4-H Club Tours Chappell Farm

The Senior 4-H Club toured the farm of Clarence Chappell on Wednesday afternoon. Two hours were spent on the tour guided by Clarence Chappell, Jr., and his wife, Annie Lou.

The first stop was at the modern dairy. Here the group saw the milking process, cooling, and storage for approximately 600 gallons of milk daily.

Functions of various equipment and facilities were explained and many questions answered.

Mrs. Paige Underwood, Associate Home Economics Extension Agent, states that probably the facility which amazed the group the most was the cattle "sick room" or hospital. Here the sick cattle are isolated from the other cattle while they are being treated. An insulated medicine room makes it convenient for a veterinarian or Chappell employee to care for the cattle with proper supplies and medicine.

Pig parlors and farrowing houses also impressed the group. Realizing the excellent treatment these animals receive, the Senior 4-H'ers decided that pigs and cows don't live such a bad life after all.

Mrs. Clarence Chappell, Jr., invited the club members to tour their remodeled home. This part of the tour combined homemaking ideas for the girls.

Concluding the tour, Mrs. Chappell served refreshments.

Work Is Done By Miss Elliott

Continuing their policy of acquainting the people of Perquimans County with the different committees and their services, the Perquimans County Unit of the American Cancer Society would like to this week spotlight the "Service Committee" with Miss Theima Elliott as chairman.

The primary job of this committee is to provide services for the patient who has become medically indigent after a long cancer illness.

The Service Committee aids the cancer patient after his return home rather than during his stay in the hospital. If needed, the local unit has a small amount of money which may be used to help defray costs of drugs and nursing care for the patient. Also, if needed, assistance in transportation to a hospital may be provided for those without means or family to help transport them.

This committee also has a dressing program which provides quantities of dressings for special cancer cases. These are made by members with help from local civic clubs, organizations and

Sale Of U.S. Bonds Drags In Perquimans At Mid-Year Mark

Things Looking Good To Agent

"Looking at the crops in Perquimans County, things really look good for this time of year, but there are many practices that should be continued to be carried out, if we are to get a real good yield this fall," states R. M. Thompson, County Extension Chairman.

Cotton should be continued to be ducted, as the boll weevil is causing quite a bit of damage and there are signs of the boll worm and lice. There are several insecticides to use, such as Methyl-Trithion plus DDT, Sevin, Toxophene and DDT or Methyl-Parathion. You should continue this dusting program until the boll weevil infestation is below 5% and the lice and Red Spider are brought under control.

There are some yellow peanuts in the county, due to wet weather, or for some other reason. Copper Sulphur and Sevin will help to turn some of these peanuts green and also control insects. Many people have found out that plenty of dust on peanuts, put on at regular intervals up through September has paid off, especially where the peanuts are being combined and cured in a bin.

In some cases, a little nitrogen is necessary (not over 30 lbs. to the acre) to get the peanuts back green. This is especially true where peanuts have been planted on the land for several years.

"Proper dusting at this time of year pays off real well at harvest time, and if you have not been following a dusting program, I would certainly suggest that you begin on a regular schedule," further states Mr. Thompson.
