There are vital public issues to be settled in the weeks ahead. It will be my purpose to remain at my post in Washington to face the re-sponsibilities that fall upon a Seh-That will make it mandatory uit I keep my engagements in orth Carolina to a minimum as I am confident that the people expect their representatives to attend to their business of legislation first. Such important matters as a workable farm program, fiscal policy, highway construction, national defense, public education, peace and many other urgent questions will face this session. From time to time; as the public business will permit, I will return to the State to attempt to keep in touch with the wishes and opinions of the people on these and other matters.

Weekly Report

I shall continue to report each week in this newspaper on the issues that are before the Congress. I shall tell you frankly and promptly what my position is on the ises after giving them careful consideration. The people's right to know how their elected representatives feel about important legislation is a sacred responsibility in my judgment, and I shall attempt to advise you in this spirit at all times.

The Coonskin Candidate-Estes On Education-His Civil Rights Views-Farm, Labor, Security-

Washington - Now that Tennes see's latter-day Davy Crockett, Estes Kefauver, has tossed his coonskin cap into the political ring beside Adlai Stevenson's Stetson, it night be well to reflect on the rangy Senator's expressed views of important subjects.

How, for instance, does he stand n Federal Aid to Education, a subject which will probably set Conress on its legislative ear during its next session?

Kefauver says he's for it, and plenty of it.

On November 18, 1955, he com ended, "The Eisenhower Administration must revise its totally inadequate concept of federal aid to education . . . The States cannot go it alone. They must have swift "America's trade unions are on ed and the underprivilegel everywhere;" he said on December 3. "I think that's a good side to be on. It's my side."

Kefauver's past utterances show that he is opposed to McCarthyism and has little respect for the House Committee on UnAmerican Activities.

nerous federal assistance." ederal aid to education as was evidenced at the recent White House Conference on Education, is an extremely controversial matter. Kefauver's position on the subject will help him in some states, and hurt him badly in others. Most of the Southern states, for example, and some scattered states in the west, fear federal aid because they elieve it might entail a degree of federal control of their schools.

Tennessee being a semi-southern tate, Kefauver's ideas on segregation will come in for close scru-
