

Stallings-Nixon Wedding

T. R. Winslow Celebrates Birthday

Guest and members of the Winslow family gathered on the lawn of Mr. Thomas R. Winslow, Saturday afternoon to honor Mr. Winslow on his 85th Birthday. A chicken Bar-B-Que dinner, home made ice cream was enjoyed by the group. After many "Happy Birthday" wishes were expressed, Mr. Winslow opened his birthday gifts and good-byes were said.

Those attending the dinner were:

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Winslow; Mrs. Beatrice Layden; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winslow; Mr. and Mrs. James O. Layden, Jimmy, Tommy, Keith and Jan; Mr. and Mrs. Preston Winslow, Byntha, Dinese and Tommy from Wilmington, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Winslow; Mr. and Mrs. McKay Riddick, Darlene and Sharon; Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Winslow, John and Chad; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Winslow, Belinda and Donnie; Mr. and Mrs. James L. Hendricks from Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. George Winslow and Georgia; Mr. C. J. Stallings; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Winslow and Stanley; Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Winslow; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Landing, Patti and Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Bunch, Mike and Lisa; Rev. and Mrs. Larry McEntire, Virginia and Beth.

The wedding of Miss Charlotte Nixon and Carter Stallings was solemnized Saturday, August 22, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in a candlelight setting of white mums, gladioli and palms.

The Rev. Thomas Clark performed the double ring ceremony.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Frank Rountree of Hobbsville, cousin of the bride. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Nixon of Hertford. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stallings of Hobbsville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of white dotted neck featuring a high round neckline and "leg-of-mutton" sleeves and carried a white Bible covered with a white orchid. Her only ornaments were opal earrings, a gift of the groom.

Miss Kay Nixon, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of hot pink chiffon, fashioned like the bride's, with short puffed sleeves and carried a nosegay of white daisies.

Mrs. Deborah Lane was mistress of the ceremony and Ed

Nixon served as the usher. Denny Stallings was best man for his brother.

The bride's mother wore a Nile green lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a light blue shantung dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home. Mrs. Jean Stallings cut the wedding cake and Mrs. Billy Nixon presided at the punch bowl.

For a wedding trip to the mountains the bride changed to a light blue and white crepe dress with matching accessories and wore the white orchid lifted from her Bible.

Pre-Nuptial parties -

A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Hazel Matthews, Mrs. Phillip Thach, Mrs. Marshall Owens, Mrs. Ed Nixon and Mrs. Deborah Lane in Hertford. Mrs. Frank Rountree and Mrs. Jean Stallings were co-hostesses at a kitchen shower, honoring the bride-elect, at the Rountree home.

E.Y. Floyd Scholarship Fund Began at N.C.S.U.

The E. Y. Floyd Scholarship Fund has been established to aid needy students at North Carolina State University and to honor the farm leader who was educated there half a century ago.

Rudolph Pate, director of NCSU Foundations and Development and J. C. Powell of Tarboro, president of the N. C. Agricultural Foundation, announced a statewide campaign will be launched to raise $50,000 for the fund.

Floyd, a native of Granville County, died Aug. 15 in Raleigh at the age of 72.

In announcing the E. Y. Floyd Scholarship Fund, Pate noted: "We are honoring a man who was in the forefront of agricultural progress in North Carolina."

Pate recalled that Floyd, although hampered by declining health, participated in election night activities at NCSU last Nov. 25 when votes were counted in the seventh of the successful statewide Nickels for Know How referendums.

"He was keenly aware of the importance of that vote to this University, and even more of its importance to the economy and the life of North Carolina," Pate observed.

As a result of the Nickels program, which Floyd helped organize, almost $3 million have been pumped into agricultural teaching, research and extension work at North Carolina State University since 1961. Buyers assess themselves a nickel on every ton of feed and fertilizer for the educational program.

"It is appropriate," Pate continued, "to set up a scholarship which will continue through the lives of young men and women the work to which E. Y. Floyd devoted his life."

Floyd was managing director of the Plant Food Institute of North Carolina for 26 years before retiring last fall. After graduating from N. C. State, he worked as an extension tobacco specialist for 11 years and as state director of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for 10 years.

He served as state chairman for every flue-cured tobacco quota referendum from 1934 until his death. He helped to found the N. C. Board of Farm Organizations.

Pate pointed out that "funds for scholarship assistance are especially needed now due to the cutback in federal programs and the increase in educational costs."

The E. Y. Floyd Scholarship Fund will be administered through the N. C. Agricultural Foundation and contributions may be sent to P. O. Box 5067, Raleigh, N. C.

Pate and Powell said a committee will be named in the near future to administer the fund.

