Do You Remember
BY J. P. PERRY

"Just rambling around" this week... these nice warm days, reminds us of the approach of spring, but someone once said, "it takes more than a bluebird and a warm day to make Spring!" Just the same, feels mighty good, and we want to get out and dig in the dirt, begin to plan and arrange for flowers—I can hardly wait for the jonquils... they are "peeping out" and pretty soon the hyacinths and tulips will be smiling at you and you at them. This reminds me... what has become of the "Garden Club." This is one more organization I'd like to know of in Hertford. Not only know of it, but see the results of such a club. There are many spots that could be beautiful and made attractive, that are now neglected and repulsive-looking. How about it ladies? Begin with the Court House lawn and branch out. There are quite a number of ladies who are interested and you'd be doing something that would pay big dividends. I believe you'd be surprised at the fine spirit of cooperation you'd discover. Give the ladies a trial first—but don't wait... March is just around the corner... Talk it up—get going... try it out some morning at the corner drug store! I'll be listening!

MUSIC CLUB MEETS

Misses Linda and Rachel Bass were charming hosts Friday evening at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bass, entertaining the Hertford Junior Music Club when they joined the Parade of American Music with a program presenting the music of Washington's day, using material sent out by the government for the nation-wide celebration of Washington's Bi-Centennial in 1932.

A feature of the Devotional was the singing of the 23rd Psalm as found in a Bible printed in 1713, to the tune of Dundee (Windsor) and the Hymn-of-the Month sung by Mrs. Bass and her daughter, Linda.

Marches and songs of the period followed, with Mrs. Riddick acting as counselor. At the close of the program, a delicious ice course was served by the hostesses.

Those present were: Ann Lane, Jimmy Rogerson, Margaret Williams, Diane Hollowell, Franklin McGoogan, Gail Johnson, Linda Bass, Mary Frances Baker, Julie Ann Lane, Sandra Keel, Glenda

Lawrence, Mary Lou Jordan, Edward Matthews, Sondra Thatch, Jerry Sullivan, Billy Williams, Faye Long, Rachel Bass, Susan Nixon, Barbara Hardison, Harriett Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bass, Mrs. R. M. Riddick, Counselor, Letitia McGoogan, Assistant Counselor.

CLASS MEETS

The Friends Junior Fellowship met Sunday evening with Mary Frances White as leader. After a short song service the following program was given:

Subject—Honoring Our Parents. The leader gave a short talk, stating that a child should honor his parents and obey them not from fear, but because of love for them. The following members took part in giving the lesson, in addition to the leader: Waldo Winslow, Janie Stallings, Susan Riddick and Rachel Winslow. Sentence prayer followed. At the roll call, members answered to their names with Scripture texts.

The meeting was turned over to Mary Winslow who made the following remarks:

"God has promised to bless those who honor their parents." George Washington is a good example for all of us. Find out what the wishes of your parents are and obey them.

WMU MEETING
