

Housing Fair Set For April 28-30

"Your Dream, A Better Home", is the theme for the first housing fair ever to be held in Northeastern North Carolina. The inaugural event will be staged April 28-30 at Edenton Municipal Airport.

The primary hangar at the old military base will be handsomely decorated with exhibits from national, state, regional and area companies. Arrangements have been made to have professional booths installed for exhibitors.

George W. Lewis, executive vice president, Peoples Bank & Trust Company here, is general chairman of the Housing Fair. The event is being sponsored by Albemarle Area Development Association, Cooperative Agriculture Extension Service, Bertie and Hertford counties.

Lewis, who heads AADA's Housing Committee, explains that the purpose of the exposition is to give people a chance to compare the latest ideas and materials for building and remodeling. He said the Housing Fair will have exhibits featuring the latest concepts in home building, major components and related services which will benefit those seeking advice on a new home as well as those who contemplate renovations.

The Fair has scheduled exhibits on house plans, financing, building sites, landscaping, plants and accessories as well as every aspect of construction and major furnishings.

The Fair will open at 10 a.m., April 28 and remain open that day until 9 p.m. The hours on April 29 will be 1 p.m. to 9 p.m., and on the final day, 1 p.m., to 6 p.m. Exhibitors will have representatives at the various booths to inform those attending the Fair of their particular materials and services.

There will be no admission charge.

Taxes And More Taxes

If your typical work week runs five days, a total of 40 hours, it may interest you to know that you worked from Monday morning until about 2 p.m. Tuesday just to pay the direct taxes you owe to federal, state and local governments.

According to the Tax Foundation, it takes 13 hours, 5 minutes worth of your weekly pay for taxes. That doesn't include many hidden taxes in the things you buy.

By contrast, about 5 hours, 15 minutes of your work week earned the money to buy groceries.

Keeping a roof over your head—that is, all housing costs—adds up to about 5 hours, 5 minutes worth of work time. Total expenses for automobiles, bus fare or any other transportation takes about 3 hours, 10 minutes of the paycheck.

It takes about 2 hours, 5 minutes to earn money for the clothing store. Doctors, dentists and other medical expenses add up to just under 2 hours worth of work each week.

Recreation expenses account for about an hour and 35 minutes of your time on the job. That leaves about 7 hours and 50 minutes—not quite a full day's work—to pay other expenses.

Of course, there's no such thing as an "average" or "typical" family. But if you're a 40-hour, five-day-a-week worker, these statistics mean something to you.

Particularly meaningful should be the share of your week going for taxes. All total, government at all levels collected a whopping $291 billion in taxes last year, and that's about double the amount collected just ten years ago.

National Library Week

Among the wealth of news stories on China that have flooded the press since the President opened a new era in U.S.-China relations is the startling information that "...no novel has been published since before the cultural revolution, and reading fare is limited to the propaganda of official newspapers and magazines, technical books and, as always, quotations from Chairman Mao."

China is apparently a literary desert compared to the United States and other western democracies. Thus, this year, National Library Week, which is to be observed from April 16-22, should serve to emphasize with special poignancy the meaning of the treasure of knowledge, understanding, and culture that lie within the walls of our libraries. President Nixon's journey to the Orient was an attempt to carry a message into a void—a message of hope and peace. His task would have been immeasurably easier if the citizens of today's China could draw on the wisdom so freely available in the great libraries of the Western World.

Robbing Peter?
