Helpful Hints For Christmas

By: Mrs. M. B. Taylor, Home Economics Extension Agent

1. Start now - let all of the family members help in the plans. You might want to fix a festive bulletin board and list the different activities on it. The children will enjoy decorating the bulletin board with gay Christmas pictures. Some of the activities could be: Making Christmas lists, Making Christmas presents, Making cookies and candies, Getting the Christmas greens, Decorating the Christmas tree.
2. Start now singing Christmas carols - and don't stop singing them after December 25.
3. Start now writing letters to absent friends and family members. This will make their lives happier - and yours, too!
4. Start now on Christmas lists and be sure to include some lonely, some sorrowing, some needy persons this year.

5. Start now to emphasize the fact of Christ's coming as the reason for the celebration of Christmas Day; and His way of life as the reason why we should keep Christmas every day. "For not only at Christmas, but all the year through - The joy you give to others is the joy that comes to you."
6. On Christmas Eve you may want to use a lighted candle. Most of the Christmas symbols we love best are of light - starlight, candlelight, firelight. It is fitting that it should be so, for this is the birthday of Christ, "the light of the world."
7. Memos made now make next year's Christmas easier! Before discarding Christmas cards and letters, check addresses and keep your list up-to-date. Good ideas for home made Christmas presents often are suggested by seeing those of friends and neighbors. Jot the ideas down and use them next year.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

Whoever said that marriage was a fifty-fifty proposition never met my husband. He expects me to wait on him like I was hired to do so. It is not me this or get me that. If I want to get off for the afternoon with my girl friends he has something for me to do. Now don't get me wrong, I love to do things for my husband but I would like a little consideration of what I want to do and to have him get things for me sometimes.

What do you think makes him take it for granted that it is my business to wait on him?

Fuzzled-N.J.

Answer:
Your husband sounds very immature - as if he has never grown up. He is using you as a mother who does everything for a small child, feeds him, bathes him and protects him from disagreeable things.

If he ever realizes what makes him demand so much attention he may change.

Louisa
