

Mrs. Taylor Completes Series Of Workshops

Mrs. M.B. Taylor, Home Economics Extension Agent completed a series of workshops in Food Conservation at the Perquimans Court Office Building, Thursday with 15 leaders participating. The purpose of the series was to prepare the Foods and Nutrition Leaders of the Extension Homemakers Clubs and EIC Food Conservation Leaders to improve their skills in canning in order to assist the low income families to do better quality canning.

The series included the following: Pressure Canner Clinic, The Art of Food Preservation, and a workshop on How To Conserve Low Acid Food and High Acid Food.

Tomatoes and stringbeans were used in the workshop. Each participant had an opportunity to learn the correct techniques in the conserving these foods. The participants were encouraged to follow the recommended procedures for conserving foods. Mrs. M.B. Taylor, informed the participants to use a boiling water bath canner for conserving fruits, tomatoes and pickled vegetables. These foods can be processed safely in boiling water. She further informed the group to use a steam pressure canner for all vegetables except tomatoes. To process these low-acid foods safely in a reasonable length of time takes a temperature higher than that of boiling water.

Mrs. Taylor was assisted at the workshop with Mrs. Maggie Griffin, Nutritionist, EIC for the 10 counties of the Albemarle and Mrs. Margaret Ward.

The leaders attended were: Mrs. Maggie Griffin, EIC, Mrs. Elizabeth Hurdle, Sunbury, N.C., Mrs. Margaret Ward, Corapeake, Mrs. Jan Lanister, Moyock, N.C., Mrs. Darlene McCleese, Edenton, N.C., Mrs. Margaret Overton, Hertford, N.C., Mrs. Carolyn Morris, Edenton, N.C., Mrs. Bettie Moore, Plymouth, N.C., Mrs. Hazel Taylor, Elizabeth City, N.C., Mrs. Mildred Welch, Moyock, N.C., Mrs. Emma Harris, South Mills, N.C., and Mrs. Eva Hurdle, Belvidere, N.C.

WEEKLY RECIPE

Sarah Anne Sheridan

If you're planning a swimming party, here are some suggestions for ingredients which can be setup on a serving table. Let each guest assemble his sundae in a colorful paper cup or glass.

Pool-Side Sundaes

Ice Cream Cubes (Several flavors)
Fruit syrup, any flavor
Chocolate syrup
Chopped nuts
Maraschino cherries
Marshmallow cream
Whipped cream in pressure can

All of the preparations can be made well in advance. Cut ice cream into squares (or scoops) and place loosely in a serving container and return to freezer. Pile a basket (for table center) with a variety of snacks—those packaged in plastic bags are best. Place colorful trash cans conveniently for used napkins, paper cups and snack packs.

Home Ec, 4-H Training Helps in Triple Role

By JANICE CHRISTENSEN

Training in home economics and 4-H has helped a young Granville County native perform her triple roles: homemaker, employment representative and seamstress.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Pease Taylor, a former county dress revue winner, says her home economics training has helped her to sew for her family and to supplement her income by sewing for others.

During her "at home" hours, Mrs. Taylor has been able to cut clothing costs by constructing three or four garments for the price of one readymade. And she is busy making draperies for the family's new house.

Information learned in 4-H has been helpful in fabric selection, buy-manship and care; meal preparation and planning; and house furnishings; the young homemaker told Mrs. Mary Parham, home economics extension agent.

Mrs. Taylor, a graduate of North Carolina Central University, where she majored in English and was an honor student, is employment representative for a New Jersey firm. The Taylors' have a six-year-old son.

FASHION COUNCIL

A teen fashion council has caught the fancy of high school girls in Richmond County.

Through the council the girls are learning about clothing styles and trends, makeup and hair-styling and how to model.

Activities, planned cooperatively with local clothing stores, allow the teens to model in fashion shows and prepare window displays, says Mrs. Jo Ramsey, assistant home economics extension agent.

HOME SEWING

"Home sewing is rewarding in dollars and cents as well as aesthetic value," believes Mrs. James Wheeler, a Rookingham County Extension Homemaker.

Mrs. Wheeler participated in a tailoring class sponsored by the Extension Service and Rookingham Community College two years ago and has been making most of the clothes for herself and her seven children since then.

"After the class, Mrs. Wheeler felt confident enough to tackle many of the construction techniques she had been afraid to try before," adds Mrs. Joyce Hildreth, home economics extension agent.

Anderson-Harkley Vows Solemnized In Greenville

Brown's Chapel Holiness Church in Greenville was the scene of the 2:00 p.m. Saturday, June 10, wedding of Miss Novella Harkley and Johnie Leon Anderson.

Bishop R. A. Griswold officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of organ music was presented by Charles Vaughan.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Cora Harkley of Route 4, Greenville, North Carolina, and Mrs. Mary Hinton of Dobb Street, Hertford, North Carolina.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Harrison Harkley. Miss Martha Harkley of Greenville, sister of bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Essie Hinton Maddox of Brooklyn, New York, was matron of honor. Bridesmaid were Mrs. LaVerne Anderson of Brooklyn, N.Y., Miss Neriah Goldston of Silver City, Miss Catherine Campbell of Fayetteville, Miss Evelyne Perry of Rocky Mount, Miss Annie Patrick of Kinston, Miss Mildred Short, Miss Jo Ann Short and Miss Hilda Joyner, all of Greenville.

Flower girls were Linda Foreman of Trenton, New Jersey, Trudy Sheppard, and Lisa Harkley, both of Greenville, and Jackie Maddox of Brooklyn, N.Y. John Maddox of Brooklyn, N.Y. was ring bearer.

