Brochures On Perquimans Available At Chamber Of Comm.

There are 100 counties in the Tarheel State and the Perquimans County Chamber of Commerce hears from children in just about everyone of them. A rough estimate, Chamber Manager Frank Roberts said, is that the office gets around 250 requests per year for information about the county. The children want it for scrapbooks and for school projects. Most are assigned one or more counties to study and to help them - and others - know more about Perquimans we send them the material seen here.

Library News

One of the most heartwarming phases of the Perquimans County Library's growth and usefulness is the number of interesting and valuable books given in memory of Perquimans people and others.

These books cover a wide variety of subjects too numerous to list. Many are used by students doing research themes; others are of practical value to gardeners and housekeepers; the fields of sports, music, decoration and antiques are pretty well covered. Many are of an inspirational nature; still others are good solid reading such as biographies and literary anthologies. Whatever the subject matter these handsome books make up a popular section of the library.

This weeks list of new memorials is made up of these: Flowers and Furniture in American Homes; Early American Furniture Makers; Philosophical Faith and Revelation; One Sovereign Life; Guide to Early American Homes; and English Gardens and Landscapes 1700 to 1750 all in memory of Mrs. W.M. Morgan.

Landscaping and Outdoor Living and Great Gardens of the Western World are in memory of Mrs. B.F. Ainsley. Songs of Man, compiled by Luboff and Stracke and A Window on Williamsburg are in memory of Carolyn Riddick Wells. Two The Fisherman's World in Pictures and "Remember When" A loving look at the days 1900-1942, are in memory of A.R. (Chip) Winslow. Others have been ordered.

Other new titles in the library this week are: The Greening of America, by Reich; A Time to Love and a Time to Die, by Prince Leopold; The Girl in Blue, P.G. Wodehouse; Katie Mulholland, by Cookson; The Merry Month of May, by Jones, and The Velvet Hammer, by Faith Baldwin; The Underground Man, by MacDonald; and several Westerns and light romances. For Young People; Careers for Women in Uniform.

The Library will be closed on Good Friday and Easter Monday, but will be open on Saturday as usual.

Graveside Rites For A.R. Winslow

Alonza Riddick (Chip) Winslow, Jr., 69, of Winfall, died Thursday at 10:45 p.m. in the Albemarle Hospital following a two weeks illness. A Perquimans County native, he was a son of the late Alonza R. and Mrs. Mattie Twine Winslow.

He was a member of the Epworth United Methodist Church and was a salesman for Towe Motor Company. He was a graduate of N.C. State University. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Helen White Winslow; and two sisters, Mrs. Leslie Towe of Roanoke Rapids, N.C. and Mrs. William Bryan of Oxford, N.C. Graveside services were held Sunday at 3:00 in Cedar Grove Cemetery by the Rev. W. R. Pinner, pastor. "The Old Rugged Cross" was sung by Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith.

The casket pall was made of red roses, baby's breath and fern. Pallbearers were E. Rudolph Williams, Garland "Chip" Atwater, Robert Towe Jr., Eugene Fattou, Paul Maestas, Jr. and Joe Towe, Sr., Eugene Fattou, Jr., and Paul Maestas, Jr.

Mrs. Taylor, Perquimans Home Agent Chairman at Region R White House Conference

More than 275 people heard Dr. Nathan H. Yelton, Chairman Governor's White House Conference on Aging to speak Saturday at the Region R White House Conference on Aging, at Williams Hall Gym., Elizabeth City State University, Elizabeth City, North Carolina. Dr. Yelton stated that, "The Older American White House Forums have generated a good deal of public interest in the needs of older people and the plans for 1971 White House Conferences. One of the objectives today is to broaden the understanding at the community level of the needs of older people, and strengthen the willingness to act on the Policy Proposals that will emerge from the White House Conferences at all levels."

The community forums were the first step toward fulfillment of the conference goal - to form a national policy on aging. Today, you are engaged in a serious problem, and you want to consider the actions in this way further states Dr. Yelton. You are going to consider the principal needs and issues in the field of aging and to contribute to the first formulations of the 1971 National Policies on Aging. These formulations will be the bases for deliberations of participants in the Governor's Conference on Aging in May, 1971. As a final step, the policy proposals recommended by the Governor's Conference will be used in the White House Conference on Aging in November 1971.

