Miss Linda Phillips Bride Of Lou Merz

Ceremony Held Dec. 15 at the Immanuel Baptist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Merz were united in marriage at 4 P. M., Sunday, December 15, by the Rev. Bob Ware in the first wedding to be solemnized in the sanctuary of Immanuel Baptist Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Madison Phillips, entered the church on the arm of Orval Williams, a family friend. Her floor length dress was white nylon organza. Her veil was white lace, matching the lace accents of her dress, and was attached to a white orchid on a white Bible. Mrs. Peggy Brabble, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a pale lavender street length dress with a large sash and matching small brim hat. Her accessories were lavender also. She carried white chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Misses Ann and Margaret Copeland, who wore pale aqua embroidered taffeta. Their headpieces were aqua net and they carried white chrysanthemums. Don Merz of the U. S. Navy, stationed in Washington, D. C., was his brother's best man. Ushers were, Billy Copeland,

Harmon Harrell, Joseph Norris and Randy Murray. The mother of the bride wore a dark blue afternoon dress with black accessories. Music was furnished by Miss Faye Evans and Joseph Norris, soloists, and Mrs. Gail Ware, pianist. The couple received in the vestibule of the church following the ceremony. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

After the reception, the couple left for Norfolk, Va., where the bridegroom is stationed with the U. S. Navy. For travel, the bride wore a brown wool suit with brown accessories. The couple is residing at Simpson's Trailer Court in Norfolk.

Health For All

Scratching The Surface
Everybody knows that the ostrich — strictly speaking — is a bird-brain. Head in the sand, he feels perfectly safe in the notion that what he can't see, can't see him.

Is all that "just for the birds"? Not at all. People sometimes act that way, too. In matters of health, for example, many close their eyes to the lurking danger of disease. Many ignore warnings that a medical checkup may be the only way to catch a killer before it's too late.

Take tuberculosis, for instance. At least thirty million Americans are infected with the TB germ right now. In the great majority, the germ is inactive. But for at least 120,000 Americans active TB has brought normal life to a halt. As to how many others may be in the same fix, nobody knows—nobody can possibly know without checking. And the best way to check is through a tuberculin skin test—or a chest X-ray.

A tuberculin test does what an ostrich doesn't do. It tries to spot danger instead of ignoring it. A positive reaction to a tuberculin test is a sign that the TB germ has lodged in the body and may (or may not) be causing disease. The way to determine whether disease is present is to get a chest X-ray which will show whether the germ has become active and started on a career of damage.

A negative reaction to the tuberculin test, on the other hand, is an "all clear" signal—no TB germs in the body. Doctors urge everyone to have a tuberculin test or a chest X-ray. Your doctor or health department can administer it. Don't put it off—don't be an ostrich!
