Average Family Income $5,124 In Perquimans County

Average family income was $5,124 in Perquimans County, North Carolina in 1969, compared with $7,774 for the State, according to a report on the 1970 census by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce. Per capita income for the county amounted to $1,634, the report shows.

The 1970 census counted 8,351 residents in the county; 0.1 per cent were foreign born and 0.4 per cent native born with one or both parents of foreign birth. Among the county's 7,761 inhabitants age 5 and over in 1970, 284 were living in a different county within the State in 1965, and 398 in a different State.

In the population age 16 and over, 65 per cent of the men and 34 per cent of the women were in the labor force. Among the employed, 32 per cent were holding white collar jobs, and 17 per cent were government workers.

About 41 per cent of the married women with husband present were in the labor force, and 34 per cent of these wives had children under six.

There were 2,383 persons 3 to 34 years old enrolled in school. In the 25-and-older population, 31 per cent of the men and 41 per cent of the women were high school graduates.

Copies of the report, "General Social and Economic Characteristics, North Carolina," PC (1) - 35C, are available for $2.50 each from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, or from U.S. Department of Commerce field offices located in major cities.

Dr. Rieman To Succeed G.R. Tucker, M.D. As President

Fletcher Rieman, M.D. of Norfolk, Virginia was installed as the 78th president of the Seaboard Medical Association at its 77th Annual Convention held last week-end, June 15-18, at the Carolinian Hotel at Nags Head, N.C. Rieman succeeded G. Reginald Tucker, M.D. of Henderson, N.C. as president of the two-state association.

Other elected officers were: First Vice-President: Augustus A. McLean, Jr., M.D., Murfreesboro, N.C., Second Vice-President: Julian W. Selig, Jr., M.D., Norfolk, Virginia, Third Vice-President: Charles J. Sawyer, M.D., Ahoskie, N.C., Fourth Vice-President: Richard Neal, Jr., M.D., Norfolk, Virginia and Richard Mladick, M.D., Norfolk, Virginia.

Much attention was given the two new-budding medical schools in the region, Eastern Virginia Medical School in Norfolk and the one year school to open September, 1972 at East Carolina University in Greenville, N.C. Dr. Robert T. Manning, Dean of EVMS was one of the program speakers, at which time he outlined a proposed "new trend" in medical education for the beginning 24 students. Dr. Ira M. Hardy, II, faculty member at East Carolina, explained that the 20 accepted students would be assured slots at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine at Chapel Hill, once they completed their first year's training. Speaking of a one year school, Dr. Hardy said, "this is an initial effort, however, a one year medical school is highly impractical and very costly". He projected