The bride groom's brother, Clarence Anderson, of Baltimore, Maryland was best man. Ushers were Arkan Williams, R. Norman, and F. Lawrence, all of Brooklyn, N.Y., Charles Anderson of Hampton, Va., Linwood Foreman of Trenton, N.J., Robert Owens of Brooklyn, N.Y., Michael Harley of Morehead City, Elder Thomas Foreman of George Town, Dr., Jack Harkley and Robert Sheppard, both of Greenville. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the South Greenville Recreation Center. The couple will reside in Brooklyn, N.Y.

The bride is a graduate of Fayetteville State University, Fayetteville. The bridegroom attended Brooklyn College, Brooklyn, N.Y. The guests attended from Hertford, N.C. were Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin, Bishop and

Mrs. Raymond A. Griswold, Ervin, Mrs. Ethel Wills and Elder and Mrs. Edward Children, and Mrs. Eva Sharpe, Harrell, Mrs. M. B. Taylor, and Mrs. Linwood Foreman. Mrs. Amazia Welch, Mrs. Ether

Flammability Labeling Rule Set for Pajamas

RALEIGH -- Children's sleepwear, sizes 0 to 6x, will contain new flammability labeling beginning July 1.

After that date, any garments that don't meet the new standard must be labeled "not to be worn near source of fire," says Harriet Tutterow, extension clothing specialist, North Carolina State University.

Manufacturers will have to comply with the new flammability standards in one of two ways, the specialist adds.

They will have to make fabrics of man-made fibers with low melting points or fire-resistant properties, or they will have to apply fire-retardant treatments to their regular fabrics.

One producer has introduced a new modacrylic fiber that makes into brushed-knit fleece garments that will pass all the flammability tests.

Miss Hulda Wood Hosts BPW Club

The Hertford BPW Club met Thursday night with Miss Hulda Wood at which time she showed a film on Breast Self-Examination. This is a very important procedure for all women to follow as 95 per cent of all breast cancers are discovered in this manner and 85 per cent of women with breast cancer would be alive and well five years after treatment, if the cancer is found in the early stages.

Mrs. Roxanna Jackson reported that twelve Candy Strippers had recently completed the course taught by Mrs. Ruby Bateman and were given a tour of Albemarle Hospital last Wednesday afternoon. They are now doing volunteer work at the hospital. She also reported the hospital bed had been donated to the club loan closet by Mr. Willie Ainsley.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Miss Wood served a delicious salad course. The club's annual cook-out will be held July 20th with Mrs. Essie Burbage.

Music Recital

Mrs. Fred Mathews recently presented a program of music, by her music pupils in her home.

Those presenting their favorite selections from their work of the year were: Sandra Scaff, Beth Brown, Bobbie Jean Keaton, Karen Lane, Gwyn Trueblood and Suzanne Keel. The program was attended by relatives and friends.

A social hour and refreshments followed the program.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to express my appreciation to Dr. Williams and all the nurses for their kindness and special care while I was a patient in Chowan Hospital.

A special thanks to the Rescue Squad and to each church organization and everyone who remembered me with cards, flowers, gifts and prayers, while in the hospital and since I've been home.

May God bless each of you. Your kindness will always be remembered.

Wildlife Commission Raises Quail Limit

The daily bag limit on quail will be 10 birds this fall. The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission raised the limit by two birds here Monday as part of the new hunting regulations adopted for the 1972-73 season. The possession limit was upped from 16 to 20 birds.

The Wildlife Commission also voted to make the big game tagging system voluntary and statewide for the coming hunting season. Last year, the tagging system was compulsory, but confined to the Game Lands.

A proposal to allow bow hunters to kill antlerless deer statewide during the early bow season was rejected.

These were among the regulations adopted by the Wildlife Commission for the coming hunting season, and these and other regulations—unchanged since last year—will appear shortly in the new "Hunting and Trapping Regulations" booklet for 1972-73. Hunters will be able to pick up a copy free where they purchase their licenses.

"Our proposal to increase the quail limit was favorably received by most hunters at the nine public hearings held across the state last month," said Bob Hazel, assistant director of the commission. "Also, our biologists confirm that our quail populations are high and stable and that they will be unaffected by this increase."

HUNTING REGULATIONS

The new big game tagging system will be strictly voluntary, but the Wildlife Commission expressed the hope that hunters would cooperate and thereby provide information that will be useful in game management. A network of "Wildlife Cooperators" will be established where hunters can take their tags (which will be attached to each big game license).

The proposal to allow bow hunters to kill antlerless deer anywhere in the state during the early bow season ran into considerable opposition at the public hearings, and therefore was not adopted by the Commission. Instead, bow hunting regulations this fall will be the same as last year's, which means antlerless deer can be taken by bow hunters in areas where an either-sex gun season will follow.

In other action, a proposal to prohibit raccoon hunting on bear sanctuaries on Game Lands in the western part of the state was rejected as a result of opposition at the public hearings. Instead, the Wildlife Commission voted to prohibit coon hunting only during daylight hours on these sanctuaries, a move the commission indicated would afford some protection to bears, but not unduly restrict raccoon hunting.

TV COMMENTARY

By John Smiley

go-meeting ego.

THE GOVERNMENT leads this eager, heel-snapping pack. The U.S. Senate is on network necks about violence. The Federal Trade Commission is demanding free time for people who want to disprove what advertisers say in commercials. The Justice Department is lashing networks because of their part-ownership of some programs.

THE FCC snatched half an hour from network's prime time and gave it to local stations, who treat it like a hot potato. Republicans and Democrats are forever demanding equal time.

WRITERS for TV weep and wail, complaining that they are not given freedom of expression.
