Colonial Features Sale On National Brands

A banner week is in store for Colonial customers who want to stock their pantries with a host of famous, national-brand canned goods, mixes and other grocery items at reduced prices.

The reason? Colonial Stores' all-star parade of value on famous brand items, offered at prices made to suit the family budget.

Featured in this great money-saving sale are such well-known brands as Del Monte, Stokely, Libby, Pillsbury and many others.

"It's really an opportunity for the homemaker to stock up on quality foods at real savings," one Colonial store manager recommended. "And the items selected for this sale are those that fit right in with busy summer meals."

In addition to outstanding bargains on famous-brand grocery items, Colonial will offer unusually good values on steamed picnics, Virginia grown ducklings and beef liver. The steamed picnic ham is in the popular 5 to 12 pound size.

But that's not all. Best buys in produce will be tomatoes, crisp California lettuce and tender, Golden Bantam Corn on the cob, rounding out a value-packed array of fine food shopping at Colonial.

Citing the reasons for the unusually low prices at Colonial, officials explained that the chain's buying policy, plus efficient methods of operation result in substantial savings in operating costs. These savings are passed along to the customer in the form of lower prices, they said.
