V.A. Plans To Open 27 Drug Centers

Stanley D. Morse, Director of the Durham Veterans Administration Hospital, said the VA plans to open 27 drug treatment centers within the next two months.

Fourteen centers are scheduled for opening next month, and 13 more are planned for opening by Oct. 1, Morse said.

Five specialized drug centers have been in operation for about six months, one of them at the Washington, D.C., VA Hospital, since October 1970. The other four are located at New York City, Houston, Battle Creek, Mich., and Sepulveda, Calif.

This 1971 total of 32 specialized treatment centers, Morse said, will provide capacity for the annual care of an estimated 6,000 veteran-addicts in addition to veterans already receiving drug treatment in a regular VA hospital setting.

He noted that 781 veterans manifesting drug abuse or dependence (including 259 narcotics users) were discharged from VA hospitals in the last nine months of Fiscal Year 1969. The number of such veterans treated and discharged increased to 3,149 (including 1,374 narcotics users) for the entire fiscal year of 1970.

For just the first six months of the current Fiscal Year 1971, which includes the operation of the five VA pilot drug treatment centers, the number of veterans drug discharges totaled 2,463 (including 1,188 narcotics users.)

Morse said the President, in his June 17, 1971, drug control message to Congress, called for "the immediate development and emplacement of VA drug rehabilitation centers which will permit both inpatient and outpatient care of addicts in a community setting."

The 14 new VA drug treatment centers scheduled to be formally opened next month will be located in Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, N.Y., Syracuse, N.Y., Salem, Va., Miami, Fla., Oklahoma City, Minneapolis, Brooksville, Ohio, Chicago, Pittsburgh Pa., Iowa City, Palo Alto, Calif., and Salt Lake City.

The 13 additional centers to be activated by a target date of October 1, 1971, will be located in East Orange, N.J., Philadelphia, Atlanta, Ga., New Orleans, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Vancouver, Wash., Brentwood, Calif., Brooklyn, North Little Rock, Ark., Omaha, Topeka, Kan., and Denver.

Bogus Bill Passing Brings Arrest

Clarence Barrett, 27, of 389 S. Sixth St. Newark, N.J., has been arrested and charged with bilking area merchants with $20 counterfeit bills.

The suspect was taken into custody at the Rainbow Inn in Hertford where it is understood that Barrett passed one of the phony $20 bills. Others, all bearing the same serial number, were given merchants in Edenton and Elizabeth City.

Barrett has been transferred to custody of a United States Marshal and is being held in lieu of $5,000 bail.

Albemarle Area Police officials began investigating a counterfeit ring passing bogus bills in the area last week. Two $20. bills were passed in Elizabeth City, Edenton and Hertford stores last week. Businesses were alerted to watch for the phony money. The bogus bills are made up of paper money but that used in genuine bills.

Some Beachcombers Find Treasure In Parked Cars

As millions of Southerners trek to beaches and lakes to escape summer's heat, so do car thieves whose business it is to go where the action is, notes Julian H. Clark, Southern regional manager of the National Automobile Theft Bureau.

"A beach parking lot during a Southern summer is the closest thing we have to the Sahara desert. Vacationers who dread returning to an ovenlike car will leave the windows open and unwittingly invite thieves to help themselves to the car and the valuables left in it," Mr. Clark said.

Mr. Clark stressed that although the old "hide the car keys under the seat" trick might seem safe, it is one of the first places a professional thief will look. Put valuables in the trunk out of sight, lock the car, and take the keys to the beach, Mr. Clark advises.

"The vacation vehicle-pickups with campers or motorized homes—is also a prime target of the professional thief. These should be locked when left—even for a short time," Mr. Clark said. "Hot or not, lock it and pocket the keys."

Starding Possibility

Experts differ on what an outbreak of peace would do to the economy. Still, we'd be willing to give it a try.

Washington Report

The new Postal Corporation received approval for $1.2 billion, which again represented a reduction of $254 million beyond the original request. In connection with the Postal appropriation, the House approved an amendment changing Postmaster General Blount's directive of a few months ago which prohibited any postal employee from contacting a Member of Congress on any matter concerning the employee's job. This was done by approving language which withholds the salary of any official of the Department who issues such a directive.

Another major appropriation bill was for the Veterans Administration - HUD - Space Science - and other Independent Agencies. Approval was given to an increased amount of $120 million for medical programs for the VA due to the new problems in the drug area. The Executive had proposed recently to fix the level of VA patients at 79,000 per day, but the House overrode this suggestion and provided funds which would care for not less than 85,000 patients daily.

Still another major appropriation was for the Department of Interior and related agencies for fiscal year '72. This totaled $2.3 billion, and here again, the House reduced the budget request by slightly in excess of $5 million.

These three bills will ultimately represent an expenditure of approximately $26 billion.

In other House action was the approval of the Comprehensive Health Manpower Training Act of 1971. This legislation proposes to continue for three years the Health Professions Educational Assistance programs directed to meeting critical needs for physicians, dentists, and certain other professional health manpower, provides assistance to schools for construction of facilities and assistance to students in the form of loans. The total cost approved for the three years is $2 billion, 806 million. Similar legislation applying to the training of nurses was also approved by the House.

I had the pleasure of being flown by the Coast Guard to Elizabeth City on Wednesday to attend the retirement ceremonies of Captain Fred Merritt. Commander of Elizabeth City Coast Guard Base. The most impressive and unusual aspect of Captain Merritt's career is that after enlisting in the Coast Guard in 1941, he was first assigned to the Elizabeth City Base as a seaman apprentice; and twenty-four years later returned as Commander of the Base. This clearly shows that those who are dedicated to duty and love of country can find military life most rewarding.

The House recessed for the Fourth of July Holiday on Thursday, to reconvene on Tuesday, July 6.

Mrs. Whedbee And Sawyer To Attend Institute On TB And Respiratory Diseases

Public Health people from this area will be attending the 21st Annual Institute on Tuberculosis and Other Respiratory Diseases at the Blue Ridge Assembly, Black Mountain, from July 5-8.

This year's theme, "The Challenge: TB-RD Control," will be keynoteed by Dr. John A. Sbarbara, Director of Public Health and Preventive Medicine with the Denver Department of Health and Hospitals. Dr. Sbarbara received his M.D. from Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, Baltimore, and his Master's Degree in Public Health from the Harvard School of Public Health, Boston.

Medical experts from North Carolina and several other states will also be featured speakers at the Institute, which is co-sponsored by eight North Carolina agencies and is expected to attract nearly 300 health, welfare, rehabilitation, and Tuberculosis Association workers.

Mrs. Kay Whedbee, Public Health Nurse of the Perquimans County Health Department, and Mrs. Glenda Sawyer, Public Health nurse of the Pasquotank County Health Department, will attend the Institute on scholarships provided by the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Subjects will be as wide-ranging as the speakers. Topics vary from "New and Experimental Drugs in Tuberculosis Therapy" to "Occupational Respiratory Disease." An integral part of the Institute will be "Curbstone Consultations" during which participants can obtain more specific information relative to their interests. Specialists will staff these and lead informal question-and-answer sessions.
