

Improved Farm Loan Service Is Announced Goal Of FHA

Better than ever service to all farm families who turn to Farmers Home Administration for credit needs or who are already using the credit and services offered is the goal of the Farmers Home Administration during 1956, E. F. Morgan, County Supervisor says.

"It is our aim to help a farmer, right at the start," says Mr. Morgan. "Figure out exactly what it takes to make a successful family-type farm in his community—what land, equipment, labor, livestock and other resources, including credit—and to help him figure what combination of enterprises are most likely to contribute to successful farming in his particular case."

Mr. Morgan further stated that Farmers Home Administration is placing a good deal of emphasis on making sure that the families who farm with Farmers Home Administration credit take advantage of farm management practices that will give them the highest possible production per animal and the highest possible yield per acre. All loans will be based on the fact that the Farmers Home Administration desires in necessary, realistic, non-competitive credit. No loan will be made unless it is clear that it will help the borrower advance as quickly as possible to private credit.

The main purpose of an operating loan is to help the farmer make well planned adjustments and improvements in his farming business, and increase his income. Loans may include funds to purchase livestock, farm and home equipment, feed, seed, lime and fertilizer, and when necessary could include funds to pay other farm operating and family living expenses including medical care. Under certain conditions, funds may be included to refinance debts secured by liens on livestock and farm equipment when this is not the primary purpose of the loan. Funds may also be included so the farmer can join with one or more other farmers to buy or use such items as heavy equipment which he could not afford to own for his individual use.

During the past year more funds have been made available for the making of farm ownership and soil and water conservation loans. These funds are advanced by private lenders with repayment fully guaranteed by the Farmers Home Administration. Also funds directly appropriated each year by Congress is available.

Farm ownership loans are the loans made by Farmers Home Administration to enable farmers to buy, or improve family-type farms and farm buildings, and the soil and water conservation loans are used to finance irrigation systems, farmstead water supplies, and a wide variety of soil conservation measures.

Mr. Morgan pointed out that farmers are fairly well aware that they can obtain irrigation and farmstead water supply loans through the Farmers Home Administration but there is some question as to whether or not they also realize they can borrow to finance soil conservation measures.

Loans can be made for almost every type soil conservation measure recommended by the Soil Conservation Service and Extension Service, Mr. Morgan said. This includes establishing, reseeded, and improving permanent pastures, ditching, draining, erosion control systems, basic soil improvement brush removal, terracing, contour farming, and several other modern practices.

Anyone desiring more detailed information on the services offered by the Farmers Home Administration including Production and Subsistence Loans (operating loans); Farm Ownership Loans; Building Improvement Loans; Soil and Water Conservation Loans and Emergency Loans should contact the local county Farmers Home Administration office located over the bus station in Hertford, office hours Monday through Friday 8:00 A. M., until 5:00 P. M., or contact E. F. Morgan at ASC Office in Edenton on Wednesday, 9:00 A. M., until 12:00 noon.
