

Some Changes Made In State's Hunting Regulations For '63-64

For best hunters will have a greatly simplified squirrel season this fall. At a meeting of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission held in Raleigh last week, 99 counties were included in a uniform squirrel season, beginning October 15 and ending January 1.

The decision for the state-wide season was based on research which showed that the best squirrel season is in March and July. It was also found that very few of the March broods are around for the gun season in the fall, while the July crop furnishes most of the fall hunting. All across the state, most of the July and squirrels are weaned by the middle of October. Biologists believe that since the nimrod's gun is only one of the several factors in squirrel mortality, the hunting season should begin when the late crop has left the nest. This will give the sportsman more hunting that previously has been lost because of food shortages, inclement weather, and predators.

Another change is the wild turkey season. Still gobbler only, but running from January 15 to February 15, this new arrangement, though shorter, gives the turkey hunter a better chance to enjoy his sport with less of his favorite game being taken by the relatively non-specific squirrel and deer hunters.

The quail and rabbit season will open on November 23 and close February 15. While close to approximating the opening date for 1962, it falls on the Saturday before Thanksgiving.

Since county laws govern some forms of hunting and trapping, it would be impossible to cover the whole list of regulations in this limited space. Better get a copy of the new regulations—they'll be off the press soon. Your local hunting and fishing license dealer will have a supply. Get one and read it. You'll be glad you did.

There Have Been Some Changes Made

Time was when buses stopped everywhere. Some still do as they are dandy for local trips.

But today there's also a faster kind of Trailways service known as thru express. Thru express takes you great distances without change and with less stops enroute. Many 200 mile trips are made non-stop, and very often a bus will travel 500 miles with only 2 or 3 stops.

A Trailways Bus itinerary can be worked out to fit your particular needs, whether your trip is for 10 miles or 1000 miles; and you ride in America's newest bus fleet.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

IF YOU KNEW WHAT THIS "CAR KILLER" KNOWS...YOU'D BE DRIVING A SOLID, SILENT SUPER TORQUE FORD

This steel-edged pothole is probably the world's toughest test of a car's suspension. We drive into this car killer at 30 mph, locking our brakes as we go so the wheels can't roll through the hole as they normally would. The car slams against the far edge of the hole with such impact that it literally bounds out.

If you added up the cumulative effect of all the jars and jolts your car's suspension system experiences in years of normal driving, it wouldn't match the impact of one trip through the hole. Yet—a Ford must run this test three times to prove its strength.

How can a Ford take it? Because Ford's front suspension has extra beef in spindles, springs, suspension arms—in fact, it's about 20 pounds heavier than the front suspension of our principal competitor's car.

We don't expect you to abuse your car the way we do our test car. But, however you drive, you'll welcome the extra strength of a total performance Ford. Ford strength is tested in a thousand ways in Ford's laboratories and proving grounds—and in open competition in the world's toughest rallies and stock car events.

Look at Ford's astounding record in open competition this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500's, the World 600 at Charlotte, N.C., and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery: if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance...total performance.
