CONGRATULATIONS, 4-H'ERS

Congratulations and good wishes, Perquimans 4-H'ers, on your observance of National 4-H Club Week. You certainly deserve this newspaper's good wishes and congratulations for the fine record you have achieved in your program in our county.

A job well done deserves appreciation. That's why we say "thank you" to the many young men and women of this community who work so devotedly through local 4-H Club chapters to reach a high level of mental, physical, social and spiritual growth to ultimately become leaders of this community, finer people and better citizens.

We salute you, 4-H boys and girls, your fathers and mothers and your leaders.

Exercise Is Important

It is surprising how many Americans take no regular exercise. This may not sound too alarming to you, but it is a growing concern in America. Think of this condition in relation to a piece of machinery or automobile or anything (like the body) with moving parts. Your mindless heart, lungs and other working parts of the body require some use, some exercise, if they are to remain workable and in good condition. Also, exercise builds up muscles and enables the body to throw off waste and function properly. One health expert estimates that those who take regular exercise add as much as ten years to their lives. They keep down weight, keep muscles and body posture in proper harmony and, through use, maintain properly functioning organs. If you would feel better, look better and add years to your life, why not take exercise regularly?

Is Youth Today Too Ambitious?

Modern boys and girls are too ambitious in their rush to become leaders in the fields of business and the professions, declared a director of an employment counselling service designed to aid boys and girls to get a proper start in the business world.

It seems that youngsters are "unwilling to start in the less glamorous jobs" and work their way up.

way up. The revelation that they cannot earn $5,000 a year one month after graduation from high school "is often a rude shock to our modern teenager." The counselor reports, however, that once the teenager is convinced of the proper course to follow in connection with employment, he becomes ready to dig in as a clerk, a messenger, a stenographer or office boy and work his way up in the American tradition.

Understanding

Many times the question is asked of some one if he understands the actions of another person. Very often motives are judged in explaining the actions of others. This speculation is often interesting but highly treacherous. If the truth be known, it is doubtful if many of us understand completely our own actions in certain situations. The ability to understand one's own action and to understand himself is the objective of many religions in the world, one of which is Hinduism. The Hindus believe that one of their life objectives is to be able to understand themselves. This is one of their first goals.

If we cannot understand ourselves, it is indeed hopeless for us to try to pass judgment on others with any finality. The best we can hope for is that others act with a sense of responsibility in fairness and justice. That we ourselves do not fall into the area of motive questioning, but judge from an impersonal basis, keeping ever most in our mind the qualities which we desire to have, namely justice and fairness.

Sunday School Lesson

TO BE SERVED OR TO SERVE
 International Sunday School Lesson for March 10, 1962.

Memory Selection: "The Son of man also came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many." (Mark 10:45).

Lesson Text: Mark 10.

In our lesson for today we consider the request of James and John, and endeavor to discover our motives for service.

In our lesson for today we consider the request of James and John, and endeavor to discover our motives for service.

The theme running through the last part of this chapter is the theme of service. It is first used in the story of the rich young man. The young man had been obedient to the law; what else must he do? Was anything more really needed? Was not the law enough? Jesus answered the young man, "Go, sell what you have, and give to the poor." This was more than the law required. Yet Jesus said it was necessary.

Jesus' answer emphasizes the fact that service is not to be construed as obedience to a set of rules. Genuine service is the complete self-giving of one to another. The criterion of service is not a law, but, rather, others' needs and our ability. Jesus' injunction to the young man is not necessarily a universal requirement. Jesus was speaking to this one individual, and he placed his finger on the man's personal weakness. He touched the young man at a place he had been keeping from God. Let us not, however, too easily dismiss the case, for if money is what we have been attempting to keep from God, then Jesus is also speaking to us and asking for our surrender.

Jesus asked everything of the young man. The law demanded a great deal, but Jesus demanded even more. This young man thought of the law as a means to redemption, but, upon reflection, what is the law? The law represents two things. In the first place, the law is the continual reminder of the righteousness that God demands. It does not stand as something we can achieve. It reminds us of our continual need for God's grace. The law shows us what we are not. Thus, it forces us to call upon God's forgiveness and acceptance. In the second place, the law reminds us what we ought to be. A Christian must try to be obedient to the vision of holiness to which the law points. He may fail, but by God's grace he tries to grow in grace and reflect the mind and life of Christ. This means that the role of the Old Testament law is changed. Rather than living by the old code, the Christian now lives by the law of Christ.

There is always a tension between grace and law. The law helps teach us the need for grace. Grace helps us express the righteousness of God. In Jesus Christ grace and law are bound together. In him we see what God intends for man; we see what we are not. At the same time, we see what God means for man to be by his strength. We see God's forgiveness of sinners and his restoration to life of those who are spiritually dead. In the story of the rich young man Jesus pointed to the theme of service. Service is the thankful overflow of a life that has been touched by God. Real service does not keep counting the pennies and saying, "Have I done enough?" It is expansive and spontaneous. It is self-centered. Genuine service is the expression of genuine love. It is focused upon the needs of one's fellows, not upon oneself. It does not ask, "What do I get out of this? Is this enough to save me?" Service is the result of relationship with God. It is not the basis of that relationship.

The foundation of service can be illustrated from the Bible and from modern life. Notice in the Old Testament that the Exodus, God's act of grace, came before the Ten Commandments. The commandments were not to be obeyed in order to win God's favor. Keeping them was the appropriate response of men to God's grace. They answer the question, "In the light of what God has done for us, how should we act?" The New Testament

What's Inside?

WHAT MAGIC INGREDIENTS DO THESE BOTTLES CONTAIN? Do they hold harmful, injurious poisons? Or are they filled with healing medicines and vitamins? Will they inflict pain, or will they cure disease?

But what does it matter? If the contents are bad, we can pour them out.

But the minds of children is an entirely different matter. A small human being can be filled with selfishness and hate, or he can be filled with sincerity and love. Unfortunately, evil is more quickly dispelled from a glass bottle than from the soul of a child. For in the human mind bad thoughts can grow, and as time goes on, it is more difficult to replace them with truth and love.

That is why it is so important to instill within our children a sense of right and wrong at an early age. Of course, by example, "you" can be a tremendous influence. But you need the help of your church—the wisdom of Christ's teachings. With them, you can fill your heart with the essential ingredients for a happy and fruitful life.

LUXURY CAR: RIDES, RESPONDS AND LOOKS LIKE IT OUGHT TO COST A RANSOM

You're looking at our Impala Super Sport Convertible which, along with its cousin, the Sport Coupe, absolutely embarrasses higher priced cars. That special trim and those front bucket seats merely hint at the comforts you find built into every Impala Super Sport. Performance? It's remarkable, an understatement we can afford when there are 7 engines to choose from. One of which is the popular 340-hp Turbo-Fire 409, a lizard in traffic and a joy on the open road. And others all the way up to 425 hp. If you want an extra flourish or two, mull over extra-cost options like floor-shift four-speed manual or Powerglide transmission, Positraction, fade-resistant sintered-metallic brake linings, and a tachometer to relay what's cooking up front. Just before you rush off to your Chevrolet dealer, may we remind you that both Impala Super Sports offer the new Comfortilt steering wheel*. You adjust it to suit your driving style, flick it out of the way for easy entry and exit. All three Chevrolet series—Biscayne, Bel Air and Impala—deserve a long look. Super Sports demand it. Super Sport equipment* available on both Impala Convertible and Sport Coupe. *Optional at extra cost.
