Holiday Traffic Count Estimated

Consider the condition of your car, the weather and yourself before starting the annual trek to grandmothers house and joining battle with the Thanksgiving traffic which the N. C. State Motor Clubs warn may claim the lives of at least 25 persons in accidents on North Carolina's streets and highways during the extended holiday.

The official highway fatality countdown begins at 6 P. M. Wednesday, November 24, and extends through midnight Sunday, November 28. Basing its estimates on past experience coupled with current driving patterns, the motor club said that fatalities could be reduced to the extent that motorists observe the basic safe driving rules.

The state's Thanksgiving traffic toll for the same 102-year period last year came to 20 persons killed and 767 others injured in a total of 1,134 accidents. Leading driver violations were: speeding, 225; failed to yield right of way, 165; drove left of center, 142; following too closely, 104; reckless driving, 98 and under the influence of alcohol, 70.

"We do not intend to scare motorists off the highways or into staying at home during the holidays," said Thos. B. Watkins, president of the club and the National Automobile Association. "We want everyone to enjoy Thanksgiving to the fullest. We simply want them to count their many blessings and not spoil their holiday by getting involved in an accident."

Other business to come before the Town Board was the requesting of the Board that City Clerk R. C. "Bobby" Elliott contact the Parking Meter Company and get cost on the changing of the meters now set up which only

Thompson Urges Vote In Farm Referendum On Two Big Questions

"On Tuesday, November 23, peanut and cotton farmers in North Carolina will have the opportunity to go to the polls and vote on four issues. (1) Peanut Marketing Quotas for 1966, 1967 and 1968; (2) Cotton Marketing Quotas for 1966; (3) A cotton grower self-help assessment of 15 cents per bale on cotton produced in each of the next three years; and (4) A vote on whether or not cotton allotments may be leased or sold outside of county lines but remain in the state," states R. M. Thompson, County Extension Chairman.

The peanut question is similar to the one that has been in effect for several years, but it must pass by two-thirds of the votes. This question, if passed, will give price support of the growers who plant within their peanut allotments. Anyone is eligible to vote who was entitled to a share in the 1965 peanut crop on a farm on which the acres harvested exceeded one (1) acre. "This is a most important question to the peanut farmers in Perquimans County and North Carolina and you should make a real effort to vote," further states Mr. Thompson.

The Planning Board worked with the Housing Commission and the State Highway Commission and this project was a part of the major thoroughfare plan for the town made by the Planning Board. The by-pass will increase traffic on this section of town, as it is located at the city limits on the Harvey Point highway.

White Writes Original Ballad

The seniors at the Virginia Episcopal School in Lynchburg, Va., have been studying early English literature recently, starting with its history and going through ballads and poetry.

The following is a ballad composed by Carlyle White, a senior from Durham, N. C. His was the best. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. White, Jr., of Durham and a grandson of Mrs. Thomas S. White, Sr., of Market Street, Hertford. Also he is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. W. Howard Pitt.

The ballad entitled "Death of a College Flunky" follows:

He crawled through the rice paddies, his napsack on his back. He slithered through the vines, with enemy on his track. He thought of his home in Virginia, and why he had been sent from there to fight in this senseless war about which he did not care.

If he had only studied in college, and not raised so much hell, then maybe he wouldn't be here in fear of an enemy shell.

He was almost out of the paddies now and into the cover of the trees. Oh, if I had only studied, he said. At least tried to make those D's.

He was running through the woods now, trying to make it back to his lines. He knew that his chances were slim. He had to cross a field of mines.

A shot rang out to the left, and then one to the right. He had to keep on running. He was afraid to fight.

A piercing pain in his side, he toppled to the ground. Aside from his broken breathing, he could not hear a sound.

Now he was crawling slowly, leaving a trail of blood. His young hands reached out for support, but only grasped the mud.

As he lay there bleeding, breathing a last breath, he thought of a wasted life and now a wasted death.—Carlyle C. White.

Union Winner In Grid Event

The fighting Green Panthers of Perquimans County Union School, Winfall, N. C. invaded South Lumberton High and defeated its football team 30-0 in the first round of the Eastern District Class AA playoff. Perquimans kicked off to Lumberton and the ball was returned to Lumberton's 35-yard line for good field position. It was there that the Panthers' proud defensive unit priding itself with having only 50 points scored against it in nine regular season games held Lumberton on downs and forced them to punt.

The first quarter ended with neither team scoring. The second quarter started with a bang, as Quarterback Edward Ferebee uncorked a 15-yard pass to Octavious Freeman who outran the last defender to score standing up. Ferebee then hit George
