Visit To Pakistan Reveals Problems Facing That Nation

By JAMES AUMAN
Our first jet-flight on the Christian World Seminar took us from New Delhi, India, to Karachi, Pakistan. We were assisted to the hotel by Frank Thomas, a friend of our director, who is in Karachi doing work for the Ford Foundation. Barefoot natives, serving as baggage boys, met us at the Palace Hotel and assisted us to our rooms at midnight. Most people of Pakistan are farmers, struggling to make a bare living from tiny plots of land. They lack money, seldom have good seed, and rarely use fertilizer on their land. Part of Mr. Thomas' responsibility, as he represents the Ford Foundation grant, is to provide some measure of economic assistance to these farmers that they may better their lot. We visited the farm of Abdullah Khan, a farm of 117 acres, now being irrigated by large hand-dug wells. Here we found growing egg plant, papaya, bananas, ginger, lemons, tomatoes, carrots and cabbage. Irrigation is important in West Pakistan where rainfall is scanty. Almost all of the farming is done by hand or with the simplest of old-fashioned tools. The farmer with his wooden plow hitched behind an ox is a typical sight. Sowing and harvesting are also done by hand. Pakistan and India have the largest sugar colonies in the world. There are more than 110,000 acres in Pakistan. In Michigan we visited one of these sugar colonies.

Annual Seals Sale Started Monday, County Goal $1400

TB Christmas Seal Sale started November 14. $1,400 is the goal for Perquimans County. 1,461 letters and 97 health bonds have been mailed to Perquimans County citizens. It took hours of volunteer time to prepare the 1,558 letters for mailing.

Tommy Maston, chairman of the 1960 Christmas Seal and Mrs. M. B. Taylor, representative for colored citizens, directed this work. Last year's drive brought in $1,554.70 from the Seal Sale. Maston stated, financing the local effort to combat tuberculosis, to discover new cases, health education, research in our state and aid to our patients.

Six per cent of the money collected went to National TB Association, the funds being used for research to help stamp out tuberculosis. Mr. Maston said he hoped the Seal Sale would net more than the $1,400 this year, for money collected will be used to expand the health education program in Perquimans County, since we need to know how to recognize TB; just what the disease is; how to prevent TB; how to find TB and how to treat TB. Last year four new cases of TB were reported in Perquimans and nine cases the year before that.

The Christmas letters that have gone into the homes will carry twin seals again, designed by Phillip Richard Costigan. The national chairman of the 1960 seal is the famous TB health poster artist, Stevan Dohanos, himself a victim of tuberculosis. His posters have been used widely in schools.

Schoolmasters In Meeting Monday Hear Budget Talk

Perquimans County teachers were hosts at a district Schoolmasters Club meeting held here Monday night in the cafeteria of Hertford Grammar School. John T. Biggers, superintendent of Perquimans Schools, acted as toastmaster.

A delicious turkey dinner, prepared and served by the Hertford PTA, was enjoyed by some 100 teachers and special guests.

Isaac P. Perry, president of the local NCEA unit, welcomed the guests and entertainment was provided by Mrs. Chas. E. Johnson and Miss Caroline Wright. Guest speaker for the occasion was A. C. Davis, controller for the State Board of Education, who gave the group a brief outline of the "B" Budget for state schools which will be presented to the next General Assembly.

Mr. Davis pointed out the schools have two budgets, one is made up on the basis of providing school operations at the same level as previous years and is called the "A" budget. The "B" budget supplements the "A" budget and provides for advancement programs. Pointing out that North Carolina teachers are better qualified and have a larger pupil load than the national average, Mr. Davis said the "B" budget proposes a salary scale of $3,800 to $5,000 annually for state teachers.
