

Television Art Program Slated For School Children

School children (grades 4, 5, and 6) in the viewing area of the University of North Carolina's Educational Television network will be able to "tune in" on some unique art experiences beginning next week.

Beginning February 2 the State's educational television network will air "Meet the Arts," a series of 30-minute instruction programs designed to introduce children to the arts as a source of enjoyment and discovery.

Produced by Boston Program Developer and Studio Teacher Sonya Hamill, the series features several art forms combined in each lesson, with a basic idea to each explored. According to Mrs. Reta Richardson, chief television consultant with the State Education Agency, the aim is to teach children that artistic concepts such as shape, rhythm, form, and content are basic to all art forms. They will also learn how to relate to these forms, said Mrs. Richardson.

The program will be shown Tuesday, beginning February 2, at 1:45 p.m. Repeats will be Thursday at 1:30 p.m. and Friday at 9 a.m. The program will be telecast over WUNC-Chapel Hill-4; WUND-Columbia 2; WUNF-Asheville-22; WUNE-Linville-17; and WUNG-Concord-58.

Homemakers Club Meets

Mrs. Rob Turner was hostess to the Snow Hill-White Extension Homemakers Club in January.

Mrs. Ralph Harrell, vice president, presided. "This is my Father's World" was sung. Miss Ann Benton accompanied at the piano. Mrs. Rob Turner gave an inspiring devotional and read from Proverbs. The club women were led in prayer by Mrs. J. Elmer Wood Sr.

Mrs. Paige Underwood gave the demonstration on "Window Treatment."

Mrs. Delwin Eure read the minutes and called the roll. Sixteen members were present. Three new members, Mrs. Robert Sutton, Mrs. Ernest Sutton and Mrs. Marion Harrell, were present also.

Mrs. Bobby Eure received the door prize. The February meeting will be a Family Supper meeting.

The program of work committee chairmen of Snow Hill-White Hat Club for 1971 will be as follows: Beautification, Mrs. Belvin Eure; Citizenship, Mrs. Rob Turner; Clothing, Mrs. Albert Eure; Family Life, Mrs. Ralph Harrell; Education, Mrs. Delwin Eure; Foods and Nutrition, Mrs. Freeman Umphlett; Health, Mrs. Whit Cartwright; Mrs. Bobby Eure and Mrs. Leslie Narron; Home Management, Mrs. Robert Sutton; Housing, House Furnishings and Creative Crafts, Mrs. Wally Knight; International Relations, Mrs. Marion Harrell; Music and Cultural Arts, Mrs. J.D. Yeates; Public Information, Mrs. Ernest Sutton, Safety, Mrs. J. Elmer Wood Sr.; Youth, Mrs. Claude Russell and Educational Loan Fund, Mrs. Delwin Eure.

Much Riding On Spring Harvest

With more than usual riding on the size of the spring harvest, farmers are giving small grains - wheat, oats and barley - more than the usual amount of attention this year.

It's another development that can be tied directly to the effects of blight and drought on the 1970 crop. Total grain supplies are below normal, pushing prices to unusual seasonal highs. The small grain crops now in the field are being counted upon to serve as a relief valve to take the pressure off grain supplies, ease livestock and poultry feed costs and provide some insurance in the event of another bad crop year in 1971.

"Farmers will be watching the grain crops carefully the remainder of the winter," commented North Carolina University extension specialist Dr. John Clapp. "They are

Scholarships Available

Four 1971 North Carolina high school graduates planning to teach occupational education will be awarded $200 Clyde A. Erwin Scholarships late this spring. The Clyde A. Erwin Scholarship program is administered by the Division of Staff Development, State Department of Public Instruction.

J. Earle Harper, Secretary of the Erwin Scholarship Committee, said that procedures for nominating candidates and application forms have been sent to all North Carolina high school principals. Applications must be made no later than April 1.

The $200 scholarships are made available through private donations established in the memory of Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction from 1934 until his death in 1952. The scholarship program was established in 1954. Recipients are chosen by the Clyde A. Erwin Scholarship Committee of the Division of Staff Development. They are selected on the basis of scholastic records in high school, recommendations of school officials, and educational promise.

