

Over $105,000,000 Is Loaned By Private Lenders For Homes

More than 12,500 home mortgage loan commitments totaling over $105,000,000 have been made by private lenders through the Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program during the first year of the program's lending operations. Loans are now being made under the program at an annual rate of about $200,000,000.

The VHMCP was created under the Housing Act 1954 as a voluntary clearing house for referral to life insurance companies, banks, savings and loan associations and mortgage bankers of FHA and VA home loan applications from small towns and remote areas, and requests for aid in financing minority housing in any area where satisfactory local financing is not available.

The program was established to bring into contact with each other home mortgage borrowers who are unable to obtain FHA and VA home loans through local sources, and private lending institutions. Under the program applications for FHA and VA loans are being submitted to the 16 regional committee offices of VHMCP by home-buying borrowers who have been unable to obtain loans from at least two local sources. The regional committees then locate lenders who are willing to consider the loans. More than half of all loan applications are currently resulting in loans being granted.

PASS THE HAT

The Matador is responsible for the phrase "Pass the Hat." If he kills the bull neatly and well, his hat is passed around the audience and is filled with money. If he makes a poor showing, however, he is rewarded with hisses; boards or chairs may be thrown at him, along with his hat.

great occasion to be commemorated is important. The transformation of his disciples from discouraged, disappointed men to fearless, eloquent evangelists testifies to their faith and confidence. Peter, who had denied Jesus three times in terror, faced the opposition of the Scribes and Pharisees bravely, preached the Pentecostal Sermon, winning thousands of believers. Paul, also, after his vision of the resurrected Christ, changed from a persecutor to an expounder of the faith.

is the strongest possible incentive for living properly here and now. "The business of loving or hating, of being pure or impure, of spreading peace or weaving bitterness into the fabric of life," says Rufus M. Jones, "is eternal business, for all the time as one acts, one is forming the atmosphere in which he is going to live eternally... This life and the life beyond are not two things, but one, or at least parts of one whole."
