LIBRARY NEWS
 The Perquimans County Library this week has a wide selection of new books. Three very beautiful and appropriate memorial books have recently been given to the library. They are "A Treasury of Hymns," given in memory of Miss Matilda Newbold; "The Living Past of America," in memory of Mrs. John Newbold, and "An American Year" in memory of Lawrence Towe.

Another gift to the library is a copy of "Some Pioneer Women Teachers of North Carolina," compiled by the Delta Kappa Gamma Society and presented to the library by three members of Pi Chapter Gamma, Misses Thelma Elliott and Kate Blanchard and Mrs. Etta Walters.

Other new books are "Inside Africa," the latest of the series by Gunther; "The Open Heart," autobiographical essays by Weeks of the Atlantic Monthly; "The First Five Million Miles," the story of commercial aviation; "The Angler's Almanac," a book for everyone interested in fishing; three very practical books, "The Practical Nurse and Her Patients," "Personal Power Through Creative Selling" and "Handbook of Indoor Stunts and Games." Others are "Decisive Battles of the Civil War" and "New Yorker Album-Cartoons." A new mystery novel, "The Mystery of the Blue Room," by Lawrence Sanders, completes the list of new books for adults.

For young people, also, non-fiction predominates. Four new biographies are "Ernie Pyle," "Father Marquette," "Samuel Morse" and "Rachel Jackson." Other titles are "Boys Book of the Sea," "All About Our Changing Rocks," "All About Rockets and Jets" and "Fish and Wildlife."

Early Press Day
 Due to observance of Thanksgiving Thursday of next week, The Weekly will be printed 2 days earlier than usual in order to provide a holiday for the printers. Any advertising and news matter should therefore be in the office of the printer not later than 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, November 21. Correspondents are requested to mail in their weekly newsletters on next Monday.

A propensity to hope and joy is real riches; one to fear and sorrow is real poverty. —David Hanna.