Sixty-seven high school seniors have received the honor to date. Last year's recipients were Miss Sharon Irene Henderson of Charlotte, Johnny Mack Johnson of Sparta, David Glenn Farlow of Sophia, and Miss Sybil Cassandra Baldwin of Pittsboro.

SENATOR

SAM ERVIN

* SAYS *

WASHINGTON - Our nation has sustained an irreparable loss in the passing of Senator Richard Brevard Russell, of Georgia, who rendered invaluable service as a Member of the State Legislature of Georgia, as Speaker of the Georgia House of Representatives, as Governor of Georgia, and as a Member of the United States Senate.

Senator Russell had the highest qualifications for public service. He was highly intelligent, tirelessly industrious, unsurpassed in intellectual integrity, and possessed of the highest possible degree that rare quality - moral and political courage.

On Capitol Hill, Senator Russell won the respect of his colleagues as few men ever have in a remarkable way - by devotion to duty and constitutional principles. An authority on national defense, the Senate, and the Constitution, he won a rank without peer through legislative ability, wise counsel, and understanding of people. In later years, these attributes were recognized by Presidents, who sought his judgments on national issues. A peaceful man, he never flinched when the military strength of this nation was at stake. A conservationist, he was a leading advocate of farm and conservation legislation. A traditionalist in the best sense of that abused term, he was in the forefront of many battles against the unwise concentration of power in the Federal Government.

Senator Russell made little of his honors, but they came his way. Two years ago, he was elevated to the post of President Pro Tempore, the highest office which the Senate can bestow upon the senior member of the majority party.

That year, too, he was named Chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee.

Historians will miss the mark if they define Senator Russell's contributions to the nation in the usual terms of public service, for these leave unrecorded his great love of country, and his devotion to principles that have stood the test of the ages.

I have often stated publicly that Senator Russell was better qualified by intelligence, experience, and dedication to fundamental principles for the office of President of the United States than any other man of his generation. Many believe that he was denied this high office because he was Southern by birth and residence, and because he was never willing to sell constitutional truth for the needs of the political hour.

Death came quietly to this beloved colleague when months of medical care failed to restore him to health. Those who were privileged to call him friend will always treasure the memory of his genial companionship and his gallant spirit.

Travel Awards Time

It's nomination time again for the two top Travel Awards in North Carolina.

Nominations are now being sought for the seventh annual Parker-Nisbet Awards by the Travel Council of North Carolina, Inc. The awards will be presented at the March meeting of the Travel Council here in Raleigh. Deadline for entries is February 15, 1971.

Interested persons are asked to nominate an organization which has done the most to promote travel in Tar Heel during 1970, the winner to be given the Lynn Nisbet Award, named in honor of the former North Carolina newspaperman who died in 1962.

The Cherokee Historical Association was the winner of the 1969 Nisbet Award, and the individual winner of the Parker Award in 1969 was Mrs. John A. Kellenberger of Greensboro. The Parker Award is for former State Travel & Promotion Division Director Charles Parker, who served under six governors in the post. Parker died in 1963.

Anyone may submit nominations for any individual and business or organization for their accomplishments during 1970 by writing the Travel Council of North Carolina, P.O. Box 1063, Raleigh, N.C. 27602.

Other previous winners of the Parker Award are Hugh Morton of Wilmington, T.E. Pickard, Jr., of Charlotte, Tom Alexander of Catalochee Ranch, the late Bill Sharpe of Raleigh, and Aycock Brown of Manteo.

ECU In Cooperative Program For Eastern N.C. Biology Teachers

Eastern North Carolina teachers of biology at the junior high school level will benefit from a program sponsored by East Carolina University and Elizabeth City State University.

The program has been sponsored by the National Science Foundation with an award of $55,478.

Co-directors are Dr. Louise Sutton, chairman of the ECSU Department of Science and Mathematics and Dr. Floyd B. Mattheis, chairman of the ECU Department of Science Education.

Included in the program are a conference for school administrators and supervisors on teaching science, scheduled for Feb. 4-5 in Williamston, and two three-week summer workshops on the campuses of ECSU and ECU.

The purpose of the project is to prepare the teachers of this area for the junior high school biology course, now being taught to all seventh grade students in the North Carolina public schools. Forty participants, from city and county public school districts and from private and parochial schools in eastern
