Non-Certified Seeds Are Not Unavailable

Cotton growers are warned that non-certified seeds of a new cotton variety, TH149, are not available.

George Spain, director of the seed testing division of the N. C. Department of Agriculture, says rumors are being spread that non-certified seeds can be obtained.

"The new variety has been in trials to determine its agronomic and lint quality," he explained. "Seed increase has been under the supervision of the North Carolina Crop Improvement Association, and trials and demonstrations have been under contract with agreements for seed return. When will the days begin to get longer again? Will the weather warm up soon thereafter?

Interestingly, it will not be long before the days begin to get longer again. On December 21st, at 7:44 p.m. the days will start to lengthen. They will continue to get longer for the next six months.

Therefore, the shortest days of the year will be experienced in November, December and January. It will be March before the extra sunlight begins to have its effect. It will continue to get colder, even as the days grow longer, in late December and January and perhaps in February.

By March, or April, the added sunlight will begin to make itself felt and spring weather will begin to emerge.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON -- Congress returns to Capitol Hill this week with many of the issues of the first session still pending. These include: new farm legislation, postal reorganization and reform, environmental quality control measures, electoral college reform, new revisions of the draft, anti-crime bills, and several consumer protection proposals.

Carried over, too, are appropriation bills for foreign aid and the Departments of Labor and Health, Education, and Welfare. Congress could not agree on final versions of either of these money bills at the first session.

House and Senate conferees on December 19th agreed to a $2.5 billion foreign aid appropriation, but action was held up when the Senate objected to earmarking $54.5 million in military assistance to finance a squadron of jet planes for Nationalist China. The $2 billion Labor-HEW money bill became embroiled in an Executive-Legislative battle over the budget in late December. The President threatened a veto because he said the appropriation exceeded his money request. Congress did not press the matter further at that time. Thus, these money bills are now before the Congress again. The major issue of the session is not likely to relate to these matters, but rather to the allocation of Federal funds for the hundreds of programs that make up the Budget. Congress imposed a $192.9 billion ceiling on Federal spending for the current fiscal year. The President is now wrestling with the problem of compiling a new Budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1st which meets our national needs, and hopefully, will not exceed anticipated revenues.
