to play or act foolishly on the street. But you and I know that when the bridle of school supervision is thrown off, youngsters will often toss caution to the winds. Whatever the reasons are," he continued, "it's up to us drivers to defend ourselves and the children from such carelessness."

"Besides general watchfulness," Mr. Henry concluded, "there are some specific, easily done things we must do to protect our 'wild life'—we must rigidly keep within the posted speed limits in neighborhoods, playgrounds and parks. We must give a wide berth to bicyclists and people walking on the open highway. And remember the technique of the professional driver: if a ball, hoop, tire, etc., comes into view in the street ahead, hit the brakes. Some person, possibly a child, is likely to chase such an object into the path of your vehicle."

Sleep Needs Take Pile Cotton For Americans

It takes a pile of cotton to bed America down for an evening's sleep. The National Cotton Council reports that more than 1.2 million bales of cotton and more than a half million bales of cotton linters are required annually for slumber needs.

Sheets take 523,000 bales of cotton annually. Another 170,000 bales are used in bedspreads; 130,000 bales in blankets; more than 90,000 bales in pillowcases; and almost 6,000 bales in comforters and quilts.

Nightwear for men, women, and children consumes more than 200,000 bales annually.

Camera Conscious

Colonel—So you lost half your forces by a trick of the enemy?

Captain—Yes. They rigged up a machine gun to look like a movie camera, and the boys just fought for a chance to get in front of it.