Gold Kist Farmers To Receive Refund

Farmers who marketed their 1969 peanut crop through Gold Kist Peanuts will receive $3.00 per ton patronage refund, C. W. Paris, General Manager, Cotton Producers Association, announced recently. The refund will be paid shortly after January 1.

In announcing the refund rate, Mr. Paris stated that Gold Kist is refunding the $3.00 per ton to farmers following a successful year in marketing peanuts. The refund is in addition to market prices which the farmers received at the time they delivered their peanuts to Gold Kist. The CPA General Manager went on to state that over the past five years, Gold Kist has refunded approximately $3,000,000 to peanut farmers.

Considerable plant expansion and improvements were also added throughout the 1969-70 fiscal year in order to provide farmers with the newest and most convenient facilities for marketing peanuts. Gold Kist is now operating in all three major producing areas - the Southeast, Southwest and Virginia/Carolina areas.

"The refund rate of $3.00 per ton is further evidence that farmers can increase their income by working together in a strong, well managed farm cooperative," Mr. Paris emphasized.

Gold Kist Peanuts is a Department of Cotton Producers Association, Atlanta, which also markets grain, soybeans, pecans, eggs, poultry, catfish and cotton for farmer members.

CPA/Gold Kist manufactures and purchases for farmers feed, seed, fertilizer, pesticides, animal health products and miscellaneous farm supplies. These supplies are available to farmers through approximately 120 Farmers Mutual Exchange stores over the Southeast.

Cabbage, Tomato Prices Inadequate This Season

The net prices received for tomatoes and cabbage by the growers is not covering the cost of production harvesting this season.

Grower income from U. S. Number 1 tomatoes has fallen to 4¢ a pound and income to cabbage producers is down to 1-1/2¢ a pound for U. S. Number 1 grade.

Yields have been very good this year in both tomatoes and cabbage in western North Carolina. This has been true throughout the other areas of the country producing these commodities.

Production of trellis tomatoes has shown marked growth in western N. C. during the past decade. And cabbage has increased over the past several years with substantial upswings in the northwestern part of the state.

A major factor in this increased production is that prior to this season, the farmer has earned a reasonable profit for these crops.

North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture James A. Graham has expressed concern for the situation. "If the vegetable farmers are to continue to produce a high quality volume of these commodities, they must receive a reasonable profit for their efforts."

"I am appealing to produce buyers and merchandisers, both in and out of state, to feature North Carolina tomatoes and cabbage in promotional programs and through retail outlets."

"This is an excellent time to promote cabbage," Graham continued, "because of the increasing cost of lettuce."

"Presently, I am contacting our major buyers across the country to urge their assistance in moving tomatoes and cabbage in order to assist the farmer in gaining the profit he needs and deserves."

"I'm certain, too, that the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association will lend their support to this endeavor," Graham said.

Do I Really Need To Eat Breakfast?

Do I really need to eat breakfast? There is only one scientifically sound answer to this query, states today Mrs. M. B. Taylor, Home Economics Extension Agent. The answer is "Yes".

Your own common sense supplies the same answer. Even though your body has a reserve of energy to be called on in an emergency, there is no point in pressing the panic button every morning.

Studies show that skipping breakfast impairs your health, upsets your disposition and lowers your vitality. Without breakfast, it is unlikely that you will get all the essential nutrients you need every day, or that you will be able to attain and maintain desirable weight.

In an effort to lessen mid- or late-morning fatigue, breakfast skippers frequently indulge in snacks which are high in calories but low in protein, vitamins and minerals. Then not being really hungry at lunchtime, mid- or late-dinner table fatigued and irritable.

In the morning a few extra minutes' sleep may seem more important than breakfast, so the pattern repeats itself day after day. Is it any wonder that breakfast-skippers are frequently tired, that the pounds creep on and that they are more often cross than pleasant?

Workshop For Retarded Children Sept. 18th & 19th

The North Carolina Association for Retarded Children will hold its annual convention at the Hilton Inn in Greensboro on September 18 and 19.

Three hundred delegates representing 65 local units and YOUTH-NCARC are expected to attend. Dr. Phillip Roos, Executive Director of the National Association for Retarded Children will be guest speaker at the banquet Friday night. Sam Bundy of Farmville will deliver the luncheon address Saturday.

Associations for Retarded are scattered across North Carolina, literally from Murphy to Manteo, representing over 5,000 families.

Workshops and a panel presentation will be the convention feature Saturday morning. Superintendents from all four regional Centers for the Retarded will appear on the panel.

The convention will close at the end of the business session on Saturday afternoon, after the election of officers to serve the Association in 1971.

In Fashion

With the trend towards longer skirts a return to interest in hats will be evident in the well dressed woman's appearance.

Hats will be large. They may be oversized berets or hats with an Italian influence.

Fur hats will be larger and come in many different types of fur.
