Illness Fatal To Mrs. Webb

When Eastern North Caro-ina Methodists gather in Ra-eigh for their annual conference beginning June 14, the 37 ministers of the Eliz-abeth City District will present a good report. Nearly 500 persons have been re-ceived into the fellowship of the church, nearly half of the number coming through the church schools. On an average Sunday over 5500 Methodists will be in attendance in Sunday School in the City District and during the past summer 2500 attended a Vacation Bible School. 65 churches within the district have Woman's Societies of Christian Service with a total membership of over 2000. Educational buildings or parsonages have been built this year at Newland, Moyock, and at Pasquotank. Over $65,000 has been spent on property and improve-ments to existing property during the past year.

Ministers of all the church es have emphasized an expanded mission study program, paying particular atof Ephesians and Methodist Bishop Roy Short's book "One Witness in One World." These studies have been undertaken as a part of the current four year program of One feature of the annual report which is NOT popular with district Methodists is the observation that Robert L. Jerome, currently district superintendent of the Elizabeth City District, will be leaving that post. Methodist policy limits the service of man as district superintendent to six years, at the end of which time he returns to the active service of a barbecue, congregation. Dr. Jerome's available. service has been greatly appreciated by ministers and laymen alike. In his report to the annual conference, Dr. "Fabrics. Uses, Selection and Care" was the topic of the demonstration given by Mrs. Billy White Tuesday night, May 25 at the home of Mrs. Richard Morgan. Different kinds of fabrics were shown and discussed. The recommenda-The recommendations based on soil tests call for varying rates depending on the texture and organic matter content.

The general recommendations and those based on soil tests include sufficient quantities of plant nutrients for 11/2 to 21/2 bales of cotton per acre.

With increased interest in cotton production, with Dr. McCant's research on nitrigen leaching under tobacco, questions of nitrogen leaching under cotton are asked frequently. Two pertinent points to consider in this regard are:

1. Period of growth when cotton takes up most of the nitrogen.

2. Time of application of nitrogen.

The time of most rapid nitrogen uptake is during maximum boll development. In the case of cotton planted about April 15 this period of greatest nitrogen uptake and boll development would be July 15 - August 15. This is about two weeks later than the period of maximum rate of nitrogen uptake by corn.

Assuming that nitrogen sidedressing is applied May 15-30, there would be a "waiting" period that leaching of nitrogen below the depth of root development would most markedly affect ans County will pool their the subsequent development In view of information on
