LIBRARY NEWS
New books in the Perquimans County Library this week are, with a few exceptions, children's books. The library is replacing as nearly as possible the 75 or more books that were burned in the school fire. This week's additions are nearly all non-fiction, and include books on many subjects of interest to all boys and girls. Some of these are true books on pirates, Indians, animals, trees, sea shells, tropical fish, army weapons, and biographies of interesting people. Several books for younger children are picture books by Walt Disney.

For older people, an interesting book on the work of the Polio Foundation has been given to the library; a book on "How to Make Money for Your Church, Societies, and Other Organizations" is filled with practical ideas; and one new mystery completes this week's list.

MUSIC CLUB MEETS
Misses Sondra Thatch, Faye Long and Mary Lou Jordan were delightful hosts to the Hertford Junior Music Club on Friday evening at the Bethel Community House.

Franklin McGoogan presided over the business session, during which it was decided to have the annual Hymn Program in March at the Assembly of God Church.

Julie Lane, chaplain, presided over the devotional, after which she and Linda Bass told the story of the life of Mozart. Mary Lou Jordan, program chairman, then introduced Mary Frances Baker as narrator for a program based on the life and songs of Stephen Collins Foster, which was chosen as the club's part in the National Parade of American Music. One of the highlights of the program was the singing of Old Black Joe by the mothers present. Other numbers presented were O Susanna, My Old Kentucky Home, Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming, Swanee River, Beautiful Dreamer, Hard Times Come Again No More, Old Dog Tray, Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair and Old Black Joe.

At the close of the program a most delicious and beautiful three-tiered cake with candles was brought in, honoring the 12th birthday of Mary Lou Jordan. Punch and other refreshments were served. Those present were: Franklin McGoogan, Mary Lou Jordan, Linda Bass, Mary Frances Baker, Sandra Keel, Julie Lane, Glenda Lawrence, Sondra Thatch, Billy Williams, Jerry Sullivan, Rachel Bass, Faye Long, Harriet Williams, Gail Johnson, Betty Joe Webb, Joyce Ann Proctor, Claude Long, Jr., Irvin Long, Jr., Mrs. J.