Dr. Yelton spoke out loud and clear that the aging population need increased income, raise Social Security Benefits, Widow Security Benefits should be equal to husband's, Lower age limit for receiving full Social Security Benefits, Liberalize rules and regulations for eligibility for welfare Benefits, Reduce cost of living, which I mean stated Dr. Yelton, medical costs, food, housing, etc., tax reduction, and all pensions should be exempt from taxes. He stated that there should be more interest in and direct concern for, older people by churches such as more pastoral visitation, especially to sick, lonely and shut-ins, specialized services for counseling during crisis, grief, illness and hardships. It might be helpful to establish a crisis clinic, stated Dr. Yelton. He went in detail emphasizing Education, Nutrition, Transportation, Employment and Retirement, and Activities. Dr. Yelton stated that he had already felt the spirit for a successful conference because of the profound outstanding leadership ability exemplified by your Region Conference Chairman, Mrs. M.B. Taylor, Home Economics Extension Agent for Perquimans County. Mrs. Taylor is an outstanding personality and the role she has played and is playing was well selected by Governor Robert W. Scott of North Carolina. She is one out of a million. We are proud of Mrs. Taylor for the leadership she is providing for North Carolina Governor's Coordinator Council on Aging.

Mrs. Taylor, Regional Conference Chairman in her brief coverage and introduction joined Dr. Marion B. Thorpe, President, of Elizabeth City State University, in welcoming the conference delegation. Dr. Thorpe stated that Elizabeth State University always to visit the campus and the use of its facilities. We stand ready to help at any time to promote programs for the benefit of people of North Carolina. He further stated that, "it gives me esteem pleasure to welcome you to the campus of Elizabeth City State University. We feel especially honored and humbly appreciative to serve as the host for the White House Conference on Aging for Region R." Today this White House Conference on Aging signifies a very urging and vital concern for the Aging, and this in reality means all of us. It is quite apparent to each assembled here that this is a long over due issue, and that it indeed requires the best mental colisthenics from the best informed to deal with as many facets. Therefore, each of those who are on various committees who come to share, those who come to learn more, and to those who will have to prepare and submit the final reports for this conference you are to be commended.

It is not only human decency, but plain human and self-interest on everyone else's part, that ought to compel a major social effort on each of our parts for the success of this conference. The strains of poverty and sheer economic pressure will be hopefully lifted on a large and significant segment of our society by our endeavor here today.

Mrs. Taylor further stated that (Continued on Page 6)

Trail To Work With Mental Retardation In Perquimans

R. Steele Trail has joined the staff of the North Carolina Council on Mental Retardation as regional supervisor for the Eastern Area of the state. His appointment was announced by Robert L. American Legion Sends President Telegram In Behalf Of Lt. Calley

Regarding the recent verdict and sentencing in the case of Lt. William Calley, Department Headquarters has sent to President Nixon, Vice President Agnew and all the North Carolina Congressional Delegation the following telegram: "Members of The American Legion who have contacted us are stunned by the verdict. Although we cannot condone the May Lai incident neither can we condemn Lt. William Calley. We respectfully request your assistance in securing a reversal of this unjust verdict."

National Commander Alfred P. Chamie dispatched the following telegram to President Nixon: "The American Legion urges you to exercise Executive Clemency in behalf of Lt.

William Calley in the interest of the morale and future effectiveness of our Armed Forces." To assist Lt. Calley in his fight for Justice, Department Commander J. Frank Baker has initiated a fund-raising campaign with a Department donation of $1,000. Anyone desiring to contribute to this fund may do so by forwarding your check to The American Legion, Lt. William Calley Fund, P.O. Box 26657, Raleigh, N.C. 27611. You may also desire to circulate petitions requesting the President's Executive Clemency and forward these signed petitions to the President of the United States. Pending the sending of petitions, you may also send telegrams similar to the above to President Nixon.

1,011 Needy People In Area Get USDA Food Help

There were 1,011 low-income people in Perquimans county receiving assistance through the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (commodity distribution) program in January as compared to 1,000 in December. Russell H. James, Southeast regional director of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, reports.

At the same time, it was revealed that the total number of needy persons in North Carolina who were assisted by the USDA food programs in January was 307,123--up 6,158 from the 300,965 on the programs in December. James attributed the steady increase in participation in the state to the efforts of concerned community leaders to see that every needy person is provided help.

The major increase was in the 50 counties that provide for the needy people through the distribution of USDA donated foods. In January there were 130,726 receiving commodities -- a slight increase of 4,347 over the 126,379 on the program in December.

In the other counties which operate food stamp programs 176,397 persons were issued over $4.2 million in food coupons. Of this amount, close to $2 million was in the form of free bonus stamps. This represented an increase of 1,811 over the 174,586 on the program in December.

Food stamps can be spent like cash in local grocery stores for domestic foods.
